ANALYSIS OF SABBATH SCHOOL LESSON FOR SUNDAY WORSHIPPERS

Edited by Mrs. W. L. Deming "Peter and John in Samaria" Lesson Text—Acts 8:4-8, 14-26.

Golden Text—"Ye shall be my witnesses, both in Jerusalem, and in all Judia and Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth," Acts 1:8. Perhaps five years have passed since the events of our last Sunday's lesson. After God's prompt and terrible punishment of the first recorded deliberate sin in the church, we read that "great fear came on all," and believers were the more added to the Lord, multitudes both of men and women.

Shortly after this the apostles were arrested, but miraculously delivered. Then came the appointment of the first seven deacons, and the cruel death of the first martyr, Stephen, which seems to have been the beginning of a great persecution of the church. The disciples had to flee for their lives, out into the villages and country places of Judas and Samaria. Only the apostles were left behind.

Just here is recorded a wonderful thing: The first verse of the lesson text says: "Therefore they that were scattered abroad went everywhere preaching the Word." The main difference between those early Christians and believers today is revealed to us in this verse, the individual responsibility each one felt in spreading the Gospel. Getting that before men and women was their main object in life. Everything else was merely incidental. They gave liberally oft-times out of their want, preached, talked, lived Christianity. And notice when they were persecuted, they not only endured it patiently but turned that very persecution for the cause of Christ.

A certain Salvation Army lassie had, back in her old life, won the name of "Warrior Brown" by her fighting qualities when drunk or enraged. She was converted and was given her testimony in an open air meeting, when some one threw a potato and it struck her in the face. A week before, the cowardly insulter would have needed to make himself scarce, but "Warrior" picked up the potato without a word and put in her pocket. No more was heard of the incident until it came time for their harvest thank offering, and then in came "Warrior" with a little sack of potatoes, and explained that she had cut up and planted the insulting potato, and was now presenting to the Lord its increase.

This incident furnishes a faint illustration of the spirit that possessed the persecuted disciples. They not only clung to their faith, but, as they fled from their persecutors they took that new opportunity to preach the very faith for which they had been forced to flee. Thus they took, too, the second and third steps in the witness-bearing the Master had told them to do in the words of the Golden Text, "Ye shall witness, 1st in Jerusalem, 2nd in Judea, 3rd in Samaria.

One of those who had to flee was Philip, one of the seven deacons who had evidently outgrown his early office, and become a full-fledged preacher of the Word. At least, when, in his wanderings, he reached the city of Samaria (that city that has been called the half-way house of the Jews and Gentiles) he preached Christ unto them. "Preaching Christ" was a very significant phrase. It meant even as it does today, essentially three things, 1st facts about Christ (three in number, His life, death and resurrection); 2nd, commands of Christ (faith, repentance and baptism); 3rd promises of Christ (remission of sins, gift of the Holy Spirit, and eternal life).

And what was the result of this preaching, with the accompanying miracles. "The multitudes gave heed, and there was much joy in that city." What is the invisible result of Christianity being truly established in a heart—in a community—anywhere? Much joy! What would we conclude of a Christian who had not much joy? That there was something wrong with his Christianity. For the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, etc.

Now the scene shifts back to Jerusalem. The apostles hear of the wonderful happenings over in Samaria, and send Peter and John to visit the new brethren there. When they come, they pray, and lay their hands upon them, and the Holy Spirit is given, not the inward gift of the Spirit, for that was promised to every obedient believer, and had undoubtedly been received, but the miraculous gift, accompanied by some outward manifestation, perhaps the gift of tongues, or healing, or prophecy. A man called Simon, who beforetime had been a great sorcerer, but had been converted under Philip's preaching, promptly offered the apostles money, if they would give him that wonderful power to impart the Holy Spirit by laying on of hands.

Peter's answer is a stinging rebuke—"Thy silver perish with thee, because thou hast thought to purchase the gift of God with money. Thou hast neither part nor lot in the matter, for thy heart is not right in the sight of God. Repent and pray—if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee.

Simon, apparently brought to a realization of his sins, cries out to Peter to pray for him, and thus the dramatic incident closes.

We have a word in our language, "simony" which comes from this sin of Simon. It originally meant the sale of ecclesiastical offices or benefits but really the sin of Simon includes any degrading of spiritual matters to commercial levels. Any one who came into the church, or made a contribu-

Albany Students Engage in Four Contests Last Night

Students of Albany schools were in action last night having two debates and two basket ball games, winning in one game and losing in the three other activities.

The Albany high school won the basket ball game against the high school, at Eugene, in a hard fought game. The game here between Albany college and Pacific University was won by the University team. The two high school debates one against Salem and the other at Silverton against the debating team of that place was lost by the Albany teams. A bystander remark on hearing of the three Albany defeats, out of four contests, that we had better wake up, however, it is safe to say that the Albany students are entitled to much credit for the effort put forth and in some future contest will make good.

Shedd and Sweet Home High Schools Debate on Question

That the smaller high schools of the county are in line with the progressive movements of the state, is evident by the high school debate in Sweet Home yesterday afternoon, between the Shedd and Sweet Home high schools on the question, "That the immigration into the United States for a period of five years should be prohibited." The affirmative was discussed by Lillian Harris and Hugh McQueen of the Sweet Home school, and the negative by Maude Allen and Leonard Satchwell of Shedd. Carl Sox, A. C. Schmitt and Dr. Young of Albany were the judges and awarded the decision to the negative.

Local Trains Late Caused by Trouble on Yaquina Branch

Once more the log train from Yaquina leaves the track and all local trains are off schedule. The regular weekly disturbance occurred near Wren yesterday causing the Lebanon train to arrive today at about 11 o'clock, instead of 8 o'clock. It appears that the track running to the bay is too weak to sustain the heavy weight of the log and lumber trains that is being used to bring out the big supply of timber cut by the government during the war period.
