MIRIAM PAGE IS MARRIED AT EUGENE

By Irene Helen Barrett
Telephone 225-R

St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Eugene was the scene of a very beautiful wedding Saturday evening, when Miss Miriam Page, a former Albany girl, became the bride of Mr. Paul Hamilton. Rev. Fred Jennings performed the beautiful double ring service.

The church was made beautiful with vines and lavender chrysanthemums. The altar was lanked with blossoms and trailing green vines forming a lattice-work around the ends. Dozens of candles held by beautiful brass candelabras cast a glow over the scene making a beautiful setting for the bridal party. Lavender satin ribbons marked pews for the invited guests.

The bride was charming in a gown of white Dutchess satin in full court train which was enveloped by the long tulle veil. The gown was built on simple lines and trimmed with duchess lace, the slight drapery being fastened with tiny sprays of orange blossoms. A motif of lace and blossoms adorned the bodice. The veil was fashioned in a mob cap of tulle and a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white brides roses tied with lavender woline streamers.

Edna Gray of Portland was maid of honor. She wore lavender satin with a white and lavender picture hat and carried lavender chrysanthemums.

The attendants were Irene Townsend of Portland, Allyn Johnston and Grace Sage of Ontario, and Janette Cawkins, Eugene. They were gowned in lavender and green satin with picture hats to match and carried lavender chrysanthemums.

The bride groom and best man, Hansen Berg of Seattle, came in from the left of the altar. The brides maids came in from the right followed by the maid of honor; then the bride on the arm of Professor Dum of Eugene, who gave her in marriage.

Reba MacKeen sang, "At Dawning," before the ceremony. As the bride entered the strains of Lohengren's wedding march, four Delta Gamma girls sang Lohengren's chorus. After the ceremony as the bridal party marched out of the church Mendelssohn's wedding march was played.

A reception followed at the Delta Gamma House, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton left for a wedding trip to Seaside and Seattle. They will be at home to their friends by Dec. 28 at Prosser, Wash., where Mr. Hamilton has a position as pharmacist. Mrs. W. A. Barrett and Mrs. O. D. Austin were among the out of town guests.

Mrs. John Neely was a delightful hostess Wednesday afternoon when she entertained the Neas Numphe club. Her home on Calapooia street was a veritable bower of beauty in Christmas decorations, green and red. Massive festoons of holly tied with red ribbon hung from the ceiling in every corner. Garlands of the red and green trailed down the chandelier and hung gracefully over the red shaded lights. The window shades had been drawn to complete the effect. The dining room was aglow in red and green and the soft light of red shaded candles caused a magnificent scene. A massive Christmas bell hung over the prettily appointed table. Attached to it were tiny red streamers running to the favors which were small green baskets ornamented with poinsettias and filled with sweetmeats. Each contained a surprise daintily tied in a walnut shell. Red place cards written with green ink and ornamented with poinsettias marked covers for the 18 guests around the table, which was centered with a large basket of holly. A victrola furnished music while the sumptuous repast was partaken of. Those seated around the festive board were the Mesdames Earl Boyle, Homer Dowd, Bollen Hackleman, Olin Nebergall, Clinton Straney, E. C. Vierick, Joe Warren, Bert Wilson, Earl Canfield, of Corvallis. The little Misses Virginia and Kathryn Boyle, Bettie Vierick, Loraine Canfield, Dorris Anne Neely and Elwood Vierick. The dinner was followed by a social hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Thompson of Portland were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Woodard at their home, 517 west second street. Mrs. Thompson is formerly from The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Dowd were dinner hosts Thanksgiving Day at their home in Sunrise. The house decorations were Thanksgiving coloring. The table was centered with yellow chrysanthemums. Dainty yellow placecards marked covers for Mr. and Mrs. Womer Dowd, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dowd, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Dowd, Miss Eugene Dowd, Frederick Dowd, Morris Dowd Jr. and Roy Dowd Jr.

A delightful musical evening followed.

Mrs. Al Ramsey presided charmingly at a meeting of the Needle Craft Club Friday afternoon. A business session was held and election of officers ensued as follows: President Mrs. Ramsey, secretary Mrs. Roy Worriy, treasurer, Mrs. R. A. Haddins, reporter Mrs. Ed Hartman.

Mrs. Ramsey served a delicious cafeteria luncheon of chicken pie and all the good things that usually accompany it from a prettily arranged table centered with poinsettias. Mrs. Ramsey was assisted by Mrs. Ed Hartman. Mrs. Will Cook was an additional guest.

Mrs. G. T. Hockensmith, Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star, delightfully entertained the officers of the order Thursday afternoon at her apartments in the Stark Building. The rooms were artistically decorated with chrysanthemums and greenery for the occasion.

The afternoon was spent socially, a feature being a Christmas tree, which was beautifully trimmed and from which each guest received a comic gift causing much merriment. The hostess was assisted by Miss Helen Pugh in serving a delicious luncheon. Those enjoying the affair were, Mrs. O. D. Austin, Past Worthy Matron; Mrs. Alton Coates, Mrs. Guy Lewelling, Mrs. Percy Kelley, Mrs. Van Waning, Mrs. L. H. Fish, Mrs. E. M. Pugh, Mrs. Louis Vierick, Mrs. John Penland, Mrs. G. G. Cawles, Mrs. Glen Junkin, Mrs. James Van Winkle, Mrs. E. C. Brandberry, Miss Madeline Rawlings, Miss Helen Pugh and the hostess.

The Lady Macabees held an all day rally and school of instruction in their hall Wednesday. Mrs. Minnie Aydelotte, Deputy Supreme Commander, of Oakland, California; Mrs. Pauline Moore Riley, State Commander, of Baker, and Beatrice Little of Portland, Assistant Deputy, were present.

There were two school sessions on the work of the order, Mrs. Aydelotte being chief instructor. Mrs. Riley spoke on insurance of the order. Mrs. Little spoke interestingly on miscellaneous work of the order.

The evening was taken up with degree work, six members taking the first degree. The Albany Degree Team conducted the services. A banquet followed in the beautifully decorated hall.

Mrs. Walton Worrell entertained her Sunday school class of the First Presbyterian church Monday afternoon. The rooms were attractive with potted plants and yellow chrysanthemums. The pleasures were music, games, and candy pulling. Mrs. Worrell served refreshments.

Those present were Margaret Coates, Lucile Murphy, Cecil Anderson, Helen Cochran, Mildred Glenn, Susan Stellmacher, and Mary Worrell.

Pretty in simplicity was the marriage of Miss Gertrude Alisky and Mr. W. S. Powell which took place at high noon Wednesday at the home of Mr. Powell's sister, Miss Lenore Powell at 440 West Seventh street. Rev. Geo. H. Young of the Baptist church performed the ceremony in the presence of a few relatives. The bride was attractive in a simple blue silk dress and wore a corsage bouquet of violets. There were no attendants.

A fine wedding dinner followed. Seated around the prettily appointed table were seven guests. Mr. and Mrs. Powell left immediately for Eugene for a short wedding trip, after which they will be at home on their farm two miles north of Brownsville, where they have hosts of friends.

Mr. Otto W. Urhammer and Miss Alma Hink were united in marriage Saturday evening of last week at the Urhammer home on Tangent road. Rev. G. H. Young of the Baptist church solemnized the marriage, using the pretty ring service. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Hink of Tangent. She is well known in Albany, where she has a large circle of friends. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Urhammer of Albany and has hosts of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Urhammer left immediately for California to spend the winter, after which they will reside on Mr. Urhammer's farm near Albany.

The H. D. W. Club members were guests of Mrs. G. W. Goff of North Albany Thursday. The day was spent in sewing for the baby home in Portland. A seven course midday dinner was served to the guests seated around a large table decked with a pretty floral center piece of white and lavender chrysanthemums. The autos brought the guests to and from
