TO MAKE HOME BUILDING POSSIBLE

The Spokesman-Review of Spokane advertised: "Wanted a man to make Home Building Easy."

Every community feels the need of organized action to overcome shortage of dwelling houses. As population increases on the farms people are continually streaming into the cities to reside.

The result of that advertisement was that Wilbur E. Coman of Spokane, comes to the front with a solution of the problem.

Many people who want to build or buy homes have not over 25 per cent of the necessary funds. To secure co-operation of building and loan societies or savings institutions fifty percent capital must be available.

Mr. Coman urges formation in each community of a financial corporation to make up this difference. This plan will help the individual whose capital is too small to acquire a home and pay out.
