SENATOR LODGE AND THE LEAGUE

"Nations must unite as men unite in order to preserve peace and order. The great nations must be so united as to be able to say to any single country, 'You must not go to war'; and they can say that effectively when the country considering war knows that the force which the united nations place behind peace is irresistible."

"We have done something in advancing the settlement by arbitration of many minor questions which in former times led to war and reprisals, although the points of difference were essentially insignificant; but as human nature is at present constituted and the world is at present managed, there are certain questions which no nation would submit voluntarily to the arbitration of any tribunal, and the attempt to bring such questions within the jurisdiction of an arbitral tribunal not only fails in its purpose but discredits arbitration and the treaties by which the impossible is attempted."

ly natural enough. Everything about jazz is crazy. Old General East O'Living at last shows some signs of capitulating. THE GUILTY GOLD DOLLAR Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, recognized as one of the country's foremost economic experts, lays the blame for present prices almost wholly on the little old gold dollar. He calls attention, as many others have done, to the enormous importation of gold since the beginning of the war, and points out the natural law by which, the more the gold supply increases, the 'cheaper' it becomes—the less of any other commodity can be bought by a unit of it.

Thus, with the nation's gold supply about doubled since 1914 and trebled since 1906, the gold dollar, or the silver or paper dollar based on it, buys only about half as much as it bought in 1914 and one-third as much as in 1906. This is a familiar story. Prof. Fisher, however, goes further than most other economists in that he proposes to do something about it. The remedy he suggests is a 'tabilized' gold dollar—a dollar whose own value will not be subject to continual fluctuations, with its purchasing value varying accordingly, but a dollar whose value will rise and fall with the general value of the necessities of life.

In other words, Prof. Fisher advocates an "absolute standard of value." It has long been recognized as something greatly to be desired. If it could be obtained, there would be no longer this continual unsettling of values and this never-ending effort to readjust interest rates, wages, salaries and money-contracts generally.

It is probably not too much to say that if this ideal of an absolute money standard were realized, nine-tenths of our industrial and financial troubles would be cured, not to mention the greater ease and fairness with which all financial matters could be adjusted. If Prof. Fisher can perform this miracle, he will be a world-benefactor.

London and Paris are said to be 'crazy about jazz.' Which is probab-

Brownsville Items

Brownsville Ore, Aug. 20 19—The Engine for the Hollar bay bailing outfit blew up Friday seriously injuring the engineer Wm Templeton. The cause of the accident is not known but the engine was an old one and had been in use for about 20 years.

A number of threshing machines have been working during the past few days. The Chas Carlson outfit and the Harrison outfit are operating north of town and Creshman and Hayes outfits South of town. Two hay baliers are humming North of town, the Elder outfit and the Harrison Dawson and Brason Co. The hay and grain is being taken care of rapidly, but a great deal of it is yet in the field.

Owing to the dry weather the wells in this section are going dry and unless rain comes soon there will be a scarcity of water. The mill located near Brownsville has been obliged to pipe water for about a mile, their water supply had gotten so low.

Loosing Their Loved Ones.

The strangest wedding I can remember was just like a funeral. Everybody was crying. The bride was an only child, the bridegroom an only son. Both mothers were widows. Each wanted the young couple to live with her, so they finally consented to live six months each year with each one. All you could hear between sons, first one mother, then the other, would say: "Oh, my, what a great loss; how can I live without her!" until no one present had the heart to congratulate the young couple, and were more than glad when it was time to go home.—Exchange.

Lawyer Too Eloquent.

His client was being sued for divorce by her husband and the attorney was trying to get her as much alimony as possible. Right in the middle of the flow of eloquence the attorney was interrupted by the husband, who said to the court: "Your honor, I have suddenly decided to withdraw my suit, and if my wife is willing, I would like to have her come back to me."

Pressed for explanation he said: "Mr. Blackstone has presented her in such an attractive light that I've fallen in love with her all over again."—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegram.

Did Their Own Raising.

I am much interested in my garden and therefore was considerably annoyed when I saw a coop of chickens being carried into my next door neighbor's back yard. But as the days passed and no chickens showed up, I interviewed the neighbor's little boy in this way: "Buddy, I hear you folks have started to raise chickens on your place." "They raised themselves," he answered. "They flew over the fence and got away."—Chicago Tribune.

Meats in Storage Not "Hoarded" Live stock is a seasonal crop—like cereals and grains. It is "ripe" and is marketed in larger quantities in certain months. This causes a natural oversupply at one time and a natural shortage at another. During the time of oversupply Swift & Company places some of the meat in cold storage, against the season of short production. This is a necessity in order that the nation's ration of meat—58,000,000 pounds every day in the year—may be forthcoming as the consumer requires it. This is not hoarding, not price manipulation, not market control. It is mere common sense. United States Bureau of Markets' figures of stocks of frozen and cured meats July 1 are being used as a basis for Department of Justice investigations in many cities. When properly analyzed, based on Swift & Company's stocks, these figures show: 62 per cent (approximate) is pork and beef cuts, etc., cured and in process of curing. It takes 30 to 90 days in pickle or salt to complete the curing process. 12 per cent is frozen pork, of which more than three-quarters is to be cured in the next few months. 7 per cent is lard. This is a normal supply and only four-fifths of a pound per capita, and much of it will have to go to supply European needs. 19 per cent is frozen beef and lamb, and miscellaneous meats, part of which is owned by the Government and was intended chiefly for overseas shipment. If this were all diverted to domestic trade channels it would be only 2 1/2 lbs. per capita—a 5 days' supply. 100% From this it will be seen that "meats in storage" represent unfinished goods in process of curing and the working supply necessary to assure the consumer a steady flow of finished product. Swift & Company, U. S. A.
