WAR IS DECLARED

Over in the trenches of France it is said soldiers make pets of the rats, which are very numerous. But Jim Bilbey, says the Scio Tribune, can give them points on making pets of what are supposed to be enemies of mankind. A colony of yellowjackets have built a nest in a wall beneath a window in Jim's residence and Jim has cultivated a very intimate acquaintance with the little hymenoptera. The only trouble about the matter is that a too-intimate association with these playful birds is promotive of swift action on his part and this Jim objects to. Consequently war has been declared and Jim is considering whether to use poison gas or evacuate.

Returned Home—
Mr. and Mrs. Dan Brynnerman and daughters Ananda and Ida arrived home yesterday after a three months' trip visiting in the East and in Canada. They left home on the eighth of May for Canton, Ohio, where they visited a son for a couple of weeks. They then left for Stratford, Canada, where they visited relatives. Here and near Toronto they found the fall wheat a failure on account of the cold winter, but the spring grain is good. At To-field, Alberta, and through the Saskatchewan country the crops are nearly all burned up.

"Mere brute force means nothing," says Farnum, who is seen in the Fox super de luxe photodrama, "When A Man Sees Red" which is playing at The Rolfe Theatre today and Saturday.

Prevents Creaking of Wheels

The creaking and rattling of wheels, caused by shrinkage of the spokes in hot, dry weather can easily be prevented. Simply apply a little Spoktite to the joints and they will remain tight.

SPOKTITE
Also Tightens Rickety Furniture

Furniture that has become dry and shrunken so that the joints loosen, may be tightened up with Spoktite. Also use it for golf clubs, tool handles, doors, floors, etc.

Not a Glue

Spoktite is not a glue nor a filler but a quick penetrant. The wood absorbs it and swells to original thickness, tightening the joints like new. Try a can now.
