What's the Use?
Phil Brown, manager of a local pleasure house, got word the other day that his film, "Missing," scheduled for the week of June 23, was missing. Then a day later he was glad to get word that "Missing" had showed up and was no longer missing.
Logically, "Missing" has always been "Missing." It never was found "again" because it had never been "missing" before. But what's the use?—Indianapolis News.

Walter LaDusire was fined by City Recorder L. G. Lewelling this morning for speeding. He was driving at about 30 miles per hour on Second street, it is alleged.

Misses Pauline and Annella Burch left for Kings Valley, where they will attend the funeral of their grandmother, Mrs. Edwards, who was well known here.

Taxes Delinquent—
It is officially announced that taxes will be delinquent after October 5.

Oregon Jewellers Lead—
The Oregon Retail Jewellers' association has beaten every state in the union in gain of membership during the past year, also financially in the prompt payment of dues, according to a statement made by F. M. French of this city, secretary of the association.

To Enter O. A. C.—
Miss Ruth Rawlings and Miss Helen Grigsby will leave in a few days to enter the fall semester at O. A. C.

Walnut Thieves—
The walnut thief is around. At early morn he starts out with his sack and visits places with walnut trees, this year well filled. The popular nut has begun to fall, and when the owner of the tree arises and goes out to gather up the fallen nuts he finds none on the ground. The thief has been ahead of him. It is even said that the city has been placed in sections by a gang. English walnuts are worth about 30 cents a pound, hence the theft of these nuts is like taking money from the pocket of the producer.

To Attend High School—
Randolph Kuhn of Lebanon has come to Albany to spend the winter with his grandmother, Mrs. T. P. Hackleman, and attend the Albany high school.

The McDonalds—
Prof. and Mrs. McDonald and a couple of their girls, came over from Corvallis today for a short visit. Prof. McDonald has charge of gym work at the O. A. C. He recently returned from Presidio, where he took a special military training course for a couple of months.

Left for Keokuk—
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Sears, former Albany people, of Keokuk, Iowa, left for home last night after a week's visit here at the homes of Mr. Sears' father, C. W. Sears, and Mrs. Sears' sister, Mrs. Ed Sears. At the head of one of the biggest power plants in the United States, Mr. Sears has had a varied experience during the several years since leaving Albany, where he started as an electrician by trimming the old-fashioned carbon lights at the street corners. Mrs. Sears was for a number of years a clerk in the Hamilton Store, when on First street.

DUAL ROLE FOR WALLACE REID IN 'LESS THAN KIN'

It isn't often that the admirers of Wallace Reid, sterling Paramount, are fortunate enough to see him in dual roles in the same picture, but this is the case in "Less Than Kin," with Reid as star and dainty Ann Little as his leading woman, which shows for the first time in Albany at the Globe Theater today.

In a Latin-American republic, a hotbed for revolutions, Lewis Vickers, a young American wanted for murder, finds refuge. He attaches himself to an over-night revolutionary army and teaches drilling tactics.

This forms the basis of a highly-interesting story with unusual developments. There are many dramatic situations.

Fall of Romanoffs—
The true story of the disruption of the Russian Empire is shown in Herbert Brennon's "The Fall of the Romanoffs," which will be at the Rolfe Friday and Saturday. With infinite pains Mr. Brennon followed minutely every incident, every phase and detail of the great drama as revealed to him by the monk Ilidor, a refugee. Ilidor is the former confidant of Rasputin, uncrowned monarch of Russia. It is staged on a massive scale and contains enough action for two photoplays. Secrets of the Czar's household are bared.

THE DRIVE IS ON
Our boys are headed for the Rhine. The Huns are homeward turning. And every night the sky is bright With towns the boche is burning.

Full soon the trail of blight and death. The path of devastation, Will point the way, by night and day. Across the German nation.

Drive on, brave boys from Yankee land Our hearts with pride ar swelling; Today we dare to do our share With something more than yelling.

We're going to back you up with cash, As much as may be needed; We'll give you guns to heat the Huns, Till vict'ry is conceded.

The home-front drive is under way: Your voices seem to call us; We'll change this thing the Heinies sing To "Deutschland Unter Alles."

BUILT ON CORAL FOUNDATION
Keeling Island Group, in Indian Ocean, a Mass of Varying Colors Attractive to the Eye.

An oasis in the blue expanse of the Indian ocean is the Keeling Island group, built inch upon inch of coral. From far out at sea the ragged outline of the islands' coconut palms can be seen, now in forestlike thickness, and again one tall, solitary palm silhouetted on the sky.

Many times this is all that the ship's passengers see of the islands, for only when the winds are low can a ship put in at the harbor. Ordinarily, heavy winds send the waves crashing against reef and beach and make the islands a danger zone instead of a haven for mariners.

Parts of the islands are thick with matted underground, but below it all is the coral foundation in the form of sand and reefs of wonderful spreading formations. The shapes of the coral growth are fascinating in their variety. Little imagination is needed to see in them toadstools, oak trees, leaves and snow crystals. Some are solid rock, while others are as delicate as the outshoots of bursting fireworks. The colors, too, are like fading fireworks that leave only a suggestion of yellow, green and rose.

In contrast to the paleness of the coral reefs, the inhabitants of the pools and sea dazzle the onlooker with their scales of vivid red and green flashing through the clear water. Swordfish and sharks make fishing and swimming hazardous.

The air is fanned by great flocks of birds of the eastern tropics who might easily claim ownership of the islands by reason of discovery by their ancestors. The birds long ago found the islands ideal for nesting and time has enlarged the colony, for there are few human beings to disturb the feathered owners.—Chicago Daily News.

Suppose It Is Sacrifice

Who is questioning whether this Fourth Liberty Loan means SACRIFICE? Of course it DOES—but, oh! how small when compared with that sacrifice of the man on the firing line.

Behind the Battle-line, here in Oregon, it is up to us to dig and dig DEEP. Dig into your conscience—and it will make you dig deeper into the bank or brick behind the fireplace for money with which to BUY BONDS.
