THRIFT DAY BEING OBSERVED ON ANNIVERSARY OF FRANKLINS BIRTH

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Today in more than 300 cities of the United States the 214th anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, the apostle of economic prudence, is being observed as "National Thrift Day". It is the beginning of an 8-day campaign to curb extravagance throughout the nation.
Sponsored by the Young Men's Christian Association, the enterprise is said to have the indorsement of the Savings Division of the Treasury Department, the American Bankers' Association, the National Association of Real Estate Brokers, the National Credit Men's Association, the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, and other organizations related to industry and commerce.

On the first day of the campaign the importance of bank accounts in promoting thrift will be emphasized. Adolph Lewisohn is chairman of the National Committee.
Next Sunday, "Thrift Sunday", many congregations will listen to sermons on the relation of money to religion. Hundreds of pastors will preach on saving as it relates to building a man's character. One of the campaign slogans is "Master Money or Money Will Master You." Other campaign days will be known as "Life Insurance Day," "Own-Your-Own Home Day," and "Pay your Bills Promptly Day."
Arthur M. East, secretary of the national committee, in explaining the purpose of thrift week said: "It is fundamentally an idea week. For eight days the commercial and industrial leaders of each community are lending time and energy to the problem of setting the economic problem in motion and implanting the idea of thrift throughout the nation's industrial life. It comes at a critical time.

"We expect to accomplish the following results: First, to teach sound economic doctrines bearing especially on present-day conditions; second, to protect people from 'wild cat' schemes and encourage them to invest in local enterprises; third, to educate the community on the important service financial institutions render; fourth, to conserve the educational value of the various government war loan campaigns; fifth, to encourage every individual to become the owner of a bank account; sixth, to stimulate people to own property and to help them accumulate funds with which eventually they may own their own homes; seventh, to help young men and boys to fit their incomes and abilities into the purpose of a well-rounded life and enable them to bear their full share of responsibility to their families, their community and country; eighth to develop character by teaching the right value of money with a view to opening the door to a correct appraisal of moral and spiritual things."

Alex Ginty Is Visitor at Big Products Exhibit

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—Special—Mr. Alex Ginty, of Albany, Ore., was as visitor on January 12th at the big exhibit of Southern California products maintained free to the public in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. He also attended the lectures and moving pictures that are a part of the daily program. The exhibit is the largest of any in the country maintained by a commercial organization. Before returning home, he expects to visit several of the many other places of interests in the Southland.

Beans of various kinds were known in the days of the Egyptians and later in the time of the Jews received a fair amount of cultivation, seeming to differ but little from those in use at the present time.
