

"LET HIM LIVE"

As long as the flowers their perfume give,
So long I'd let the Kaiser live;
Live and live for a million years With nothing to drink but Belgian tears;
With nothing to quench his awful thirst
But the salted brim of a Scotch-man's curse.
I would let him live on a dinner each day,
Served from silver on a golden tray, Served with things both dainty and sweet,
Served with everything—but things to eat.

I would make him a bed if silken sheen,
With costly linens to lie between,
With covers of down, and filets of lace
And downy pillows piled in place; Yet when to its comfort he would yield,
It would sink with the rot of the battlefield,
And blood and brains and bones of men Should cover him, another him, and then—
His pillow should cling with the rotten clay—
Clay from the grave of a soldier boy;
And while God's stars their vigils keep

And while the waves the white sands sweep,
He should never, never sleep.

And thru all the days; thru all the years,
There should be an anthem in his ears,
Ringing and singing and never done From the edge of light to the set of sun,
Mourning and mourning and mourning wild
A ravaged French girl's child.

And I'd build him a castle by the sea,
As lovely castle as ever could be,
Then I'd show him a ship from over the sea,
As fine a ship as ever could be,
Laden with water, cold and sweet,
Laden with everything good to eat.

Yet scarce does he touch the silvered sands, Scarce may he reach out his eager hands—
Than a hot and hellish molten shell
Should change his Heaven into Hell And tho' he'd watch by the wave-swept shore,
Our Lusitania would rise no more.

No Man's Land, where the Irish fell, I'd start the Kaiser a private Hell, I'd jab him, stab him, give him gas
And in each wound I'd pour ground glass;
I'd march him out where the brave boys died,
Out past the lads he crucified.

In the fearful gloom of his living tomb,
There is one thing I'd do, before I was thru—
I'd make him sing in a stirring man-

CHINK COOK STEAYS WHITE

ORPHAN FROM PREACHER

Casitas has come to gentle boil. It is entertaining a tempest in a teapot.
Charges and countercharges are flying between the church people and the congregations. The chief ingredient is a five-year-old child known as "Little Red," who was kidnapped from the home of Parson Jones. The chief, who is standing at the teapot and mixing the brew in most approved style to get every possible taste of devilry out of it, is Duck Sing, Chink cook. He is the kidnapper.

"Little Red Decides" appeared in a recent issue of the American Magazine. It is a tale of such unique qualities, so heart-grIPPING and yet so amusing, that none can see it enacted without increasing his store of faith in the nobility of human nature.
"For tricks that are vain and ways that are deep, give me the heathen Chinese," says Bret Harte.

"Little Red Decides" has been adapted to the screen by Triangle. It will be shown at the Rolfe Theater on Tuesday only.

Drove to Newport—

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Kenton and son Ralph Kenton, of Portland, drove to Newport yesterday and spent the day.
Ralph will return to Portland this evening.

Returns From Vacation—

Miss Zoe Trank of Cusick's bank returned last night from a two weeks' vacation, which she spent at Newport and at Lyons, visiting her parents.

This Electric Range Will Save Coal for Uncle Sam and Time and Labor for You

Careful tests have shown that 262.7 pounds of coal are required by a central station to supply a family with cooking current equivalent to 800 pounds of coal consumed in a solid fuel range.
An electric range will do your cooking better and save on your food bill.
The elimination of the fuel and ash problem saves a world of time and labor.
Arrange to install an electric range in your home today.

Advertising Momentum

Many institutions expect advertising to perform miracles, to rehabilitate a depleted list of customers in a few weeks or harvest a golden crop of dollars. Advertising is not based on wizardry any more than on quackery. Its results are cumulative.

There are no miracles in advertising, but money so invested, if invested properly and the opportunities thus created properly followed, will yield handsome returns.

An inquiry from a prospect who has never transacted business with your organization is the most vital and the most potent factor in the success of your business. That inquiry represents growth, development new business, —and new inquiries are worth attention, study and care—the full measure of your service. The aggressive and consistent advertiser whose educational publicity attracts, will find that the business has acquired a new momentum, the effect of which will be apparent in succeeding years.
