

CHILDREN URGED ENTER CONTEST

Trips, Medals and Other
Prizes to be Awarded
Winners

The boys and girls of Oregon are being solicited by the school authorities and the governor to take an active part in the writing of essays to arouse interest in the recruiting for the United States Army. The county school superintendents of Polk and Marion counties are asking an active part in interesting the children who are offered a prize not only from the government but from local people. The governor gives the following endorsement of the plan:

"State of Oregon, Executive Department, Salem, February 2, 1920.

"To the Teachers and School Children of Oregon:

"My attention has been directed to the plan of the War Department to arouse interest in recruiting for the United States Army.

"The plan, as I understand it, is to enhance interest in recruiting through the medium of essays written by school children on the subject: 'What Are the Benefits of an Enlistment in the United States Army?'

"The three boys and girls receiving the highest award from a board of judges consisting of Secretary of War Baker, General Peyton C. March and General John J. Pershing will be given trips to Washington, D. C., and return, accompanied by parents or guardians, and at Washington, D. C., on May 5, 1920, these boys and girls will be presented with medals by Secretary of War Baker. Other prizes have been provided for, including a large number of prizes to be awarded to Oregon boys and girls by newspapers, business and mercantile houses and others.

"It is with pleasure I lend my endorsement to this plan. It is a move which will develop a higher sense of patriotism not only in our boys and girls, but in our adults, as well. For this reason I call upon the teachers in the public schools of the state to set aside a portion of Friday, February 20, 1920, as a time in which essays on this subject are to be written by school children in the class rooms of the schools of the state. I trust that every teacher will see that the keenest interest is manifested in this plan for the promotion of patriotism and the protection of our nation and its homes.—Ben W. Olcott, Governor."
