A woman writer is worried because there are so few of the oldtime chores left for the boy to do. But the boy isn't worrying at all, at all.

The Pythian Sisters held a meeting on Tuesday evening of this week. A time followed the session and added to the evening's enjoyments.

Most of the attention of the week centers around the automobile show, held here yesterday and today, and which has brought throngs of out-of-town and Albany people to join the crowds at the armory. A gala atmosphere prevails, increased by the first glorious spring days, and the armory is an interesting place to visit. Dances form the evening diversion, these taking place in the Knights of Pythias hall in the form of jittery dances. The Corvallis Revelation Jazz orchestra furnishes the music.

Following the Knights of Columbus' banquet a crowd of young people went to the home of Misses Ruth and Irene Barrett where the evening was informally spent in dancing. This jolly diversion was enjoyed until a late hour.

Miss Ruth Derickson has resigned from her position in the Mountain States Power company and will leave for Seattle to make her home.

Miss Maye Gourley, of Portland, was the house-guest of Miss Elepha Cummings this week.

tertained with many novel features. Decorations artistically carried out the St. Patrick's Day idea.

A theatre party was given Monday evening of this week when Miss LaVerne Hofflich was hostess to a number of girl friends. After attending "Mickey," the girls repaired to the Hofflich home where a delicious lunch was served by the hostess. St. Patrick "greenery" and daffodils prettily adorned the table.

The guests included the Misses Elepha Cummings, Nina Bending, Hazel Hall, Addie Bodine, Mildred Grigsby, Elda Pettibone, Eva Richert and Maye Gourley, of Portland.

On Monday evening of this week Mrs. George E. Sanders informally entertained a few intimate friends of Mrs. Charles L. Monson, at Bridge. Mrs. Monson, the honor guest, will leave in a few weeks for Vancouver, B. C., where they will make their future home. Two tables of Bridge were enjoyed at this time and later a lunch was served in the dining room where a huge bowl of violets and greenery centered the table.

On Friday evening of this week a jolly coterie of girls were guests for dinner of Miss Lois Nebergall and Miss Grace McCalley, at the home of the latter, Miss Rita Dowlin, who has returned to make her home in Albany, was the honor guest of the evening. The table appointments were carried out with the color scheme of red and white and a huge bouquet of carnations formed the centerpiece.

Places were arranged for the Misses Rita Dowlin, Kamilla Kroschel, Vera Brown, Thelma Barnett, Beulah Delaney, Viola Kroschel, Mrs. Roderick McCalley and the hostess.

Mrs. P. A. Young left this week for California, where she will spend several weeks visiting Miss Isabelle Young at the University of Stanford, and friends in San Francisco.

The Neos Nymphs club enjoyed a covered-dish supper Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Boyle. Supper was served at small tables made attractive with violets and daffodils. A great deal of amusement was furnished thruout the time by comic notes found concealed in the placecards and read aloud by each guest in turn. Following supper old-fashioned games were enjoyed until a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. Ward Cyrus, and Chauncey Smith were additional guests.

The Priscilla club was entertained this week on Thursday with Mrs. Fred Fortmiller as hostess. The usual delightful afternoon was passed and a delicious lunch was served at small tables, prettily adorned with floral centerpieces.

On Monday afternoon of this week the members of the P. E. O. enjoyed an interesting meeting with Mrs. I. A. McDowell as hostess. Spring flowers adorned the rooms where a social afternoon was passed. Officers were in-

Flood; treasurer, Mrs. I. A. McDowell; chaplain, Mrs. C. K. Logan, and guard, Mrs. W. H. Davis. At the close of the afternoon a lunch was served by the hostess.

Mrs. A. B. Wilson was hostess on Wednesday afternoon to the Coterie club. Daffodils were used about the rooms in decoration. A dainty lunch marked the close of the afternoon.

The members of the Monday Bridge club were guests this week at the home of Mrs. G. M. Junkin. About the rooms flowers of the season were prettily arranged. At the close of the afternoon a lunch was served. As complimented guests, Mrs. E. F. Ander-
