Waterloo Sunday School Rally Sunday 30th

Big Annual All Day Service

Last year was the first meeting of this extraordinary rural Sunday school gathering. It was probably the largest open air meeting of its kind ever held in the county. Six hundred people participated in the gathering, and many of these reported it the "greatest day of its kind they had ever seen."

This year the meeting will be held on the last day of this month—Sunday, June 30th. It is under the auspices of the American Sunday School Union. The program will begin at 10:30 a. m. with song service accompanied by an orchestra.

The program will be varied and full of instruction and interest. Dinner will be served by the ladies from the baskets brought by the people.

One of the most valuable features of the day will be an address by Dr. W. P. White of this city on "Inspiration and Authority of Scripture Versus Human False Philosophy and Theology." Dr. White will show the peril of Prussian Kultur and disclose the cause of the war. Last year the following rural Sunday schools attended in a body: Crowfoot, Fairview, Happy Home, Mt. Hope and Greenville Unions, Middle Ridge, Sodaville, Berlin, LaBomb and Waterloo Sunday schools. These will all again be in attendance and all Sunday schools and people are cordially invited.

We would suggest that the Sunday Schools of Albany send representatives. There will be a Service Flag period and any town or city Sunday school sending a delegation may help decorate the service flag with stars representing their boys at war from their school.

EMPEY TELLS CROWD HE GOT SCAR SLIDING TO SECOND

Sergeant Arthur Guy Empey, soldier, author and lecturer, has the respect of valor that comes of first hand knowledge, and for this reason he dealt a rebuke to a crowd of young men recently when they saw fit to josh about a Scotch soldier. The incident occurred in the Grand Central Terminal, New York, where Empey was waiting to take a train. A kilted Highlander came through the waiting room and a group of boys gathered to poke fun at his bare knees, asking if he wasn't afraid of catching cold, etc.

made no reply, but Empey did.

The Highlander went on his way and "You kids ought to be ashamed of yourselves," he said, to try and kid a real man. You see that little piece of tin on his tunic? If you had gone through what that man did to get that, you'd be able to say you was a man."

The youths were mollified by this, and Empey continued:

"That's the Victoria Cross that Scotland is wearing and he went right to the Gates of Hell to get it."

One of the youngsters then noticed a deep scar on Empey's left cheek, the result of a shell fragment tearing open his face after he had been wounded in a trench raid and had crawled into a shell crater in No Man's Land.

"How did you get that?" asked the youth.

"Aw, I got it sliding to second," said Empey, as he went through the gates to his train.

Empey himself will be seen at the Rolfe Theater here for three days beginning Sunday when he appears as the star of the Vitagraph production "Over the Top." In this big patriotic war picture Empey appears over again the events which he details so graphically in his famous book.

Too Many Toes Did

Not Stop This Marine

BILLINGS, Mont., June 20.—(Special)—He was told that he had too many toes but William Lundborg, an office manager of this city, still insisted on enlisting in the marine corps.

There was an extra pedal appendage on each foot.

"Will you accept me with only ten?" asked Lundborg.

He was given an affirmative answer. The would-be soldier hurried to a surgeon and, spurning an anesthetic, calmly watched the amputation. In a few days he will be wearing the marine uniform.
