SIGNAL CORPS HAS BUSY JOB IN FIGHT

WITH THE YANKEES, France, Oct. 14.—The signal corps men had to do some fast work during the recent fighting to keep up with the infantry and to keep communications always open between headquarters and the villages newly captured where the doughboys were.

The signal corps was the connecting link between the infantry, artillery, ambulance service and headquarters. The signal corps did wonderful and lightning work. Every other department says so.

It's no cinch being the signal corps after a division that is continually gaining ground. As soon as the infantry makes a push you have to get a telephone line strung into the furthest ruins or wheatfield, no matter how many German shells are spattering about over the area.

Then, about the time you get a wire stretched along the ground and in working order, call up headquarters to tell them, "This is the new post at Squeedunk, give us a ring to see how she works," along comes another boche shell and cuts the communication. There's nothing to do but go out and fix it, and probably more boche shells are trying to make more cuts in communications, or even cut you off yourself.

The signal corps had wires everywhere, in bushes, along the ground, on poles left by the boches, underground, thru ruins. Headquarters say they never had such quick service, and they were never out of communication with regiments longer than the few minutes it took a signal corps man to inspect the wire and repair a break.

A signal corps man was stringing some wires across a wheatfield. "Some war this," he said. "I haven't had a sleep for more than two days. I suppose I'd fall asleep on the job if it weren't for these shells that come whistling along. Duck! There comes one."

After it exploded, he said, "They kinda scared me at first. I thought every one was meant for me."

NEW FOOD REGULATIONS ANNOUNCED BY HOOVER FOR EATING HOUSES

Conservation Program Based on Belief that War Will Not End Until After Summer Campaign of 1919

PORTLAND, Oct. 14.—U. P.—In 12 general orders addressed to all places where cooked food is sold to be eaten on the premises, the food administration today announced more drastic food regulations than have hitherto been enforced.

The purpose of the regulations is to bring a "direct reduction in the consumption of all food, particularly the staples, rather than a series of emergency regulations such as meatless and wheatless days, and the substitution of one food for another."

In a letter accompanying, it is pointed out that the orders "must be obeyed, for if they are not the food administration has power to cut off your supplies."

The regulations are necessary if the United States is to supply the allies with 17,500,000 tons of food this year, as promised. They are nationwide.

The general orders prohibit serving any bread not containing at least 20 per cent substitute flour. Bacon is barred as a garniture, as are bread and toast. Only one meat may be served to a patron at a meal. Meats include beef, mutton, pork and poultry. Not more than a half-ounce of butter may be served to one person at a meal. "Double" cream is banned. A teaspoonful of sugar is the limit for a meal. No waste food may be burned, but must be saved to feed animals or reduced to obtain fats.

Restaurants are urged to serve fresh vegetables and fruits wherever possible.

The table d'hote meal is discouraged. "There is no prospect of a proper ending of the war before the campaign of the summer of 1919," said a statement from Herbert Hoover.

SPRUCE PRODUCTION MAKES BIG GAINS

PORTLAND, Oct. 14.—U. P.—Brig General Disque, commanding the spruce division, announced today that the monthly production of spruce and aircraft fir had grown from 1,500,000 feet to almost 20,000,000 in a year. He called on the "one great industry which has gone thru the past year without labor disturbance or profit-seeking to grit its teeth and drive on with even greater cooperation and determination than ever before."
