THE AIR

Looking over the racks of magazines at a newsdealer, an observer noted five periodicals devoted to aviation. Doubtless still others are published. The five were there because the dealer confidently expected the public to buy them. One might be an accident, or even two. Five denoted a definite demand.

The latest word about airplane production comes from W. J. Workman of the Handley-Paige company, who says we can make enough airplanes by April 1, 1919, to defeat the Germans within 30 to 60 days, if we start now. Every one can be delivered to France under its own power, carrying the full military load of men, guns and bombs. No shipping space would be needed for any part of them. Caproni, Italian expert, expects to see the successful transatlantic flights begin within three months. This seems over sanguine because of weather conditions three months from now. No one doubts that within another year the transatlantic flying will be successfully accomplished.

A few days ago Major C. A. Rhinhard in the Jolly Roger made a record cross-country flight of 124 miles in 53 minutes.

Eighteen airplanes built in the United States, equipped with Liberty Motors, are reported by Pershing to have made their first reconnaissance behind the German lines and returned without loss.

These things are but beginnings and promises. But they add to the beginnings in Flanders, Picardy and at the Marne. They add to the groping beginnings of order in Russia. Our fledglings who wup well in their first flights, however. The sky of Germany will yet be darkened with their fast-flying, effective flocks.

Mr. McAdoo wants his railroad subordinates to be courteous to the traveling public. At the same time, he doesn't mind informing that public that he would much rather have it stay at home and let the roads haul freight.

ADVERTISING

One thing, at least, we can learn from Germany—the national value of advertising.

Germany got her reputation by advertising lies. Our game now is to advertise the truth, and particularly to advertise to the Germans themselves the nature of our war aims and the full measure of our war preparations.

When we learned the truth about Germany, we started fighting. When the Germans learn the truth about America, they will stop fighting.

EYE ENDURANCE is a virtue until use becomes abuse.

IF YOU IGNORE the innumerable warnings which tired nature so kindly vouchsafes, you will inevitably pay the penalty.

MISFITS
By F. P. N.
A man at the hotel told of stepping on a small animal in the snow a good many years ago, and didn't know whether it was a coon or skunk until ordered to change his clothes, for all his life his sense of smell had been defective; but neighbors two miles away smelled it. While not disturbed by washless feet he has also not been blessed by the pleasing smell of flowers, and he has lost much in life.

I saw this motto in a store today:
"Keep your temper. No one else wants it. If you have to fight go to war."

I have met only one former resident of Albany who resides here, Miss Jewell of the Independence Creamery, a very prosperous and competent young woman. She owns a car and is held in high esteem here.

Mrs. Clara Luther Morgan, formerly of Albany, was here on a visit. The last time I met her was on the cars coming down the Columbia, in May of last year. She had finished her school work at Redmond, and I made the prediction that there would be a wedding in a short time, and there was. Mr. Morgan is building ships at St. John's.

Moss Walker, the popular proprietor of the Hotel Beaver, a good one, is a native of Linn, a brother of Big Bill Walker and Mrs. J. B. Thompson.

Back of the Firing Line
Modern war conditions demand that our armies must have behind them national solidarity, the coordination of all the vast activities and an industrial army many times greater than the Nation's fighting forces.
The Nation's capital is linked with all these varied activities by the toll and long distance lines of the Bell System. Thousands of miles of special wire systems have been turned over to the Government for its exclusive use. Switchboards in the Government departments at Washington have been enlarged and new ones installed. Right of way is given to Government business over all commercial lines, so that the Government chiefs may keep in constant touch with every phase of the Nation's great task and direct its progress intelligently and effectively.
In organizing the military activities of the country, the Government has had the effective cooperation of the Bell Telephone System, which even in peace times reached 70,000 communities and now extends to the headquarters of every Army Department and Naval District in the United States.
