The Friedmann Cure.

The effort on the part of certain New York physicians to discredit Dr. Franz Friedmann, discoverer of an alleged tuberculosis cure, before he has been given an opportunity to demonstrate the merits of the treatment, is a fair sample of the frailties of mankind.

Excel in any particular line of human endeavor, depart from established customs and propose something new and you are certain to bring down upon your head the censure of those who have lacked either the ability or the initiative to do likewise.

The Democrat is not prepared to say that the Friedmann cure is meritorious. We are not skilled in the science and practice of medicine and as far as we have been able to ascertain the cure has as yet not been given a proper test. We proclaim Friedmann as neither a hero or a fake until he has been given an opportunity to prove the worth of his remedy. If he has succeeded in perfecting a cure for the white plague he has earned a place among the really great men of history. If he has failed he is not disgraced, providing he is honest in believing that the serum will accomplish what he claims.

Albany has been particularly blessed by Providence. In addition to the great natural resources of this particular section of the valley, the Hub City has transportation facilities which are second to none in the territory south of Portland. It remains for the citizens to take advantage of these blessings and induce some large manufacturing plant to establish a payroll.

In declining to permit any member of his family to accept a federal appointment, President Wilson established a precedent which should be followed by future office holders. It was not the Wilson family—it was Woodrow Wilson who was elected president and it is pleasing to note that this sensible view of the matter is taken by the new president.

If Governor Sulzer of New York makes the same creditable record during the remaining years of his term as he has during the first few months, his election as president of the United States is a moral certainty. Sulzer has divorced the democracy of New York state from Tammany Hall and in performing this task, has rendered a signal service to the cause of progressive democracy.

The Ruin of Wall Street.

Stock Exchange members see in the proposal to tax transfers four cents per $100 share a frightful portent of Wall street in ruins, says the New York World. Tenants will not renew their leases. Lofty buildings will be vacated, their shattered windowpanes will lie on the unswept pave, and starving cats will pick their way amid fallen plaster in deserted halls where now patter the light feet of brokers hurrying to hook their customers' property.

To ward off a calamity so shocking, a united and patriotic effort must be made at Albany. The brokers, the real estate agents that rent rooms to brokers, the savings-bank men that loan money on the real estate, and the widows and orphans who have money in the savings banks will all join in the demonstration. Wall street fruit-stand men who work off Ben Davis apples on the unwary weep with the utterers of drossical securities and call aloud on Gov. Sulzer. A. D. T. boys are in despair; golden-haired stenographers that have dreamed of marrying bankers at the least are thinking more kindly of boss steam-fitters. If the Stock Exchange is driven forth by a cruel raise of one-fiftieth of 1 per cent in the taxation of its sales, the plight of cannon-riddled Mexico is a thing for smiles compared with that now darkening over New York.

And there cannot be any doubt that Wall street is determined. When it was proposed to tax stock transfers two cents on each $100 the brokers were going to move the Exchange to Hoboken. Now that four cents a hundred is suggested, they talk of going to Philadelphia.

A "Dry" White House.

If the story be confirmed that wine will not be served at White House banquets during President Wilson's term it will cause no astonishment and will provoke no serious protest.

Those who remember the excitement when President Hayes took a similar stand will see in present conditions proof of two things—that people have learned to extend the rights of the same free action to the president who occupies the official mansion that would be accorded to him, or to any other man of social or official prominence, in his private capacity. And the other suggestion is that in this, as in a list of other actions that is growing fast, President Wilson will take his own course, and that will be in the line of simple and unostentatious living.

Friends of temperance will rejoice in evidence that hospitality can be exercised and goor cheer provided without the old-time stimulus of wine.

Corresponding action on the part of Secretary Bryan will cause small comment. His habits of life are well known, and he may be relied on to follow them at all times and in all places.—Portland Journal.

OAKVILLE NEWS.

Mrs. C. S. Smith and her granddaughter, Miss Grace Smith of Tacoma, Wash., accompanied by Mrs. Fred Smith and son Halsey, were visitors at the Smith home last Sunday.

Capt. Galbraith is repairing the new steamboat "Uncle Sam" and will soon be prepared to do business on the lower river.

Many Oakville people were at the east approach of the steel bridge near Corvallis at an early hour on the morning of the 11th ready for the "bugle call." They have waited a long time for this event in the history of Benton and Linn counties which was dreamed of and put on the map by Ralston Cox 25 years ago.

The O. E. railroad has a nice depot in East Corvallis and trains will soon be running to and from Portland.

We noticed our friend, John D. Wells dressed in his official clothes standing near the west end of the sidewalk on the bridge ready to assist anyone who was not able to walk up town. He is very friendly and will furnish lodging to any who are not able to find a lodging place. A friend in need, etc.

Mr. John Jayne of West Chester, Iowa, father of D. H. Jayne of Corvallis, was a visitor at the Smith residence last week.

LITTLE ROS EBUD.

EAST KNOX BUTTE NOTES.

Harold Towner went to Portland Monday.

The school in district No. 18 was reopened last week after being closed nearly two months because of scarlet fever among the pupils.

Chas. Marsh, a well known pioneer, has traded his farm on Knox Butte for East Albany property, and will go there to reside this summer.

Mr. John Geisendorfer is confined to his room on account of illness.

Mr. Wood, of the lumber, went to Portland this morning.

Two Wild Cat Hides.

F. J. Cunningham, of Berlin, received a bounty of $4 this morning from a county clerk when he displayed the hides of two mammoth wild cats, which he had killed on a hunting expedition in the hills east of Berlin, during the middle of February.

NEW STEEL DRAW BRIDGE AT CORVALLIS DEDICATED TODAY

County Judge Bruce McKnight Attends Ceremony and Will Deliver an Address.

NEW STEEL DRAW BRIDGE AT CORVALLIS DEDICATED TODAY

Judge McKnight and wife went to Corvallis this morning to attend the formal dedication of the new steel draw bridge across the river at that city, uniting Linn and Benton counties at that point. The ceremony took place at 12 o'clock, with a program of a good deal of interest, including an address by Judge McKnight on behalf of Linn county, by special invitation of Judge Moses, of Benton county. The occasion is an important one, adding another great bridge to the Willamette, and doing away with a relic of pioneer days, the ferry boat.

Two Suffragettes?

Two attractive young ladies who have been in the city for the past week soliciting subscriptions for a fruit magazine, have attracted considerable attention among local people. They have a very plain and business-like appearance about them and have excited the curiosity of many people, for having the alleged aspect of the ardent suffragettes.

ST. PETERS VESTRYMEN DONT STOP FOR TENDER HANDS

St. Peters Episcopal Church Grounds Have Been Remarkably Transformed.

After laboring industriously for the last three weeks the members of the vestry of St. Peters Episcopal church, corner Lyon and Sixth streets, have succeeded in making a remarkable transformation in the appearance of the church grounds.

As an old saying goes: "He who hath tender hands cannot work," but however, Messrs. C. W. Tebault, C. C. Page and W. B. Stevens have established the untruth of this saying. All three gentlemen have very tender hands, at least they did before the work was started. Who would have dared to think that a dealer in dirt, a genial pencil pusher and a handler of muslins would attempt such a formidable job, with a few assistants, of disheveling and removing piles of terra firma. Nevertheless, the job appeared not formidable to the apparent working susceptibilities of these gentlemen, who accomplished their task.

The lot has been graded from one end to the other, and grass has been planted. Numerous rose bushes have been planted with other varieties of flowers. Climbing ivy has been planted to grow over the building and within a short while from now it is promised that this corner will be the prettiest in the city.

ANOTHER OLD PIONEER IS CALLED BY DEATH

H. P. Moyer of Brownsville Died This Morning; Will Be Buried in Portland.

According to wires received by friends in this city today, H. P. Moyer of Brownsville and a member of the Elks lodge of this city passed away at Prineville this morning.

The deceased was taken sick several months ago with an attack of Brights disease and had only recently returned from a trip to California where he went upon the advice of his physician in the hope that the climate might prove beneficial.

He is a well known pioneer of this section of the state and owned and operated the electric light plant at Brownsville for a number of years. Among the business men of Albany he was popular and the news of his death came as a distinct shock to his friends in this city. The funeral will be conducted at Portland Thursday.

LINN COUNTY POMONA GRANGE WILL HOLD MEETING

For the purpose of making preparation for the reception of the delegates who will attend the annual meeting of the State Grange which will soon convene in this city, a meeting of the Linn County Pomona Grange has been called for Wednesday, March 19th. The meeting will be held in the Grand Prairie Grange hall and a large attendance is anticipated.

J. Rand Davis, of Shedd, has been in the city today. He reports the new bank there starting out well, with the deposits steadily increasing.

W. H. Bowman went down to Jefferson this afternoon to see his mother, who is ill.

Alton B. Coates went to Corvallis this afternoon.

Harry Hawkins returned to Linn-haven this morning after a visit home.

Miss Gertrude Jewell, of Independence, returned home this morning after a visit with her folks, of Sunrise.

A Chinese pheasant caused some excitement yesterday at the S. P. depot, by flying from the country over the building into the park, making a pretty setting for the neat looking place.

CLUB MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Committee Appointed to Take Initiative in Securing the Location of Saw Mill.

MAKE TRIP TO PORTLAND TO PRESENT ALBANY CLAIMS

Extension of City Limits and New Charter Advocated by Mayor Gilbert.

That the Albany Commercial Club proposes to make a strong campaign for the location of a large sawmill in the Hub City was indicated at a well attended meeting of the club last evening.

The meeting was called to order by President Van Winkle who in a few well chosen words stated the purpose of the meeting. He asserted that every member of the organization should join in the campaign for "A Greater Albany."

Mayor Gilbert was then called upon and brought up the question of the extension of the city limits. He predicted that Albany will have a population of 15,000 people in 1915 and urged upon the members the necessity of co-operating in the movement to include a greater portion of the residence district within the corporate limits of the town. He also urged upon the business men the necessity of passing the new city charter.

Manager Stewart then spoke on the $4,000,000 purchase of Linn county timber by Porter Brothers and the proposed erection by the purchasers of two large saw mills near the forks of the Santiam. He contended that Albany is the only logical place for the location of the mill and asserted that Porter Brothers would locate the establishment here without being offered any inducements by the local business men.

Mr. Stewart was followed by D. O. Woodworth, who asserted that the matter was of great importance to the business interests of the city and moved that a committee of five representative business men be appointed by the chair to make a trip to Portland and take the matter up in person with Porter Brothers. The motion was carried unanimously and the chair appointed as members of this committee, D. O. Woodworth, Ed. Cusick, Mayor Gilbert, Dr. H. M. Crooks and A. M. Hammer. Upon motion of Mr. Hammer the names of the president and secretary of the Commercial Club were added to the list of committeemen as announced by the chair.

Ed Cusick then spoke on the necessity of the passage of the new city charter. He asserted that the charter was meritorious and pointed out the fact that unless the same is passed at the special election on April 16th, it will be impossible to negotiate certain sewer bonds which are essential to a proper development of the city.

Mr. Torbet appeared before the club and presented the matter of suggesting a suitable name for the Willamette Valley. He suggested the "Queen Valley of the West" as a name in keeping with the great natural resources of this section of the Pacific coast.

The matter was referred to the committee on publicity with instructions to report at the next regular meeting.

COUNTY DEPUTY SCOTT VISITED HOLLEY GRANGE

Three Candidates Instructed in Third Degree; Grange Has Good Membership.

On Saturday, March 6th, I visited Holley Grange which is located 12 miles east of Brownsville, in the foothills of the Callapoota river.

I find Holley Grange doing nicely, and they are in a prosperous condition. The attendance was good and they are all very much interested in grange work.

In the forenoon a class of three young people were instructed in the third and fourth degrees of the order, which occupied the time until dinner was announced, when all found their way to the dining room and helped themselves to a substantial repast which was found in waiting. In the afternoon a class of two was instructed in the first and second degrees. This was followed by a very interesting literary program conducted by Mrs. Crocker in which all took a lively interest.

Holley Grange has had quite a hard time to keep up the proper interest, as they are located quite a long ways from any other grange; but now they are rapidly building up and have a bright prospect before them. They have a good hall fairly well furnished with kitchen and dining room attached, and are out of debt and money in the treasury.

Visitors were present from Tangent and Hood River granges. Visitors are always welcome and are assured of good treatment by the members of this grange.

Farmers are well along with their spring seeding and will soon be through their spring work, and are seemingly prosperous and satisfied.

J. H. SCOTT,
County Deputy.
