MARKED EPOCH IN INDUSTRY

Experience of Years of Warfare Should Have Effect on Coal Mining in This Country.

The inventory of the nation's resources that the war made necessary brought to light many new facts about coal mining which will be of lasting value to the industry and to the public. As long as the war lasted these incidental lessons were lost sight of under the pressure of meeting the emergency created by the shortage of fuels, but with the return of peace the experience gained during the war is being gathered together in a series of reports on the industry, the first of which, "Coal in 1917," by C. E. Lusher, has been published by the United States geological survey, department of the interior.

The period from 1914 through 1917 and 1918 and into 1919 may be regarded as a distinct epoch in the coal industry, of which the year 1917 represented only one section, but a section which, if not the most remarkable for its achievements, was at once the most chaotic and the most momentous in the history of the industry.

In response to the unprecedented demand the bituminous mines produced 551,790,543 tons, or nearly 10 per cent more than the output of the year before. The anthracite output was 99,611,811 net tons, an increase over 1916 of 13.7 per cent. The total output of both hard and soft coal was thus over 650,000,000 tons.

This record output was accomplished by a labor force of 693,143 men in the bituminous and 154,174 in the anthracite mines. In spite of the draft the number of workers in the bituminous industry was greater in 1917 than in 1916.

WOMEN ADOPT 10,000 ORPHANS

Connecticut to Provide Foster Mothers for Little Victims of Turks.

Ten thousand little victims of Turkish brutality are to be foster-mothered by the big hearted women of Connecticut as the result of appeals by Near East Relief, the former Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief of 1 Madison avenue, New York city. The women at a meeting voted to "adopt" that number as their share of the 250,000 homeless and starving boys and girls orphaned in the massacres and deportations.

Three hundred representatives of women's organizations attended the meeting at Hartford, at which Governor Marcus H. Holcomb presided and pleaded the cause of the stricken peoples. Another speaker was Henry Morgenthau, former U. S. Ambassador to Turkey.

Assurances that the example of these noble hearted Connecticut women will be followed by similar organizations in all the other states have been received at the headquarters of the Near East Relief, 1 Madison avenue, New York city.

Teeth Pulled, Patient Sleeps Dentist Lets Him Faint Store Teeth Now In Vogue

Self-administered anaesthetics is the latest painless invention of a local dentist, who, the other day pulled the teeth of one of his patients while the latter was in a swoon.

It is stated that owing to the high rate at which the dentist was separating the man from his masticating organs, his patient felt a fainting spell coming on and asked the doctor to do something to prevent such a disaster.

But the dentist was wise to the advantage of pulling teeth from a dead man and worked all the harder while the patient fainted away. After the work was completed the patient was aroused and was surprised to find himself toothless and in the market for a brand new set of store teeth.

against Teresa M. E. Compton, suit for divorce. The evidence taken was to show whether or not the defendant, who was employed as a nurse at St. Mary's hospital in the spring of 1919, was sick, as she is supposed to have alleged. The evidence failed to bring out her contention. Eugene Brookings, of Portland, represented the defendant and L. G. Lewelling acted for plaintiff's attorney at Hood River.

The defendant was careful to have all of the newspaper men in the city represented at the hearing, and even Constable Ben Clenden and Chief of Police John Catlin were called in to see that a square deal was rendered the defendant.

WHEN ANSWERING classified ads kindly mention the Democrat.

Mrs. Jean H. Norris, recently appointed a city magistrate in New York, will receive a salary of eight thousand dollars a year, or one thousand dollars more than the salary paid a United States circuit court judge.

A Triumph In Records

Again the House of Brunswick has scored a distinct hit. After months of preparation the long expected Brunswick Records are now ready.

Thus, one of the foremost phonograph makers brings into the field a new line of records which is bound to win great popularity.

Brunswick policies have always been aggressive and it is natural that the trade has been expecting new developments when Brunswick went into record-making.

The House of Brunswick has forged ahead in the phonograph world at a very rapid pace. When The Brunswick was announced, it was heralded as "All Phonographs in One," for it was the first largely advertised phonograph to play all records.

Its multi-record reproducer, the Ultona, won friends everywhere because it plays each make of record according to its exact requirements.

Brunswick Records are different. They bring a new element into record-making. They not only bring fine artists and favorite selections but they introduce interpretations by noted directors. Thus, Brunswick unites the talents of the artist with the genius of the composer.

The House of Brunswick is noted for doing new and unusual things. Although 74 years old it has kept up to date generation by generation. And today in the phonograph field there is no success more phenomenal.

All who have heard Brunswick Records predict another Brunswick triumph. Their popularity is bound to be nationwide, and music lovers everywhere will find in Brunswick interpretations new tonal values, new qualities of execution.
