A. P. Henningsen, president of the Henningsen Produce Co., his father, Mr. Henningsen; W. P. Henningsen, all of Portland; Mr. Horgan, of Tacoma, and Roy Goodhue, of Spokane, were visitors at the condensery yesterday. They expressed themselves as being well pleased with their Scio property and future business outlook. They contemplate quite extensive improvements to the condensery property in the near future.—Tribune.

THANKSGIVING

TABLE LINENS

Thanksgiving Table Linens for the Greatest Thanksgiving Day of All--Nov 28

With the supply of flax cut off from Russia, Holland, Flanders and Austria, there had been created a world shortage of Linens even before the British Government put such drastic provisions covering manufacturing for civilian purposes. Mills are producing practically nothing for civilian uses and even if the British Government should release what flax they now have under control, goods manufactured from this flax could not reach this country for 6 or 8 months. Beyond such supply as is now under British control flax must be grown, pulled, retted, separated, spun, woven, bleached and finished for a whole world depleted of Linens.

THIS SITUATION SPELLS ITS OWN DECISION.

BUY TABLE LINENS NOW FOR THE COMING MONTHS

NOW is the practical time to buy Linens, anyhow. Read about our patterns and prices: Passion Flower, Poppy, Lily of the Valley, Fleur-de-Lis, Chrysanthemum, Rose, Fern. 72 inches wide $2.00
