was cleared. The ladies of the church paid $360 on their debt after that affair.

On Wednesday afternoon of this week Mrs. Ward Cyrus was hostess in a delightful way to the members of the Coterie club. The rooms of her home were most beautifully decked in festive attire suggestive of the Christmas season. Fancywork was a diversion of the afternoon, each guest making a gift to give to the Red Cross Store to sell. Later, dainty refreshments were served at small tables.

One of this week's most delightful events was the dinner party given by the Neos Nymphs club at the home of Mrs. Clinton Straney, on Friday evening. Completing the attractive table appointments, chrysanthemums formed a floral centerpiece. The color scheme of red and white predominated. Later, gifts were distributed from a charming and heavily-laden Christmas tree.

Miss Aletha Cummings presided as hostess to the Beta Gamma girls this week on Wednesday. The girls gathered at her home early in the evening, enjoyed a covered dish supper and later passed an enjoyable social evening. The dinner table held a profusion of yellow chrysanthemums and greenery as decorations.
