

Do You Pay 66¢ for Sirloin Steak? —or 33 Cents?

We serve all tastes

A recent Government bulletin quoted sirloin steak in different cities at prices ranging from 33 to 66 cents!

We buy live cattle, according to quality, all the way from $7.00 to $20.00 per hundred-weight, live weight. Sirloins from these cattle vary greatly in quality.

Some retailers sell 33 cent sirloins. These steaks come from cheaper cattle.

Customers of other retailers demand choice sirloins at 66 cents. These retailers buy meat from higher-priced cattle.

Also, the retailer who carries complete stocks, delivers to your door, and lets you run a charge account, has to get higher prices than the retailer who runs a "cash and carry" store.

We sell beef of a given quality at practically the same price all over the country—except for slight differences due to freight rates.

And our profit hardly affects the price at all—only a fraction of a cent per pound.

WHIPPET TANK "BAD ACTOR"

Instrument of Warfare That for Excellent Reasons Was Dreaded by the Kaiser's Huns.

It was with the "whippet" that imagination touched the "tanks." The whippet—so named I suppose from the speedy dog which chases rabbits to earth—is the pacing dromedary of tankdom. She is light—only a few tons I should guess—and instead of accommodating man Jonah-like in her entrails, carries a cab like a camel's hump, from which one can look, sometimes perpendicularly, behind. The whippet has two engines, one for each of her paw series, and that accounts for her eccentric motion. As she runs her eight, ten, up to a conceivable 20 miles, an hour, she squeals raucously. At a rock or a stump—both bad for tanks, which can be "bung up" on their "bellies"—she whirs with unbelievable rapidity, till your eyes are looking one way and your stomach another. Then she rumbles gaily over the field seeking for trees under 12 inches through to practice on, sees a trench, rises on her hind quarters, drops below sky-line with a teeth-shaking bump, grips the further bank, rolls up screaming and charges off for more.

A tank attracts her. She noses it until she finds an angle not quite, but almost perpendicular, and sticking her nails in the sod, worms, up, while you cling to the machine gun, and look at grass which is both back of and below you. And as she goes she spits oil, blows dust and flattens the world behind her. If an enemy, you may escape her by lying on the bottom of a trench; you can smash her with a shell if you can catch her on the wing, which is not easy; but the preferable place with a whippet is on top. Never was devised a more dangerous, humorous, human engine of warfare than this.—Henry Seidel Canby, in Yale Review.

SIMPLE WAY TO FIND OUT

Fussy Passenger Told Just How He Could Ascertain If Car Was Moving, or Not.

In the midst of Nebraska snowdrifts a train got stalled so that the wheels would not move forward or back. There it stood for six hours while the conductor walked four miles to the nearest station and got a section crew to dig the train out.

Aboard that train fidgeted a hungry farmer with Populist brown whiskers. He collected the individual opinions of everybody in the coach as to when the train was going to move on; and still he fidgeted.

At last the conductor returned. "See here," signalled the farmer as the conductor hurried through the aisle. "Are we going?"

"Are we going?" blustered the conductor. "You raise the window and put your head out. If the zephyrs fan your whiskers we're going; if not, the wheels of this train are probably frozen to the track."

The car roared with laughter as the disgruntled whiskers retreated into the adjoining coach.

New Splint Works Well.

The treatment of broken and otherwise injured arms has been somewhat facilitated by the invention of a new splint, which is a mechanical device ready for instant use in any case without regard to its character. It is in war, where a great number of cases are to be treated as quickly as possible, that this new device will be of the greatest value. It is adjusted to the body of the patient. It can be used on either arm and may be adjusted to any position in which it may be desired to hold the injured arm. It is a combination of metal rods, with suitable joints and hinges, so that the arm is properly supported and protected at all times.

Find for Autograph Hounds.

The visitors' book at the Hotel Majestic or the Hotel Astoria, at Paris, is an interesting record of the signatures of well-known men. Nearly everyone who is anyone has written his name in one or the other and besides being a proof positive of the universal illegibility of the writing of celebrities the books would be worth their weight in gold to autograph hounds. It has been suggested that when the conference is over and the various British, French, United States, Italian, Slav, Japanese, Russian, Czech-Slovak, Polish, and other celebrities scatter to their own places, the books might be put to auction, a page at a time, to help to defray the expenses.

No Bride, No Wedding.

The only serious fault of the bride-to-be was that she was never known to be on time. Every place she went she was late, and it had gotten to be such an old story that even the minister, knowing of her falling, attempted to remind her of it at the wedding rehearsal.

"You know," he said, "the wedding ceremony is at 8 o'clock sharp; you must be here on time."

She looked up at the clergyman with a twinkle in her eye.

"Well, there is one thing—this wedding cannot go on very well without me, can it?"

And the clergyman had to admit that she had the best of him.

Occasional Observance.

We will soon be entering that joyous period of the year when Mr. City Feller goes into his back yard garden to spade, wearing old shoes on his feet and blisters on his hands.

Holley Items

HOLLEY, May 20.—Special.—Mr. Pies' little child has been quite sick. Mrs. Laurence Thompson, nee Frankie Philpot, has been sick for quite awhile. Her father, T. J. Philpot, had her taken to Albany to be operated on. It is reported she is some better.

Quite a number of Holleyites went to Sweet Home to attend the play given by the high school students.

Mrs. Kate Pugh and three children started Friday for Brownsville, where they boarded the train for Fossil, where they intend to spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan started last week for Astoria where they intend to make their home in the future. Mrs. Ryan used to be Fessie Hamilton. They have just lately been married and have been here visiting her folks, the Hamiltons.

D. C. Swan met with an accident last Saturday while returning from the grange. His buggy broke down but luckily it didn't hurt the occupants seriously. Mr. Swan and Mr. Crocker were in the buggy.

The Holley school closed Friday. Miss Cook has taught a first class school, this being her first school.

David Dearmand, an old pioneer who lives near the head of the Calapoopa, had a partial stroke of paralysis one day last week. One of his lower limbs was rendered useless.

It is reported Loren Rice has bought a ranch joining the Rice homestead up the Calapoopa.
