WANTED AN INDUSTRIAL PLAN

In President's call for a national industrial conference early in October he expresses the hope that its deliberations "will put the whole question of wages upon another footing."

It is highly desirable that not only wages, but hours, working conditions and the processes by which these are adjusted should be put upon another footing.

The present situation in the United States and England furnishes an excellent illustration of the weakness and futility of the established modes of settling labor disputes. The strike is, as all thinking men recognize, an illogical and costly process. Labor wars are less defensible than international wars. If there is some reasonable hope of freeing the world from such wars as that which has just prostrated Europe and shaken the whole civilized world, there should surely be a reasonable hope of eliminating industrial strife in individual countries.

Every labor controversy turns on the question of justice. We have courts that administer justice every day to individual and corporate disputants, replacing the old methods of personal quarrel on a feud by the orderly processes of law. The disputants' neighbors are thus safeguarded from the fray, and the parties immediately concerned both gain by the process.

It is coming some day, undoubtedly—this same method of determining industrial controversies by means of impartial public tribunals. It exists already in New Zealand. These strikes and lock-outs alike are forbidden, and a labor union or a corporation carries its grievance to court just like any other litigant, and abides by the court's decision.

Perhaps the Washington conference will suggest modification of this system for the United States. If not, let it offer some alternative that will give promise of stopping the vast waste, bitterness and wrong to the general public that are involved in present practices.

Trotsky warns the Finns that unless they yield, he will have to begin against them "a campaign of extermination such as has a history." Thus the "Red" idealists foster human brotherhood and regenerate the world.

Why put the electric fan away when it can be used before the furnace grate to start the fire, in the laundry to help dry the clothes or on a shelf in the kitchen, fanned toward a window opened at the top, to blow the cooking odors out of doors?

Of the 4,000,000 men recently in the army, only 20,000 to 30,000 are still looking for employment. And judging from the general demand for labor, most of them are probably not looking very hard.

It is said that King Albert is going to study American politics while he is over here. Take our advice, Al., and don't do it. It's an awful mess, and there's no bottom.

Last winter it was the flu. This winter it may be the strikes.

Lyons Clippings
 LYONS, Ore., Oct. 4.—Marion Forrest was a Lyons business caller Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Martin and son, Wilbur were Stayton visitors Saturday of last week.

Mrs. W. R. Surry and children are now located in Stalton, preparing to send the older children to high school.

G. F. Johnson and family expect to move to Salem soon, having leased their farm to Mr. Forrest.

Holley Items
 HOLLEY, Ore., Oct. 4.—We have had quite a pleasant rain. The farmers have all gone to plowing.
 Prof. C. L. Malone has commenced his school at Rocky Point with a good enrollment of pupils.

Miss Mildred Johnson is teaching at Holley.

F. O. VanEpps was badly hurt at A. L. Weddles sawmill Tuesday. He had loaded his lumber and was standing talking to John Reinhart when the latter exclaimed, lookout! He looked up in time to see the dolly coming off the track above onto him. He jumped and run, but not in time to save himself. It struck him on the shoulder, slid down his arm and hurt his side. Now he is laid up from work.

Miss Audrey Wright has entered high school at Sweet Home for the winter term.

Hugh McQueen is able to attend high school. This is his last year. He will graduate from the 12th grade.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. King have moved from Sweet Home to the Frank Cameron place to dwell this year.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. King and, Mr. and Mrs. Oram King made a business trip to Albany Saturday, returning the same day.

Mrs. Bertha Coy, of Moro, Ore., has been visiting her mother, Mrs. James Rice and other friends in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. VanEpps sold $200 worth of prunes out of their orchard.

Miss Neva Malone has purchased her a new pair of rubber boots preparatory to feeding hogs and milking cows this winter and doing other outside chores.

Fred Malone caught a nice big black bear in his trap the other day. When Fred sets his trap he most always catches Mr. Bruin. He caught four last fall.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, sniffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or cull your head, no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphate hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

Living Room Suites that are Different - Distinctive

America is becoming more and more a nation of better homes and better home furnishings. Perhaps the great war has emphasized the comforts of home. Certainly it has made home mean more to the boys who were in the service and their parents are anxious to have "home" mean more than ever to them.

Quite naturally this has brought a big demand for home furnishings of the better sort and as we make it a practice to have what the people want, you will find our showing of living room furniture both different and distinctive.

What an Electric Range Means in the Home

The housewife has unconsciously waited for some way to solve the kitchen problems. To eliminate the servant, save time and dirt and unnecessary labor, heat fumes, objections of all kinds and descriptions.

The Electric Range not only solves the kitchen problem but more—it saves two most vital things—Food and Fuel. Electrically cooked food is better food, has greater food value and flavor, and minimum shrinkage. The way food is cooked is all important. The Electric cook realizes this three times a day. Come in and see for yourself.
