AVOID DANGER SAYS MARSHAL

Christmas Season Should Not be Marred With Tragedies, is Warning

"We wish you a very Merry Christmas and if you will but observe these few precautions we assure you a Happy New Year," says the state fire marshal's bulletin, while recommends the following precautions for the holiday season:

"Christmas is coming with gay trees, twinkling candles, sparkling decorations, beautiful gifts, smiling faces, and light hearts. The one day of the year when each one strives to make others happy. There is no wonder that in every child's mind Christmas is the hallowed day of the year. The day is indeed deserving of such profound observance for it commemorates the most important event that has ever taken place in the history of the world. It is right and fitting that it should be celebrated by every person, and in every home. but in no case should people permit their enthusiasm to carry them beyond the point where they may forget to give proper consideration to their own and others personal safety.

Beware of Candles

"The customary manner of celebrating, entailing the use of inflammable decorations, burning candles, filmy dresses, etc., has in many instances resulted in disastrous fires attended with the destruction of life and property, and the leaving of a trail of sadness and sorrow in the wake of that joyful occasion. How much better to have eliminated the element of danger by exercising a little forethought and precaution. The use of fire is in no way essential to a proper observance or celebration of the day, and we offer a few timely suggestions for a safer and safer Christmas.

Use Small Tree

"Do not have wiring done by a novice. Use a small tree. Small trees are usually more decorative than large ones, and much safer.

"Be sure the tree is well fastened so it can not fall over.

"If candles are used protect the floor under the tree with a sheet of metal.

"Where possible use small electric lights for illumination.

"If you must use candles, place same so that flame can not come in contact with anything inflammable, and fasten securely.

Metal Tinsel Best

"Use metal tinsel for decoration instead of paper or inflammables.

"For snow effects use asbestos fibre instead of cotton.

"Do not hang decorations on gas jets, and do not hang anything inflammable on chandeliers.

"Keep screen always in front of fire place.

"Never permit children to light candles. They should never under any circumstances be permitted the use of matches.

"Extinguish all candles before the distribution of presents.

"Remove all decorations within three days.

How to Fireproof

"It is a very wise precaution to fireproof the children's filmy dresses, and any inflammable decorations possible which can be done for a few cents in the following manner, viz: Dissolve commercial ammonium phosphate in water in the proportion of one pound to the gallon. Immerse the articles for a few minutes in solution, wring slightly and dry. This is not injurious to the skin or fabric in any way, and very effectually fireproofs, as the material will not blaze or burn."
