A GOOD ASSURANCE

The best news that has come to Albany for some time is the announcement of Hon. W. H. Paulhamus that he will cause to be installed in this city in time to take care of part of this year's crops, a cannery that will require a large force of people to operate. It is not enough that we merely have fruit to sell and be shipped out to some other point to be packed and resold. We need the factories here to employ local labor. And when the plant is in full working order, when the farmers of the county grow the required amount of fruits and berries, a payroll of a substantial size will be created. With a thought of these things for the future, I. A. McDowell showed good business judgment at the meeting Wednesday evening when he cut off useless debate by moving to accept Mr. Paulhamus' proposition and volunteered to double his own stock subscription.

What is wanted now is more fruit and berries and still more berries grown in Linn and Benton counties to feed the hungry machinery of the new canning plant. The Democrat has advocated heavy planting of strawberries and other small fruits all spring and still urges the farmers to take full advantage of the opportunities that God has given them and follow the natural bent of the soil and climatic possibilities of this section of the world and grow the things that thrive best here, and for which there is a heavy demand.

'FOOD PROFITEERING' IN GERMANY

After howling for American food, grateful Germany is now howling at the price it has to pay for it, and is accusing America of food profiteering at the expense of the innocent Germans.

As a matter of fact, on the basis of dollars instead of marks, the Germans are getting food for just about the same prices as Americans pay; and before any food was sent to Germany it was carefully explained to authorities and public that the dollar, not the mark, would be the standard of value.

According to the present rate of international exchange the mark is worth about seven cents, but with the same retiring modesty which characterizes all their estimates, the Germans value it at its old rating of 24 cents and can't see where they are wrong.

Such a thing as being exceedingly glad to get good, wholesome food at any price, and considering themselves lucky at that, has not penetrated the German brain. If they continue to complain it will be a simple matter for America to withdraw her supplies, until the Germans show a different spirit.

MASTER OF THE ATLANTIC

One of the big things that have gone almost unnoticed in the comprehensive peace settlement is the award to the United States of all the German ships seized in American ports. Their seizure when we entered the war was recognized as merely a temporary expedient—they were a war weapon to use against the enemy. Now it seems established that we are to keep those ships.

There are about 60 of them altogether, 41 liners fitted for carrying passengers and freight, and 48 cargo ships. Their value is placed at $100,000,000. They are simply taken in part payment of the money Germany owes to the United States for sinking American merchantmen, destroying American cargoes, etc. The rest of the bill, amounting in all to a little less than $1,000,000,000, is covered by other German-owned property in possession of our government.

This single act of poetic justice is one of the heaviest blows struck at German ambition. It takes away Germany's strongest weapon of economic conquest, her Atlantic fleet, and along with the seizures of Great Britain and other allies, leaves her almost stripped of commercial sea-power.

Germany before the war was the leading factor in the transatlantic passenger trade. Now the United States steps into Germany's place. Great Britain has so much to do in restoring her transportation lines in other trade routes, especially those of the Orient, that she cannot give much attention to the Atlantic routes for some time.

These German vessels are said by experts to set the American shipping program ahead ten years toward world supremacy on the sea. In a few years, at the present rate of growth, we shall have one-third of the whole world's shipping. In the meantime we are masters of the Atlantic.

ic. The ocean between America and Europe has become an American pond.

MOTHERS PLANT TREES

Included in the ceremonies for Decoration Day in Cleveland will be the dedication of trees to be planted along a parkway, one tree for each Cleveland man who gave his life in this war.

They are getting the row ready now. The trees are being planted, and in every case where possible, the mother of the lost lad, or his nearest of kin after her, plants the tree. There will be 695 trees.

A good deal has been written about the desirability of planting trees as memorials for the boys. This added touch of personality in the planting adds point and dignity to the plan. The great total of deaths in the army may be a glorious impersonal sacrifice upon the altar of freedom, but every individual soldier who died meant keen and lasting sorrow in individual hearts which no ceremony should be too general to take into account. Though the final dedication may be a great public affair, there is something singularly appropriate in this private planting of the trees by the people who when all is said and done care more than anybody else

First the war, then the Paris conference, and soon congress! Life is just one big row after another.

ALBANY TESTIMONY

Home Proof, Here, There and Everywhere

When you see Doan's Kidney Pills recommended in this paper you most always find the recommender an Albany resident. It's the same everywhere—in 3,800 towns in the U. S. Fifty thousand people publicly thank Doan's. What other kidney remedy can give this proof of merit, honesty and truth? Home testimony must be true or it could not be published here. Read this Albany recommendation. Then insist on having Doan's. You will know what you are getting. E. Skarr, contracting painter, 718 E. Fourth St., says: "I am ready to speak in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills any time, for I know from personal experience, they are all that's claimed for them. I have been taking Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for a long time and they have done good work. I have always found them just the thing to stop that misery across my kidneys and put them in good condition."

CLOTHCRAFT CLOTHES

For men and young men

-- getting 100 cents' worth for every dollar she spends is second nature to most women, for a woman is always a good judge of value. So a good many men 'take their wife along' when they come in here for clothes.

And we're glad to have them come! For women are mighty quick to recognize the double safety of the CLITHCRAFT guarantee. Every Clothcraft Suit carries with it not only the manufacturer's guarantee for satisfactory wear and service, but our own guarantee for fit and good looks.

We wish every wife in this community would come in with her husband and see the value that a CLOTHCRAFT SUIT offers.
