DANDELIONS USED AS GOPHER BAIT

O. A. C., Corvallis, July 31.—Special.—Dandelions are an effective bait for poisoning the pocket gopher, the enemy most dreaded by Willamette Valley farmers, according to G. F. Sykes, professor of zoology in the Oregon Agricultural college.

"Experiments made during the last two years," said Professor Sykes, show that the hard baits such as parsnips and carrots, generally recommended by state and federal bulletins, are not appreciated by the gopher. The little animal, it seems, forms a habit of eating some particular food, much as human beings do. Gophers in the vetch patch prefer vetch to almost any other food, gophers in the clover like only clover, while those on the hillsides eat different food from their relatives in the valley.

"It was found necessary to cater to the gophers' appetites according to prevalent vegetation or to find one plant that they would take in preference to any other food." Many varieties were tried and it was found that on an average gophers of all localities would take dandelion first.

It was found that the hard baits were picked up and carried back to the general storage house where they were seldom if ever touched. Dandelions were eaten at once, or tucked under the edge of the nest where they could be easily reached. When the dead gophers were dug up they were always found near the point where the dandelions had been placed, or lying by the nest.

DAUGHTER OF GENERAL KIDNAPPED BY BANDIT

Black Bart, leader of the Border Wolves, who have been terrorizing the settlers in the Mojave vicinity, swept down on General Waite's home and kidnapped his daughter, Hope.

Jack Keith, border ranger, with set face and stern determination, took to the saddle and trailed the bandit to his cabin. There the two powerful man-killers faced each other. No quarter was expected or given. For once guns were laid aside and man's most primitive, weapon, the naked fist, was used.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.
