JUNGLE STORY COMING TO ROLFE SOON

"Tarzan of the Apes," in which the most fascinating character in fiction makes his screen debut, is booked for early showing in this city. It will be seen for two days at the Rolfe soon. This is the picture which thrilled New York and is made after the book of the same title, in which readers of popular fiction became so interested. Being a story of primeval man—or rather, of a man brought up among apes and endowed with many of their abilities—it presents not a few difficulties to the movie maker.

MAKERS OF PARAMOUNT WAR PICTURE ARE ALL OF ENGLISH OR IRISH BLOOD

(At the Globe tonight, Wednesday) The new photoplay, "Missing," produced by J. Stuart Blackton from a scenario written by himself and James Young from Mrs. Humphrey Ward's successful novel, is an English story and by a coincidence, nearly all of the players and directors concerned in its production are from some land where flies the British flag. Even the cameraman, William O'Connell, is of Celtic descent.

This is a remarkable picture in many respects, it having to do with the present war. The story is highly dramatic, the action strong and rapid, and there are many situations filled with distinct thrill and heart appeal.

THIS DAY IN THE WAR

AUG. 20, 1917.—French capture 4,000 Germans and considerable terrain in attack north of Verdun.
AUG. 20, 1916.—British light cruisers Nottingham and Falmouth sunk in North Sea by German submarines, two of which are reported damaged or sunk.
AUG. 20, 1915.—Naval battle raging in Gulf of Riga. Three Russian ships and one German sunk.
AUG. 20, 1914.—German cavalry occupies Brussels.

ONLY NEEDS TO BE ROUSED

Under Certain Conditions, Tiger Can Probably Be Awakened in Each Individual.

"They tell us," said Mr. Blinksome, "that we all have a tiger in us, that we are all of us savages under our skin; kept from revealing our true natures only by the restraining force of custom and the law."

"In a general way I have always believed this to be true, and yet I have always supposed there must be exceptions. You take, for instance, a certain mild-mannered neighbor of ours whom we have known for many years, a man in all circumstances kind, gentle, forbearing; seeing good in everyone and willing to make excuses for everybody. There was one person who I knew had no tiger.

"Our mild-mannered neighbor dropped in to see us yesterday, just after I had read something in the paper, and I picked the paper up again and read this thing to him. It was an account of something that the Germans had just done.

"It was a circumstantial, careful, exact and apparently truthful statement, and yet the thing described was something so contrary to all civilized usages that it seemed incredible, and I said to him:

"You don't believe that, do you?"

"At that our mild-mannered neighbor fired up. Fired up? He flamed up.

"Believe it?" he said. "I believe every word of it," and then he proceeded to tell me what he would do to the Germans if he could.

"Had he a tiger in him? Well!

"So now I am inclined to think that we all have a tiger in us, that there is no exception; only with some of us it takes one thing and with some another thing to make the tiger waken."

PHYSICALLY COMPETENT AND MORALLY FIT

Daniel A. Poling, associate president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, writes as an eye witness at the front in the current issue of the Outlook on questions of vital interest, as he says, to all Americans, and particularly those who have relatives in the expeditionary forces of the United States.

Mr. Poling went abroad to ascertain for himself the moral character of the American soldier fighting for democracy on foreign soil and to learn what the American military authorities in France are doing to keep the soldier physically competent and morally fit. His report, in brief, is:

"The American soldier in France is a representative American. And he is living on a moral plane which is above the moral plane of civilian life at home."

Mr. Poling was given exceptional opportunities to observe the men in the fighting zone. He studied every phase of the question, visiting and living with soldiers in London, Paris, in the towns where they are billeted back of the lines, and in the trenches.

"Our leaders in France," he said, "have not conquered the vices society has battled against from the first organized beginnings of civilization, but if the American Expeditionary Force is not setting an example in moral idealism to American civil life, then I have walked through France with my eyes closed and my ears stopped.

"I would be false to these men if, having the evidence of their soundness I did not declare it; and I would be false to those who gave them as a priceless offering upon the altar of freedom.

"General Pershing and those who are in authority with him in France deserve, not a resolution of inquiry or censure, but a vote of confidence with the assurance of our cooperation and support.

"The American soldier is the worthy inheritor of the finest traditions of American arms, a credit to those who bore him, an honor to the nation he represents, and the last and best hope that civilization shall not fail in her struggle to establish the might of right."

Under the new regulations the postage rates for newspapers to points outside of the county are doubled. The Democrat therefore finds that it will be financially unable to carry on its list any subscriber from such outside points who is not paid cash in advance and the names of such subscribers will be eliminated from the subscription list during the present month.
