Food control in America held the price of breadstuffs steady, prevented vicious speculation and starvation and preserved tranquillity at home.

In no other nation is there so nothing a sense of voluntary self-sacrifice as in America—this was shown in the abstention from wheat.

Find more wheat, it came more quick, it came more sure, it was done. So Americans answered the challenge of German starvation.

Good will rules the new world as fear governed the old world. Through sharing food America helps make the whole world kin.

Food control made sufficient. Long shortages, kept the rate on food prices, over the nation's full strength experience.

Starvation in Germany challenged all the world's food conservation in America answered the challenge.

Food conservation in America has been the triumph of individual devotion to the national cause.

SAVE 16,000,000 BUSHELS OF WHEAT THAT FORMERLY WAS LOST IN THRESHING

Farmers, Urged by Food Administration, Provide Seven Extra Loaves of Bread for Every American.

By adopting cleaner threshing methods and by literally combing harvest fields to gather grain formerly wasted, threshermen and farmers of the United States this year saved fully 16,000,000 bushels of wheat, estimated as equivalent to about seven one-pound loaves of bread for every person in the country. This result, accompanied by corresponding savings of barley, oats, rye and other grains, is shown by reports from 33 grain states to the U. S. Food Administration. Other states, although not prepared to furnish definite figures of conservation in the grain fields, report greatly reduced harvest losses.

This rural food saving achievement, accomplished in scarcely six months' time, was in direct response to requests by the Food Administration, which asked farmers and threshermen to reduce harvest losses from about 34 per cent.—the estimated average in normal times—to the lowest possible minimum. Country grain threshing committees carried into every grain growing community the official recommendations for accomplishing the results desired.

In numerous instances drivers of racks with leaky bottoms were sent from the fields to repair their equipment and frequently had order threshing machines were stopped until the cause of waste was removed. But in proportion to the number of persons engaged in gathering the nation's grain crop, cases of compulsion were comparatively rare. The Food Administration freely attributes the success of the grain threshing campaign to patriotic service by farmers, threshermen and their crews. Incidentally grain growers of the United States are many millions of dollars "in pocket" as a result of the grain saved.

NO ONE SUFFERED HERE.

The marvel of our voluntary food-saving, now that we are "getting ready," is that no one ever actually suffered any hardship from it; that we all are better in health and spirit; and better satisfied with ourselves because of our friendly self-interest.

MEANT FREEDOM FOR FRANCE

Allegorical Representation of Young Girl's Impressions of First Soldiers From America.

Kathleen Norris gives an imaginary conversation with a young French girl describing the coming of the American soldiers to France as she is supposed to remember it:

"And now—to stand beside our work—from America! I remember standing in the chateau gateway on a bright November afternoon and seeing them come up the road. 'Soldiers! We were used to soldiers! But these were different. Grandmère was with me, we had been here all the time.

"They were here along in the streaming afternoon sunlight, and they smiled and waved at me.

"'They are the Americans!' Grandmère said, and she began to cry softly. 'God bless them—God bless them!' she whispered, over and over.

"And that night, as you know, we had their officers at the chateau and one of them told me he, also, had a daughter, not much younger than I, and that her name was Virginia—

"I don't know why—for, God knows, there were hard times, and dark times ahead—but from that moment I felt hope. Child that I was, I seemed to see behind those marching men the big and generous nation that was dedicating itself to their service, the women everywhere, with their sewing and cooking, saving and planning, their letters and their prayers—all one to their work for an ideal beside which the comfort and the ease of this generation was as nothing!"—Woman's Home Companion.

REGARD COLD AS SERIOUS

Medical Authority Warns Against Contemptuous Attitude Too Often Taken by Those Afflicted.

The ultraviolet citizen of male persuasion devotes part of the swiftest summer days to the unsympathetic task of selecting his winter equipment—a wise and sometimes money-saving piece of foresight. Other preparing ones are buying coal. In summer preparation for winter, it is probably in this spirit that the very midwinter number of Boston Medical and Surgical Journal touches upon the December subject of colds, and it is precisely in this spirit that we translate a few injunctions from the medical writing of Dr. D. C. Bennett in the Journal.

Treat colds early and carefully. Colds are simply the first stages of pneumonia, tuberculosis and many other ailments. When you have a cold you are in the beginning of a serious disease, which may develop if you neglect it. In military camps the order is that colds be reported upon the appearance of first symptoms.

Do not poke a cold with medicated cotton on a stick. Do not take aspirin except for pain. Do not spray a cold. Do not take quinine and whiskey, but treat a cold seriously because it is a serious disease. Consult a doctor.

Italians All in It.

"Practically every woman in Italy from sixteen to sixty is a war nurse or a volunteer war worker, and the whole nation is feeling the beneficent throbs of their activity." Count V. Macchi De Cellere said in an address before the Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Our women in Italy, such not politically organized or prepared for service, had within their hearts and minds the hereditary tradition of the struggle for liberty and nationality and have stepped forward, falling into line with marvelous efficiency and unanimity, backing the men in the army from royal palace to munition plant.

"They have undertaken the task of looking after the soldiers' families, as well as reconstructing and refitting for useful lives the disabled men of giving hands to the fields as well as to the factory."

What He Wanted.

General Biddle said at a London garden party:

"The doughboy in France has a lot of trouble with the French language. A doughboy sat on a bench in the Tuilleries gardens one day and thumbed a French phrase book disconsolately.

"'This here book,' he growled, 'don't tell you what you want to say at all. It tells you how to say the uncle of your mother is sixty-five years old, or the sister of your wife has bought a cow, or the umbrella of your neighbor is in the attic, but I don't want to say nothing of that kind.'

"'What do you want to say?' another doughboy asked.

"'What I'm after,' said the first doughboy, 'is a book that tells you how to say, 'Your face is familiar; ain't we met before?' or 'Gee, them eyes!' or 'Little girl, you sure do look out o' sight in that swimmin' suit.'"
