PHEASANT HUNTERS ARE OUT IN FORCE

In spite of the rain a fair number of pheasant hunters took to the fields this morning and some report having shot the day's limit after a short circle of a field or two.

Jim Christ, of the Imperial Cafe reports that he had 180 for breakfast this morning, about 100 of whom were strangers, men coming in during the night and on the early morning train from Portland and other places. One man is here from California, having been attracted to Albany by an article on pheasant hunting in the October number of Sunset Magazine that appealed to his sporting qualities. There is no game bird hunting to equal the pheasant shooting and this popular game fowl, is in great demand all over the country.

Charlie Alexander, proprietor of the Ringneck Pheasant Ranch, had contracted the output for this season to the Pennsylvania State game commission, but his birds were commandeered by the Oregon commission and will be delivered in a few days. The pheasant propagating business is a profitable one in Oregon and offers great possibilities for those who will go into it earnestly and make a business of it.

COLLEGE RECITAL GREATLY ENJOYED

Faculty Members Please Audience with Skillfully Rendered Numbers

The faculty of the Conservatory of Music of Albany College gave the city of Albany a real musical treat last evening at the First Presbyterian church. This recital is an annual affair and is looked forward to, by all lovers of the best music.

A difficult program had been well arranged and was successfully executed. The faculty is an honor both to the College and the city.

Mr. Charles South opened the program by a violin number, the minutet in D major by Mozart. The beautiful simplicity of the Mozart music was finally brought out by both the soloist and his accompanist, Miss Alice Clement.

Miss Mamie Lenhart followed in aria from "La Favorita", which showed the splendid voice and dramatic ability of the singer.

The playing of the Beethoven Sonata opus 31, No. 2 by Miss Clement was finely rendered. The player showed herself of strong musical intelligence and feeling. The climax of the Sonata was wonderfully brought out in the 3rd movement.

Miss Lenhart then sang Bemberg's "Hindoo Song", "The Song of the Shepherd Lehl", and a lovely Indian Song, by Lieurance. Miss Lenhart's voice is most agreeable in quality and has artistic power is strong.

Schubert's well beloved "Serenade" was played by Mr. South and greatly appreciated by the audience. Miss Mary Irvine played the D flat major Hungarian Dance by Brahams, with fine spirit. Miss Lenhart's artistic singing of the "Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes" was charming.

The program closed with an organ number from the St. Gothique, played by Miss Clement.
