A Western Furnace for Western Fuel The Western Pipeless Furnace

NOT AN EXPERIMENT

The Western Pipeless Furnace is not an experiment. It is a successfully constructed heating machine. After watching the operation of the Western in all classes and sizes of buildings, under all kinds of conditions, we can state unreservedly that:

- 1st.—The Western Will keep your house warm all over. This has been checked in hundreds of cases and we KNOW the circulation of the heat will be uniform—not varying more than a few degrees in any room to which the heated air can get.
- 2nd.—It will save you fuel. Most remarkable savings have been made, averaging about 30 per cent. It will reduce your fuel bill, too.
- 3rd.—The Western Will Last a Lifetime. It is built for service. Every part is heavy cast iron, guaranteed for five years.
- 4th.—It will keep your basement cool. The double construction of the walls of the furnace makes it impossible for the heat to escape in the basement. All the heat is delivered to the rooms above and vegetables may be kept right near the furnace without being damaged.
- 5th.—The Western Pipeless will give you satisfaction. It has made friends all over the northwest and will permanently settle your heating problems.
