BIG CONVENTION OF GRANGE ADJOURNS

Grangers Remain in Session All Night to Complete Work of 4 Days Meeting.

ALL DELEGATES HAVE DEPARTED FOR HOMES

Many Resolutions Were Left Over Until Next Annual Meeting at Monmouth.

The Oregon State Grange adjourned its annual convention here this morning at 3 o'clock after remaining in session nearly all night to wind up the business of the four days of the convention. All of the delegates who were here attending the meeting have been leaving all morning for their homes.

The delegates passed the entire afternoon on an excursion to Corvallis to visit the Oregon Agricultural College, and when they convened last night's session a large amount of unfinished business faced them. There were so many more proposals to change the by-laws introduced this year than at any former session, and the debate these proposals elicited on the floor of the grange consumed so much time that it left a vast amount of business to dispose of.

Most of the forenoon session was passed in discussing proposed changes in the Grange by-laws. The principal change considered was to increase the quarterly dues from subordinate Granges to the state Grange from 15 cents per capita to 25 cents per capita, and this proposal was rejected by a strong negative vote after a discussion which is reported to have become somewhat heated at times.

In opposition to the resolution asking the Grange to go on record as against the referendum on the university appropriation, another was introduced yesterday morning favoring the referendum, and now the friends of the first one are making efforts to kill the two resolutions in committee and prevent their being reported back. A resolution to come up favors the first, second and third choice votes in the election of United States senators and state officers. Another resolution was introduced favoring the abolition of the legislature, but it was not adopted.

The members of the order are loud in their praise of the entertainment

STATE GRANGERS INSPECTED BIG AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

The Large Excursion Was in Charge of President Weatherford of C. & E. R. R.

Yesterday afternoon a party of 500 grangers, 150 of whom are official delegates from various parts of the state to the State Grange, in session here were the guests of the Agricultural College. Special trains from Albany were met by the cadet band, and the visitors escorted to the drill grounds, where special military maneuvers will be staged. An informal tour of inspection will follow, the cadet officers, in uniform, acting as guides.

President Weatherford, of the Corvallis & Eastern Railway, who is also chairman of the board of regents of O. A. C., was in charge of the excursion. Special arrangements have been made to show the grangers and their friends through the college, and most of the day will be spent in inspecting this institution.
