NEAR EAST RELIEF CAMPAIGN IN OREGON LAUNCHED TODAY

General Mesrop Azgapatian, noted Armenian soldier and statesman who speaks in Portland today, and in Albany tonight

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 19.—Special—Oregon's annual Near East Relief campaign is being launched here today at a conference of county chairmen, leaders and workers from all parts of the state. Many of the delegates arrived yesterday morning and preliminary conference was held at noon, when Mrs. E. T. Allen, who has a record of ten years service in the relief stations of Armenia, Syria and other famine-stricken lands in the Near East, told of her experiences and made a strong appeal to the assembled forces.

Mrs. Allen lived for five months within the city compound at Urumia, ministering to the needs of 12,000 naked, starving Christians, who crowded into that refuge under the American flag to escape the hatred, blood-thirst and lust of the Kurds. She was the only American woman in that gruesome place to hold up throughout the strain of those terrible months, menaced by the enemy from without and daily confronted by starvation and pestilence from within.

Today the state conference will be addressed by General Mesrop Azgapatian, distinguished diplomat, military leader and statesman of the Near East, who brings a message of hope for his stricken people and is on a tour of the United States to enlist the sympathy and support of Americans in helping the crushed and long-suffering peoples in the ancient land overrun by the barbarous Turks, to take to their feet and become self-supporting and selfgoverning.

Samuel C. Lancaster, noted landscape engineer and builder of the famous Columbia River Highway, has accepted the post of State and city chairman for the approaching campaign, and is now hard at work organizing his forces for a whirlwind clean-up of the state when the drive for funds opens early in February. Mr. Lancaster believes that when the public understands the present conditions of wide-spread suffering and destitution in the Near East, together with practical and systematic program of reconstruction that is being undertaken, contributions will pour in freely.

"Because of the delay in signing the Peace Treaty" said Mr. Lancaster today, "these countries are still in a chaotic state, but now that the European Allies have signed the treaty, official consideration can be given to the appalling plight of the Near East, and a mandate or protectorate will undoubtedly be established, so that cities and industries can be rebuilt and the long-suffering and martyred people can be put upon a self-supporting and self-governing basis. Knowing that this is the immediate prospect, those who contribute their efforts and money to this cause will feel that they are not only keeping these martyrs from starving, but are lending a hand in fitting them physically, mentally and spiritually to take up their great task of reconstruction."
