A lot of merchants say their window is their best advertising

WE don't. We say our best advertising is the satisfied customers who walk out of our store with a pair of our shoes on their feet, a worn out pair in their hands and a smile on their faces.

Come in and look our display over—you'll soon be one of our "best advertisements".

FLOUR At Wholesale

SNOWDRIFT, Hard Wheat, Sack $3.00
All flour users know that flour recently advanced $1.00 per barrel and most of them know that Snowdrift has been selling at $3.30.

These days a merchant usually has to order about three times as much of a product as he thinks his trade demands to get enough to supply the demand. Recently this store ordered about three times as much flour, in the many different brands carried, as the trade ordinarily demands. We accidentally, or otherwise, got the orders filled, and now we will give the consumers the advantage by

Reducing the PRICE

We cannot afford to rent a warehouse, so we will sell it.

It is needless to suggest that it will be good business to lay in a supply for the winter. The flour is new, having just arrived

M. J. B. COFFEE

We have on hand a large supply of M. J. B. COFFEE that now wholesales at 48 cents the pound. To move the stock in five-pound tins we make the SPECIAL PRICE of, per pound 50c

"FLO FLO" COMING TO THE GLOBE TOMORROW WITH TUNEFUL MIRTH

With a "perfect 36" chorus, a cast of principals which scored the season's success on Broadway, effective scenery and three fashion parades worthy of Paquin or Polret, John Cort's musical comedy triumph entitled FL-FLO, which had a long run at the Cort theatre, New York, will be the attraction at the Globe Theatre tomorrow evening.

Mosher and Simpson, proprietors of the Bride Shop, in this Cort production, are a riot of laughter by themselves, but when taken in conjunction with that alert pair of eccentric dancers, Pinky and Aloysius, the lovely and shapely Flo-Flo, the Bride Shop's most accomplished mannequin, and Angelina Strokes, who finds that the course of true love never runs smoothly, the result is a very amusing entertainment.

The story is concerned with a match-making mother; a scheming count whose title is only visionary; Angelina Strokes, who is being forced into a loveless marriage with the bogus count. Angelina is brought by her worldly mother to the Bride Shop for her trousseau.

KRYPTOKS will prove to be one of your priceless possessions. The clear vision which they give—the beauties of the world about you which they open up—are a revelation to everyone who has been accustomed to simple reading glasses or two pairs.

ALBANY OREG

About the time Angelina arrives Billy, her boy sweetheart since her pinafore modest salary in Mosher and Simpson's establishment and there meet, Angelina, who greets him enthusiastically. Mrs. Stokes orders him discharged when she finds him kissing her daughter, and then Billy drowns his hopeless love in a flirtation with Flo-Flo, the vampish cor set-model. Angelina is heart-broken at this turn in her romance, but the theft of her trousseau and the determination of Flo-Flo to give up the idea of marrying Billy, because he does not love her, finally unites the young lovers.

Managers Hill and Hudson report a good advance seat sale and prospects are that "Flo-Flo" will play to a full house, as she deserves to. Portland papers were lavish in their praise of the play, its music, comedy and the pretty clothes worn.

There were 6,361,562 farms reported at the last decennial census, valued at more than 40 billions of dollars. The 190 census is expected to show more than 7,000,000 farms.

Rev. Edgar Draws Crowds at Glendale

Rev. E. H. Edgar, formerly of Albany, now of Glendale, Douglas county, held a rousing Thanksgiving song service here recently. The Glendale News has the following to say of the meeting:

"The Thanksgiving song service last Sunday night at the Olivet church was attended to a good-sized crowd. The program consisted of solos, duets, anthems, choir selections and singing by the congregation, and a short sermon by the Pastor. Altho the program was long, the rapt attention of the congregation throughout testified to the fact that all enjoyed it, in fact it was the best service of this kind ever given in Glendale. Mr. Edgar's sermon also was exceptionally good. Taken as a whole the service was a great credit to Rev. Edgar and wife, and to all who took part, and it is hoped that we may have more of a similar nature."

NATIVE POETRY

THE HUNGER FEAR
By Claudius Lambert

Drips the rain in steady splashes
On a humble cottage roof,
Where, beside the hearth's dead ashes,
Rests not joy, but every proof
Of a presence dread and grim—
Not of Death—they fear not him,
Those who crouch with dull, drawn features

Close to larger parent-creatures,
In whose eyes dwells a look of sadness—
—hopelessness akin to madness,
Where the gleam of honest gladness
Was once their pilot light of life.
Crouching there and seeming fearing
Nothing seeing, nothing hearing,
Yet they know the presence nearing—
Presence of the Hunger Fear.
Howling near in work and playtime,
Menace of the night and daytime,
Driving on to fierce exertions,
Or to crime, or worse,—desertions
Of their own by self-bought death.
