"Regarding the 'J. B. L. Cascade' I feel it is one of the indispensable articles and should be in every home. I have not taken $10 worth of medicine since obtaining it—about 9 years."

Let the Wife Get Away

This Advertisement Is for the Men

We want to show him how to avoid doctor's bills. The recipe is "send the wife on a trip and send the laundry work to us." When he sees how fresh and clean everything is in the returned bundles, and notes the small charge, he will urge his wife to send all the washing here, all the time.

Perhaps you have a laundress come in to do the washing, but that ties a woman down to the house one full day. Perhaps you have it done in the home of the laundress. That invites contagion. The safe way, the economical way, is to patronize the steam laundry.

We soak the dirt out—no rubbing, no wear and tear. Your bed and table linen wear twice as long if washed our way—it's the rubbing that wears it out. That's equally true of the garments you wear. Hamlet well said, "Aye, there's the rub."

Mr. Man-of-the-House, when you find this on your plate at dinner time give a moment to consider what sanitary precaution is offered to you, what saving in replacing rub-worn linen and decide for your helpmate that washing is the business of the steam laundry. Your personal wearables will last longer, too.

A Good Merchant Is A Public Benefactor

A GOOD MERCHANT, who buys wisely and sells truthfully, is a blessing to a community—a public benefactor. No other kind of merchant can or does long survive. The truth pays. Most advertisers know this. Therefore, most advertising is truthful. All should be.

We would appreciate having our attention called to misleading advertising, that it may be corrected. The laws of the State of Oregon require that all advertising shall be truthful and worthy of your confidence.
