RED VICTIMS KNOWN HERE

Principals in Centralia Outbreak Known to Albany Resident

Mrs. Bruce Hunter of West Third Street Albany, was shocked yesterday to learn of the death of the four soldiers shot by I. W. W. at Centralia, her girlhood home. Mrs. Hunter was acquainted with all of the men, and also knew by reputation the I. W. W. Attorney, Smith.

Dale Hubbard, who left a wife and baby, lived next door to Mrs. Hunter's parents, as did also Warren Grimm, another victim. McElfresh, also killed, was popular and well-liked, Mrs. Hunter says. Eubanks, wounded by the reds, was also a native of Centralia.

Chas. Fisher, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Hunter, was an ex-service man who marched in the fatal parade and was a first-hand witness of the ensuing riots.

Seminary Ridge, from which the reds poured bullets into the parade, lies just back of the depot and is a high bluff affording protection to the assassins. Before the citizens could climb to the position the I. W. W.'s had scattered.

Attorney Smith, who drew a gun on the soldiers, was a shyster lawyer who failed at legitimate law and took to country school teaching. He identified himself later with the red element. He was known to Mrs. Hunter to have stirred up many local strikes in the mines near Centralia, in which a brother-in-law of Mrs. Hunter is an employer.

Just What a HOT SPOT Chalmers Saves on a Cold Day

MOST cars are hard to start on a cold day. There is a notable exception in the Hot Spot Chalmers.

It responds to the pressure of the starter button, "warms up" quickly and runs at a high point of efficiency in a few moments.

It saves many things on a cold day:

1. Your battery
2. Your gas
3. Your time
4. Your temper

Hot Spot and Ram's-horn provide cold weather efficiency. They "crack up" the gas, rush it to the cylinders before it can condense, and "warm up" the engine in quick time.

Let us explain to you just how these two magnificent devices do the work. Once you understand them your admiration will grow stronger for a Hot Spot Chalmers.
