ARE MONEY SAVERS FOR YOU

Thrifty people are buying for future needs now, thereby saving from 20 to 50 per cent, because all indications point to prices being much higher on underwear, blankets and cotton goods for next fall.

BLANKETS are all priced special now, both cotton and wool. Full bed-size Cotton, at $2.50 to $6.60. Wool Blankets, large size, $8.55 to $14.25.

Crib Blankets, Plain and fancy, 50c to $2.80.

WINTER WEIGHT UNDERWEAR for women and children, Union Suits and separate garments, at a saving to you of 10 per cent.

KABO CORESTS, at discount of 10 per cent, for the remainder of January.

OUTING FLANNELS, there are only a few pieces left in these short lengths at 22c. It is an unusually good value, so don't delay.

MORGENTHAU PLEADS FOR HELPING HAND IN THE NEAR EAST

Former Ambassador to Turkey Says America Should Not Let Armenian Allies Starve.

By HENRY MORGENTHAU, Former Ambassador to Turkey and Leader in Near East Relief.

If they were good enough to fight and die for us when we needed their help so sorely, they are good enough now to share some meager little crumbs from our plenty when they have nothing, when hundreds of thousands of them are homeless, unclad, foodless and threatened with extermination by their enemies and our own.

Not far from a million Christians have been murdered by their Turkish oppressors. Hungry, terror-stricken hundreds of thousands of refugees now look to the United States for rescue.

Have Trust in America. We cannot refuse. Next to their faith in God is their trust in the interested good will and generosity of the American people. They look to us as the human agency to extricate them from the frightful situation in which they have been left as a consequence of the war.

If we should fail to aid them, starvation and the winter's cold would go far to completing the work done by the unspeakable Turk.

I have not seen with my own eyes the misery in which the Armenians now exist. I have been spared that. But the reports which have been brought in by agents of the Near East Relief and by representatives of the Peace Conference paint a picture of wretchedness inconceivable to those who have not a first hand impression of the savagery of the Mussulman.

Exiled From Homes. Since the beginning of the war the Turkish Armenians have been largely refugees from their homes. A simple agricultural people, they have been exiles from their farms, deprived of all opportunity to support themselves. Year by year their sufferings have increased. Now, a year after fighting has ceased, they are still living the life of nomads, able to continue to keep alive only by virtue of American philanthropy.

These homeless people—"filthy infidels" to the Turk—were good enough to exert their poor might in our behalf while the war was still in the balance. Massacres of a half century had not so broken their spirit that they dared not fight for right and for democracy when justice was the issue. We accepted their aid then. Surely we shall not pass them by without compassion now.

The day has passed when any self-respecting man dares permit absorption in his own personal affairs to exclude consideration of his neighbor's well-being. No honorable man can knowingly allow his neighbor to hunger or to go unclothed. The Christian peoples of the Near East are our neighbors. The money needed to relieve them can be spared without causing any man, woman or child in the United States to suffer.

Must Not Rest on Past. In other years of our own free will we sent missionaries to Turkey. Our schools and colleges and hospitals have played a wonderful role in humanizing that dark spot in the world. Our ideas, our educational resources, our material equipment, have been leaven in the Near East. Because we have done well in times past we have this great opportunity for the present.

The Armenians have been treated as perhaps no people in history have been treated because they are the spiritual brothers of western races.

Will America help them? There can be but one answer. Their necessity is dire, but our power is great. We are wealthy. We are a member of the family of nations. Our brothers call us. Food, clothes, money, are immediately wanted. If ever unmerited suffering called for succor the plight of the Armenians should be heeded now. A few months more and it may be relief will be too late for those myriads whom only we can save. We shall not fail them.

ALBANY TO PLAY SALEM SATURDAY

Fast and Furious Basket Ball Game on Boards for Week-end

Albany high school is agog over the coming basket ball game tomorrow night between Salem and the local team. Salem is coming with a strong, rooting contingent and a battle royal will be waged by the opposing lung artists.

Reports from the Capital city state that the Cherry City aggregation is a fast bunch, and this fact, added to the stinging defeat which Albany administered to Salem on the gridiron last fall lends color to the belief that the game will be hard-fought.

Albany will be favored by playing on the local floor. In no other game is the visiting influenced by the field of play so much as in basket ball. A team used to playing on a long, narrow floor with high ceiling is distinctly handicapped when they enter a gymnasium that is short and narrow, with probably a low ceiling. The style of teamwork used is placed at a decided disadvantage.

Albany will be represented by the following line-up:

Moore and Wilkinson, forwards; Willard, center; Haller and Bussard, guards. All were members of Albany's fighting foot ball team which defeated Salem last November.

Following the game there will be a dance at the armory given by a crowd of young ladies for the benefit of the foot ball team. The public is invited and a large crowd is expected.

MARION COUNTY HOLDING CORN SHOW

Linn County Might Profit by Example of Neighboring Bankers

The annual corn show of Marion county is being staged at Salem this week under the management of Luther J. Shapin, with a fine display of all the various kinds of corn raised in the county. Every bank in the county is donating one or more prizes to encourage the industry. Several corn experts have been secured to do the grading and awarding of the prizes.

Prominent speakers on corn culture, and various kinds of farm machinery have addressed the farmers, and appear to be working up a live interest. Several of the banks in Linn county have encouraged the corn exhibit at the Scio fair with good results, and it could no doubt be made a profitable feature in the next Linn county fair to be held at Albany.

College Tossers To Play College At Philomath

After trimming the fast Young Business Men's basket ball team Wednesday the Albany College quintet will journey to Philomath tonight for their second game of this week.

The game Wednesday was exceedingly fast. The first half ended with the score 17 to 3 with the college boys on the long end. In the second period the business men speeded up, increasing their score to 9. Coach McNeal's boys, however did not stop and ended with 37 points to their credit.

Martin showed up exceptionally well for the college aggregation, as well as Giddings, Gildow Irvine and Stan.

Nebergall and Rueggesser were the only ones to show up to advantage for the Business Men. Gildow, for the College and Nebergall, of Business Men were high score men.

WOMEN EXCEED MEN IN JAPANESE FACTORIES

850,000 Japanese Women Work at Average Daily Wage of Ten to Twenty Cents for a Twelve Hour Day.

There are more women in industry in Japan than there are men, according to a statement recently made by the War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association.

The world war has brought 850,000 women and girls into the daily grind of industry according to this statement; 30,000 of them little girls under fifteen years of age who work twelve hours at a wage of ten to twenty cents a day, that the world may have silk dresses and munitions.

In Tokyo alone, a city of two and one-half million people, there are 100,000 women employed in sixty-two industries and businesses varying from work as telephone operators, clerks, stenographers and bookkeepers to work in silk and other sorts of factories and domestic work.

Each year thousands of these women go back to their homes in the country, broken in health and victims of tuberculosis because of the poor conditions under which they work and live. They are housed in dormitories in the factory compound. These dormitories are frequently unsanitary. The girls work long hours, have no recreation and on finishing their long day go immediately to bed, oftentimes a bed which a girl who works at night has been sleeping in all day.

As part of its world service for women, the Young Women's Christian Association plans to build dormitories in manufacturing towns where girls may live cheaply under healthful physical and social conditions, to send out secretaries who can introduce recreation into the factory compound and direct games and social life.

This is done with the co-operation of the factories' managers and proprietors. One of the most influential of these is Mrs. Suzuki, the most prominent woman manufacturer in Japan, who is owner and manager of a firm which exported $11,000,000 worth of bean oil to America last year.

Recently Mrs. Suzuki decided to employ one thousand women in her offices. She could not find enough well trained ones so she established a permanent school where Japanese girls may be trained to enter the business world. The greatest danger ahead of Japan, she says, is in its growing materialism, and Japan's greatest need, the development of her

The Potato. In its native country, on the mountains of Chile and Peru, writes Jean Louis Fabre, in Field, Forest and Farm, the potato in its wild state is a poor diminutive tuber about as large as a hazelnut. Man takes the worthless wild stock into his garden, plants it in rich soil, tends it, waters it; and behold, from year to year the potato grows more and more, gaining in size and in nutritive properties, and finally becomes a farinaceous tuber as large as your two fists.
