The Bucket Brigade

No city in the state is more ready to extend the hand of good fellowship to the new business man than Albany. The stranger is invariably given a cordial welcome and receives every courtesy from the citizens. In our judgment, however, a larger bucket brigade, and not a material increase in the number of business men, is the crying need of Albany at this time.

No city in the Willamette Valley is better located from the standpoint of the manufacturer. With two competitive lines of railroad and an open river to Portland, the best of transportation facilities are available and the labor conditions are such as to appeal to the prudent capitalist.

But in this day and age opportunity doesn't travel around with a powerful searchlight, looking for some desirable city in which to establish a manufacturing plant. Enterprising towns not infrequently provide the searchlight, and when the proposition appears to be meritorious, occasionally a little hard cash.

A million tramps are made every year because they wait for something to turn up. A million towns have remained towns, when they might have been cities for the same reason.

Albany has reached a critical stage in the development of her manufacturing industries. We are at the present time, a prosperous county seat town, dependent largely upon a rich agricultural and timber country tributary to our borders. There is no city in Western Oregon which has better people, a better climate, more natural resources, or a greater opportunity for development than Albany. Irrespective of whether or not new manufacturing industries are secured, the town will continue to make a substantial increase in population. The country is capable of supporting a larger city when properly developed.

But if we would convert a prosperous town into a metropolitan city of twenty-five or thirty thousand people, a larger pay roll is absolutely essential. This can be done with proper effort, but it will take the active co-operation of every business and professional man in the city.

COURTSHIP BY MAIL

COST RANCHER $23.35

Order Bride Turns Down Washington Man at Sight; Don't Look Good Enough.

Wenatchee, Wash., May 12.—When a rancher who owns a quarter section near Brief, in the upper Entiat valley, journeyed to this city to claim a bride he met with a sad disappointment, for she turned him down at first sight.

Two months ago this young woman, who is one of the handsomest brunettes in Wenatchee, advertised in a matrimonial paper. The rancher answered it. For a month very warm letters passed. He felt so much encouraged that he ordered a new suit of clothes from a mail order house, paying $23.35 in advance. He could not wait for the new clothes, so came here wearing his working duds. This was a fatal mistake.

He called on the young lady and immediately asserted his proprietary interest. "I was only joking. I do not want to marry anybody. Give me back my letters this instant." "Give back your letters—nothing!" shrieked the irate rancher. This is no joke. You sent me your regards in every letter and you've got to marry me. I've already spent $23.35 for a suit to get married in."

He then visited police headquarters, where he told his troubles. The chief sent for an attorney, who gave the love-lorn rancher this advice: "Better give her up. You might possibly force her to marry you, but a woman who marries a man against her will generally makes life wretched for him ever afterward."

"Well," said he reluctantly, "if I had money enough I wouldn't let her slip. Just look at these letters."

The young lady wrote she would help him in all the firm work, for, while she had always lived in town, she has visited her uncle on his big ranch many times. Her only fear was of a sow when it looked straight at her. She gave her address, where she lives with her parents. She particularly requested him not to divulge this information, but expressed no other fear that they would not marry except that she might not look good enough to him.

MRS. ARGETSINGER REPORTED AS RESTING COMFORTABLY

No Developments Have Attended Efforts of Police in Chasing Down Assaultants.

Mrs. Harry Argetsinger, the alleged victim of the fiendish attack of two masked men yesterday morning at her apartments in the Nellie Richards residence, was reported this morning as resting comfortably. The harrowing experience completely unnerved the young lady, and it was feared that she would become ill as a result. All yesterday afternoon she was hysterical but physicians succeeded in quieting her nerves.

Although Sheriff Bodine and Chief of Police Austin have been working vigilantly on the case in an effort to gain some clue to the perpetrators of the crime, their efforts thus far proved fruitless. Chief Austin briefly interviewed the victim this morning but it failed to throw any light upon the incident. She was unable to give the police further details.

It is understood that a handkerchief bearing the letter "W" was found near the Richards' home and that an effort is being made to find the owner.

Impossible though it seems, the investigation thus far conducted by the police has failed to discover a single person who saw the men leave the house after committing the crime.

Chief Austin intimated this morning that the investigation will continue and that the police will not relax their vigilance in an effort to run the offenders down.

R. M. Jennings, of the Oregon Powering, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Holt, of Portland, were in the city last night on a business trip. They were in the city where she is taking the course of domestic science.

ALBANY PASTOR SAW WORLD IN CHICAGO

Greatest Missionary Exhibit Ever Shown Is Now Open at Big Coliseum.

PEOPLE OF ALL NATIONS ATTEND AND PARTICIPATE

Rev. Franklin H. Geselbracht Writes His Impressions of Show for Democrat.

By Franklin H. Geselbracht.

Chicago, Ill., May 13.—The greatest missionary object lesson the world has ever seen is now open to Chicago's gaze. Several years have been spent in gathering exhibits from the uttermost parts of the earth. Chicago newspapers are giving the exhibit first page notice. President Wilson opened the exposition by pressing a button in Washington and Secretary of State Bryan will make the notable address, his western trip made postponement necessary. Two thousand stewards in native costume from 500 city churches have been in training for months to inform the inquiring public on the smallest detail. Capital of $100,000 was needed to carry forward this missionary endeavor and all profits will go to the treasurer of the Missionary Education Movement of twenty denominations.

All winter Chicago has been interested in automobiles, pure food, and land hoaxes. Now Chicagoans are literally pouring into a "Missionary Show." It is being advertised on the bill boards and in the newspapers like all other shows. The attendance of the first week has forged ahead of all calculations. It is wonderful to bring the churches thus together in a great forward movement. Thursday was Episcopal Day, Monday was Presbyterian Day and tomorrow will be Congregational Day. University professors and millionaires work in the various booths with housewives and show girls.

Ringling Bros. bring their three ring circus to the coliseum, so one can gain a size of the building. Exhibits cover all the floor space and the galleries.

Africa greets us on the right of the entrance. Here are the familiar huts, cooking utensils and the implements of bloody warfare. The 20 pound ring of brass for the neck of the favorite wife, to be worn until twisted off or filed off, would certainly make a devoted spouse ever conscious of her husband. Rubber, natural and refined are also shown by the stewardesses. Teachers taught native schools and missionaries sang the translated gospel hymns. The witch doctor with veritable horns circled through the crowd.

Next came the leper missions. Leprosy is the open sore of three-fourths of the world. The pictures are horrible in their misery. Then came the display of the beneficent medical missions that are dispelling incantations and nameless as well as shameful concoctions.

Fetichism, Shintoism, Mohammedanism, Confucianism, Taoism, Buddhism, Hinduism are pictured in the Hall of Religions at the south end. In the "Hermit" kingdom the standard living room is 8 x 8. The Korean missionary shows movable type stuck in wax actually antedating by 50 years the Gutenberg invention.

Japanese stewardesses were entertaining as I entered by a formal tea service to afternoon callers. The small native room, the dainty kimonos, the squatted position on the floor and the obeisance to the ground were attractive indeed. About were Japanese shops and signs, jirikishas and covered sedan chairs.

"In China" we find a joss house to the left and on the right numerous wayside shrines to be seen throughout the country. A temple interior is open to inspection, then a preaching hall in all simplicity. A great pagoda is the central feature of the Chinese section.

The Gogy goddess Kali or Black Mother dominates "India." Various images, revolting in their terrifying aspect, nevertheless attract ignorant and superstitious votaries by their very repellence. Here are the "Towers of Silence" where the Parsee place their beloved dead as prey for vultures, there a plain wooden stretcher covered with spikes whereon a fakir actually lay, by day and by night, for 13 years. Yonder is a Zenana open to the gaze of male eyes.

Burma, the Island World, and the Mohammedan exhibit in the balcony await us but we cannot add further details. The facts about the American Indian and the frontier are known in Oregon, the emigrant and the negro problems are a large part of the present day social question.

The world in Chicago is certainly worth a visit and for 5 weeks afternoon and evening will be open to the public. May missionary knowledge and zeal flourish and abound!

The spectacular pageants of darkness and light is the talk of the town.

Professors Lewis and Tartar, of the O. A. C. went to Portland this morning to attend a prune growers meeting.

GRANGERS CONVENTION HERE THIS MORNING

Convention Called to Order at 10:30 o'Clock by State Master C. E. Spence.

OVER 220 OFFICERS AND DELEGATES PRESENT

Head of National Organization Here to Attend Session of State Meeting.

With approximately 200 delegates and 20 officers present the 40th annual convention of the Oregon State Grange convened this morning at 10:30 o'clock. The delegates represent thirty counties of the state, and practically everyone is accompanied by his wife. The business sessions of the meeting will be held in the Moose Hall, corner Lyon and Second streets and the degree work will be put on in the armory, corner Fourth and Lyon streets. The convention will last four days.

The meeting will be one of the most important sessions of the state grange in many years. Prominent officers are here to attend the meetings and are scheduled to make important addresses to the delegates. Oliver Wilson of Peoria, Ill., master of the National grange, is among the important speakers.

Several important matters are to come up before the convention and probably the most important is a change in the manner of electing officers, a system similar to the direct primary which has been planned for the grange. If the system is adopted the candidates seeking offices will be required to file petitions with the state officers, the elections to be held in the local granges, the result being reported to the State Grange officers who will declare the elections when the officers thus chosen will be installed at the following meeting of the State Grange.

Another change which will be agitated is the system of electing delegates. Heretofore the delegates to the annual convention have been chosen by the several county conventions and the new plan is to change this mode of procedure so that each grange may elect its own representatives.

Many of the delegates to the convention arrived in the city yesterday from different directions and committees composed of members of the local order and a special committee from the Albany Commercial club met the trains and escorted the delegates to their lodging places. Everything has been done to make the convention one of the most pleasant and biggest ever held.

C. E. Spence, of Oregon City, master of the State Grange, convened the session this morning and after the opening ritualistic ceremonies, the meeting proceeded to the routine work after which the general business as mapped out was taken up. The biennial election of officers took place last year and this is not included in this year's program, therefore the entire time will be devoted to the consideration of matters of importance to the order.

There are 189 granges in Oregon and the total membership of the order in this state is 10,740. Twenty-nine of the 34 counties of the state have granges and will be represented at the convention. Clackamas county leads all of the counties of the state in number of granges, having 18, and Douglas and Linn rank next with 16 each. Other counties have the following numbers: Baker 7, Benton 7, Clatsop 6, Columbia 10, Cook 4, Crook 4, Gilliam 5, Harney 4, Hood River 1, Jackson 2, Josephine 9, Lane 11, Lincoln 7, Malheur 5, Marion 9, Multnomah 9, Polk 6, Sherman 1, Tillamook 4, Umatilla 2, Union 5, Wallowa 1, Wasco 2, Washington 12, Wheeler 1, Yamhill 7.

MANAGER SENDERS ALTERS LINE-UP OF LOCAL TEAM

Bigbee Will Join Squad Sunday; Lee Departs for Eastern Oregon.

Manager Al Senders of the Albany Athletics announces that there will be two changes in his lineup for next Sunday's game with the Salem team. Lyle Bigbee, who has been playing a successful season with the university team as pitcher, will join the squad then and Carter Lee, who has played as shortstop for the Athletics since the season started, has departed for Eastern Oregon where he will finish out the season in that position.

Colbert, the Corvallis lad, who has been seen on the first sack, will probably be switched to short. Rvals in all probability will handle the first bag. Bigbee will be Senders' main reliance on the mound when Patterson is playing on the bench and it is probable that he will play one of the field positions. He played with the local team last season.

W. H. Jenkins, of the S. P., was in the city this afternoon looking after passenger matters.
