Paris and from there to the Chateau Thierry front. Then we were changed to the Verdun front.

After the armistice was signed we marched about 200 miles through Luxembourg and Germany to Neuveid. We crossed the Rhine on Dec. 24th.

The German people treat us very well. I was downtown and bought a piece of cake about three inches square for one mark. Food is very high in price. Their wheat and rye looks very good. They raise a good bit of fruit, mostly apples. They raise lots of turnips for cattle. You don't see many cattle out; what you do see is yoked up to a wagon or plow. They eat horse meat here. You see very little meat in our company have lived out there—probably gets a little colder.

SALT IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at once when Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver troubles, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, odorous, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of swelling, get about four ounces of Jax Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jax Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

ried. How did we get it? Well, as I said before, soap is better than money here, and if I had a box of laundry soap I think I could eat chicken every day.

Whole Divisions of Cooties
Another thing that is very scarce here is rubber. In our brigade we have more than 500 trucks and autos, and even the fieldguns have big, heavy tires. The natives here think it is simply scandalous for us to be using so much rubber when they have none.

While we were refitting at Verdun I got rid of my cooties, but since we started north in the wake of the retreating Germans I have developed another crop. A new division of them just moved up and took over the lines. I have now given up all hope of getting rid of them until I get out of the army.

When we were billeted around in this little town most of us drew real beds, but the women expect you to sleep under a feather tick, but that is just a little too much for even a soldier to stand, so we usually sleep on top of it all, and use our own blankets over us.

We have recently passed through some of the finest farming country I have ever seen, both in Luxembourg and Germany. The climate is very much like that of Oregon in the winter—rainy and wet all the time. I am awfully glad the war is ended, for it sure would be hell with a big 'H' if we had to fight all winter in such a climate. It was had enough in France during the last month of the war on account of the rain and mud, for you see we were on the move so much in keeping up with the enemy that we had no time in which to fix our quarters fit for living, as we did in the old trench warfare.

Even Mud Sometimes Comfortable
Then again it is mighty disagreeable to have to flop down into a lot of mud and water when a shell drops close to you. In one of our last positions on the front our kitchen was located right in the center of a lake of mud, and one evening when we were all standing around eating, a big shell dropped right by us. Of course every man got right down into that mud in short order, and burrowed just as deeply as possible. It wasn't what you would call a very nice situation, but I want you to know that mud felt mighty comfortable while we were waiting for developments from that shell. A few moments afterwards it was a very interesting sight to see those boys looking at each other.

I am getting so that I can handle the German language a little better than I can the French, but I wouldn't carry away many honors in speaking either one.

I don't know when we are coming home, but I hope it will be soon, as I hate this life now that the war is over and the big job finished. Before the armistice we took our drill, etc., with a good spirit, for we knew we were getting ready for the big show, but now that it is all over, we want out of the service as soon as possible.

Seeing Things Near Coblenz
Interesting sidelights on life in Germany are given in a letter to D. W. Rumbaugh from his cousin, Russell Rumbaugh, Co. D, 38th Engineers of Ohio, now stationed at Neuveid, a small town on the Rhine near Coblenz.

We are located in Neuveid, a town close to the city of Coblenz on the Rhine river, he writes. We left New York City June 4th and landed at Liverpool June 16th. Went to Southampton, then to Havre, France. From there we built a railroad southwest of
