The story which is of intense emotional interest contains scenes that dwarf description for sheer beauty of staging. A powerful cast is supporting the star and there is no small degree of entertainment in store for those who view the production. It has been universally applauded as one of the best in which Miss Joyce has ever appeared.

MAYOR BURIED AS ONE OF ROYALTY

Mayor Joseph F. Farn of Honolulu Keo Kimo Pana to his own people, the Hawaiians, who died a little more than a week ago, was the first commoner in the history of Hawaii to be accorded royal honors at his funeral, which was held with gorgeous display that recalled the old island monarchy.

For two days the body of the late mayor, known as "Uncle Joe" and "the man of the people," lay in state in the former throne room of the old palace, now the senate chamber of the federal building, with the portraits of the kings and queens of Hawaii looking down on his bier from the walls, and the Daughters and Sons of Hawaiian Warriors clad in their striking regalia, keeping the silent death watch.

THE ODORIFEROUS BULB.

For a meat substitute, if your family is fond of onions, try these:

Stuffed Onions. With Ham.—Parboil as many onions as will be needed; remove the centers and fill with one-half cupful of bread crumbs and the same of chopped ham and tongue, or either alone. Place the stuffed onions in a pan with one cupful of stock or butter and water, half a teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of pepper. Bake until soft. Serve with a sauce made from the gravy in the pan, adding flour and butter and the yolk of an egg just before serving.

Stuffed Onions and Chestnuts.—Parboil ten onions until tender; cut off the tops and scoop out the centers. Chop these fine, seasoning with salt and pepper and chopped parsley; mix with half a cupful of bread crumbs and one-quarter cupful of melted butter. Put in a spoonful of the mixture and three or four blanched chestnuts, then another spoonful. Bake slowly, basting with butter and hot water.

Baked Onions and Cheese.—Parboil a half dozen even-sized onions, drain and put a layer into a baking dish, then cover with a layer of rich white sauce and three or four tablespoonsful of cheese, grated or minced; repeat with another layer of onions, seasoning well with salt and paprika; cover with the white sauce and cheese and finish with a thick covering of buttered crumbs. Bake until the crumbs are brown.

Onion Salad.—Chop one or more Southern onions, mix with minced parsley and French dressing, highly seasoned with salt and cayenne. Serve on hand lettuce.

Onion Sandwich.—Chop a mild onion very fine; add vinegar, a little oil, salt and pepper to taste. Spread on buttered bread and serve as a Sunday night lunch, after church.

Onion Soup.—Take one cupful of onion puree, that is cooked onion put through a sieve. Mix one tablespoonful of butter and flour together, add three cupfuls of milk and when scalding hot stir in the puree. Cook for a few minutes to cook the flour, add a well beaten egg mixed with half a cupful of cold milk and when hot, not boiling, serve.
