Evans Preaches To Another Big House at Church

The meetings at the Baptist church are growing in power. Last night Bruce was at his best. Preaching on the "Lost Boy" he declared "give your boy character and he'll make capital, but if you give him capital without character you doom him."

After an organ recital opening the service, a rousing song service was led by Bruce. He knows how to sing and get the audience to sing. A. M. Hammer rendered a solo effectively. "He Leadeth Me," after which Bruce preached a strong sermon to a packed house. Seating room is at a premium now. The meetings begin at 7:45.

LIFE

By Guy Fitch Phelps

Life—a swift shuttle, weaving, weaving,
A rosary of days with pendant cross;
A path which winds by shore and fell and mountain,
And mist-hung pines forever grieving, grieving
With the old history of pain and loss,
Written in rocks and every sobbing fountain,
And every sea on which our ships must toss.

A few swift scenes of meeting and of parting,
With weaving sunlight on the withered grass;
The memory of words by dear lips spoken,
Lynching like thorns upon the red wounds smarting,
Which cannot stay, and yet can never pass,
Until the heart lies quivering and broken,
And the lonely spirit cries, Alas, alas!

The priests of wisdom ever chatter, chatter,
The monkish doctors in their drear, gray halls
Blow ethic bubbles like a young child playing,
The jugglery of laws prescribed in matter,
As dead as their dead creeds upon their walls;
And far from that sore grief which leads to praying
When prostrate anguish for swift healing calls.

And so I watch the shuttle flying, flying,
And kiss the broken sunbeams as they fall
Where shade of cypress and drear stones are lying,
Not knowing but this signing may be dying,
Yet hoping that my fainting, faltering call
May bring to me what I have lost—at last,
The consummation which will explain all.

Jefferson Items

JEFFERSON, Feb. 5.—The Senior class of the Jefferson high school played "Dust of the Earth" to a packed house last Friday night. The play was a complete success from every standpoint and much credit should be given the pupils and their instructors.

Several pieces of property have changed hands in this vicinity lately. Virgil Weddle has traded his town property to M. S. Allen for his fine farm near Green's bridge.

Jury In I. W. W. Case Expected to be Had Today

MONTESSANO, Wash. Feb. 5. (by A. P.)—The defense today exercised its tenth peremptory having but two left. The state has one more. Attorney Vandervort, for the defense, demanded that the venire be quashed because some were ill and one other failed to answer to his name in court. The motion was denied. It was expected that the jury will be secured today when two alternate jurors must be found. John Land, defendant in yesterday, was all right today.

ADVERTISING IS PAYING POLICY

Man Who Lost $100 Bill Takes Back Opinion; Recovers Money

W. L. Davidson is no longer a foe to advertising and will hereafter devote his life for slandering the goodly effects of the printed word. There's a reason.

The other day Mr. Davidson, who has but one arm, dropped a $100 bill from his wallet. O. E. Holdridge, at whose home Davidson is staying, advised him to advertise. He reluctantly inserted a 25 cent ad in the Democrat and remarked that another quarter had gone along with his hundred dollar bill.

So skeptical was he and so thoroughly did he believe that his money was gone that he failed to call at the Democrat office to see if anything had come of his lost money.

The money was lost on Monday. The little six year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Willard, of 427 East Sixth Street, found the bill and reported it to his mother. The news went about the neighborhood and finally a strange man appeared at the Willard home and claimed the coin. But Mrs. Willard's caution led her to question him and he finally admitted that he had lost no money but was just fooling the children. That evening Mrs. Willard read Davidson's ad in the Democrat and notified this office. It was not until today that he called and when he called at the Willard home and identified his bill he returned to thank the paper and to take back the harsh words he had said about advertising.

The Democrat has recovered many sums of money for its patrons thru the classified columns.

Marine Would See Parents and Former Kaiser

SAN FRANCISCO—Sergeant Marine Van Ach, United States Marine Corps, who was born in Amerongen, Holland, where the Kaiser sought refuge, has re-enlisted in the Corps.

Sergeant Van Ach requested the marine recruiting officer to have him sent to France so that he might obtain leave to visit his parents who are still living in Amerongen. As he has completed two enlistments with an excellent record, every effort will be made, it was said, to grant his request.

"I was stationed in the Far East throughout the war," said Sergt. Van Ach, "but I now hope to at least to see the man who started it."
