A New Mystery

In the quiet 'country community that he pestered with his presence, everybody hated Hamlet. Q. Glure—"Wall Street farmer," he called himself. Why shouldn't they? In the very first installment of "The Pest," a rattling new mystery story, starting next week in

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

we find him ruining a near-by dairy, underselling the truck-growers, beating a beautiful collie dog, and threatening one of his neighbors at pistol point. So it was no wonder that—

But it wouldn't be quite fair to give away the story. All I can say is that the editors tell me it's a humdinger of a mystery—the kind everybody likes—by Albert Payson Terhune.

But this is only one story, while in the fifty-two numbers of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN you get five or six of them—the kind that sell in book form for $1.50 to $1.65 each, these days. All these are in addition to a wealth of the best sort of articles about farm, garden and home. I will arrange to have your subscription start with the first installment of "The Pest," if you give me your name and the address with

An Object Lesson

The plates are the first parts of your battery to be affected by abuse or negligence.

Starving and lack of water hardens them, overheating buckles them. In either case, the battery is ultimately made inefficient, or even useless—ruined.

Of course any battery will wear out in time, but 90% of all battery troubles might have been avoided by regular care, or prompt attention when the first symptoms of trouble appeared.

Keep in touch with us and you'll be dollars ahead—the good money you're spending on avoidable repairs, the price of a new battery even—for regular care means longer battery life.
