Why You Should Give Twice What You Did Before

The government has fixed the sum needed for the care of the men in the service at $170,000,000. Unless Americans give twice as much as ever before our soldiers, sailors and marines in 1919 may not enjoy their

SAVE MONEY FOR FARMERS

Direct Testimony Showing That the Woodpecker Should Be Protected by All Agriculturists.

We are assured on high authority that if birds were as numerous today as they were 60 years ago it would mean a saving of many million dollars to American farmers. The slaughter of migratory birds is surely followed by the increase of destructive insects. Among the farmer's bird friends are the woodpeckers, especially the red-headed members of the species.

In proof there is cited the following instance: A pair of them nested in a dead cottonwood tree near an orchard. One day the observer watched them through a pair of glasses. The young birds were about half grown. The parents made 90 trips in one hour, each time with a worm. It is safe to say that they saved 90 apples in that hour—a box worth, say $1. If the birds worked ten hours a day, they were worth $10 to the owner of that orchard, or, in the three weeks the birds were in the nest $270. It is plain, then, that no farmer can afford to kill a woodpecker.

All-Wrong, (Napoleon.

"The dull, drab years of middle age" is the way a Y. M. C. A. worker classifies the period in a man's life from thirty-five to forty-five. He says that men of this age are frequenters of saloons, that they are mostly married and that they are not as desirable in the way of citizenship as the male individuals of seventeen to twenty-four, who spend much time with their sweethearts, or the male individuals more than forty-six, for that after passing forty-five and presumably surviving the "dull, drab years," a fellow turns his attention to things spiritual, generally to church work, and begins to live again. "The truth is," said a power of the rail, "this Y. M. C. A. pink seems to have lost, as a good many academic students of the saloon lose, the real solution. No better explanation ever has been made or ever will be made than that men go to the saloon because they have no place else to go that gives them the same sort of unconventional welcome. They go there not because their years are dull and drab, but because the gregarious instinct calls them."—New York Sun.

THE Best Advertisement in the World

IT IS THE TICK of the Clock. It says only one short word, but it says that word over and over.

Here the tick is loud; there low.

But always millions on millions of clocks are saying it.

It never stops.

It speaks to a baby's ears, and to the dying hours of an old man.

It speaks in time of joy; in time of grief; in time of idleness, or struggle and stress; in time of peace, or time of WAR.

It never stops.

Always it is telling the old, old story of the clock, "Time Flies."

Always it is repeating the stern lesson of life—"The World Forgets."

It never stops.

And it has made the clock the best known thing in all the world.

Such is the power of reiteration.

Such is the power of persistence.

Such is the power of constancy.

Call the advertising roll of honor, the world-famous advertising, alive to answer.

None ever stopped. All have told their story over and over, and still are telling it.

Advertising stopped is advertising dead.

Advertising brought back from the grave must foot again the long, old road from the very beginning.

NOW is the time to advertise—the only time.

Advertise tomorrow when tomorrow is NOW

Listen to THE TICK of the clock, as it tells you: "Time flies. The world forgets."

NOW is the time to advertise.
