ALLIANCE WITH ALL

President Wilson, in his New York speech last week, indicated in a few convincing words the natural transition from our policy of isolation to full participation in world politics.

"We still read Washington's immortal warning against 'entangling alliances' with full comprehension and an answering purpose. But only special and limited alliances entangle; and we recognize and accept the duties of a new day, in which we are permitted to hope for a general alliance which will avoid entanglements and clear the air of the world for common understandings and the maintenance of common rights."

"That is to say, while an alliance with one nation or one group of nations would be 'entangling,' an alliance with all would be free from entanglements, because it would remove the very perils that Washington feared.
And that is what we are aiming at.

We want all the nations in the world peace federation. We even want Germany in it—she must come in, whether she wants to or not, so that we can keep an eye on her. Such a liberating alliance with all the nations possessing power for good or evil in world affairs is what we are fighting for, and what we expect to obtain in the great peace conference that will come when our enemies surrender.

"TRAITOR" MALINOFF

German statesmen and editors greeted Premier Malinoff's request for an armistice with the furious demand that Malinoff be hanged as a traitor.

This is a most curious revelation of Prussian mentality. Traitor to whom? Traitor to what? There is no evidence, in current news reports, that Malinoff acted contrary to the wishes of his own nation or government. There is no question, then, of treason against Bulgaria.

If there is any treason involved in this perfectly natural attempt of the Bulgarian premier to save his country out of the impending wreck, it must be treason to Prussia. And how can a statesman of one self-governing country be a traitor to any other country?

The answer is, of course, that the rulers of the German Empire, and the underlings who ape their opinions, regard Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey as vassals of Germany, nominally free but actually provinces of their Empire. Thus it is unpardon-able audacity, insolence and insubordination for any of their allies to take any important war action without their consent.

The Prussian supermen will soon get over that. Their evil alliance is falling to pieces before their eyes.
Their comrades in crime see the impending doom of Prussianism, and refuse to "hold the bag." Soon Ger-

LIBERTY BOND OR—

By Helen M. Cummings.

Some day is your boy going to ask you why
When need was urgent, stress was great,
Your help was not forthcoming?
When, in Hell's fray, he stubbornly fought to hold the line, Wounded, suffering, almost spent,
Breathing a prayer—
"God give me strength to keep this dread load from home.

In older days, a battle raged, and so the story goes,
That just as long as were upheld the Leaders' hands,
So surged the tide of victory.
Are you then going to help those boys of ours—
Your boy and mine—Uphold their hands and help them save the free man's Right?
Or—fall them, and for evermore, be slaves to Mordred's Might?
