ALBANY PHYSICIAN AT BRIGHTENBUSH

Dr. J. L. Hill Writes Interesting Letter at Famous Oregon Hot Springs.

SCORES OF PEOPLE ARE CAMPING THERE

Says That Most Needed Commodity There Is a Store and Boarding House.

Brightenbush Hot Springs, June 18.—We left Albany at 8:45 Friday 13, and arrived at Detroit at noon. At the latter place a good meal was served at the hotel. Horses are always ready to take those who desire into the Hot Springs, the popular resort. We did not get started from Detroit for two hours but arrived at the springs at 7 the same evening after leaving Albany. The recent rain made the trail unpleasant in several places, rendering travel somewhat. Many trees had fallen across the trail but all had been removed by the packers. In pleasant weather it is not difficult to reach the springs in three and a half hours from Detroit.

On arrival we found about thirty people here from all points of the compass. When weather conditions are favorable many others are billed to come. At this time representatives are here from the state of Washington, many counties in Oregon, and three from Canada. The backward season has retarded travel to all mountain resorts, and to these famous springs in the convenience of getting in over a trail with horses when a shower is encountered as was unfortunately met with, makes the trip anything but enviable. It seems like civilization when we get the Oregonian and Democrat delivered at our cabin door one day after they are taken from the press. An every day delivery with an improvised postoffice and camp elected official to handle mail, without consulting Uncle Sam for consent or petitioning our congressional representatives for political pulls to get the choice of the camp the coveted job.

Mr. F. H. Brandage, the accommodating head of the forest reserve force in this district called on us today and during his friendly visit informed us that the government telephone line now being constructed, will connect Detroit, the end of the railroad, and the springs, by the end of this week.

The most needed here at this time is a store and boarding house. Both these necessities have been here in former seasons and may be this, but no definite move is made to bring them in so far. The backward season is the reason of their absence. A wagon road so much needed, and contemplated, will put this place on the map of health and pleasure resorts of the Northwest. Today the clouds are floating away and the sun sending its desirable rays on the beautiful canyons. General rejoicing is evidenced in the cessation of rain frames of baseball and croquet are in full blast with the women taking their part at the hot or cooler. Mock combats, with hardly contested trails of courage bring forward latent talent that should not have had dormant in the past. High officials are not overlooked in their dereliction any more than the most menial subject. Governor West was arrested for supposed complicity in a black hand murder, and after an impartial trial by his peers was found guilty and sentenced to twenty minutes in the sweat house. His sentence was suspended on payment of twenty-five cents. The arrest and conviction was secured through the efficient services of two Canadian girls, who, in male attire, with pistols suspended at their sides, and various grimaces, overpowered the agent and brought him into court amid the applause of the less daring. The accused is a man who says his name is West, but there are lingering doubts as to the assumption of name. It is currently believed he is impersonating the distinguished executive of Oregon. If proven he will get a worse sentence than incarceration in the sweat house before he is released. Prison is not good in the Brightenbush during the cool weather. The reason for hunting not being open, nothing but bear and cougar are sought by the professional sportsmen of the forest. Those now on the trail in the canyons with ropes of snags of jungle monkeys on the approach of evening. In my next I will endeavor to describe the grounds, springs and bathing privileges here. We are now listening for the familiar yell of the packer as it echoes up the canyon announcing his approach with bells and the papers from home.

WIFE IN PRISON HE WANTS DIVORCE

Riley Rucker Brings Suit for Legal Separation from Dora Rucker.

SHE WAS CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF WHITE SLAVERY

Husband Charges That Wife Deserted Him Because He Was a Farmer.

Charging that his wife deserted him after becoming dissatisfied with the simple life of a farmer's wife, and that she is now confined in the state penitentiary upon being convicted some time ago on a white slavery charge, Riley Rucker, a farmer residing near Lebanon has filed suit for legal separation from Dora Rucker, his alleged wayward spouse.

The couple were married in Linn August 19, 1908, and according to the complaint they lived peacefully as husband and wife on a farm near Lebanon for several months, when the wife without cause or provocation deserted her husband after becoming dissatisfied with the simple life of a farmer's wife.

Since that time, the plaintiff alleges that his wife has roamed over a big portion of the state, making her home here and there. Finally she located permanently at The Dalles, where she became involved in the crime known as white slavery. There she was indicted on the charge, convicted and sent to the penitentiary for a term of from 1 to 10 years for participating in the white slavery traffic.

The plaintiff alleges that he has repeatedly endeavored to persuade her to return to him but she would not heed his pleadings. In the complaint he asserts that at all times when she lived with him he provided a good home and a living for her. There is no issue of the marriage between the plaintiff and defendant. Mrs. Rucker formerly resided in this city where she was employed as a domestic. Attorney Samuel Garland represents the plaintiff.

EUGENE HOPES TO DRAW TRADE OF LORANE VALLEY

By Construction of New Stretch of Road. It Is Believed It Will Be Accomplished.

Eugene, Ore., July 19.—By the construction of four miles of new road through a level country Eugene may be put in touch in a business way with the fertile Loraine valley, 15 miles southwest of here, and the trade of the village of Loraine and the surrounding country diverted to this city from Cottage Grove and Creswell. The proposition has been put up to the people of the city and it is believed the sum necessary to condemn the land and construct the road will be subscribed willingly. By the construction of these four miles of road Eugene will be only two miles further from Loraine than Creswell is and four miles closer than Cottage Grove is to Loraine, with the advantage of no steep hills, which characterize the roads to the other towns.

HART AND KENNEDY ARE FOUND GUILTY

Case Went to Jury at 6 o'Clock and Verdict Was Read in Court at 6:30 o'Clock.

SECOND INDICTMENT TRIAL IS UP TODAY

Next Case to Come Up Before Judge Kelly Is State Against Al Newman.

Reaching a verdict on the first ballot within 15 minutes after it retired, the jury in the case of the state against James Hart and J. D. Kennedy, charged with violation of the local option law, found the defendants guilty of the charge.

After occupying the entire day in its trial before Circuit Court Judge Kelly yesterday the case went to the jury late yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock and the verdict was read in court at 6:30 o'clock. Judge Kelly announced that he would pronounce sentence on the convicted bootleggers next Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The following composed the jury which heard the testimony in the case: J. W. Prickett, South Lebanon; H. D. Haight, Knox Butte; J. R. Morris, Lebanon; J. W. Miller, Halsey; W. M. Abbott, Scio; H. R. Sherrill, Harrisburg; John Robson, B. M. Huston, Charles Carter, W. A. Ledbetter, Edward Washburn, S. L. Haley, all of Albany.

Hart and Kennedy were tried yesterday on one of the two indictments returned against them by the grand jury, charging them jointly with the sale of intoxicating liquor in violation of the provisions of the local option liquor law. In the indictment they were charged with selling the intoxicants to W. M. McDermott on June 7.

The case was bitterly contested and the defense made desperate efforts to secure a verdict in favor of the defendants. Notwithstanding the fact that an alibi to the effect that the defendants were not in the city on the date of the alleged sale, was entered into the testimony and by the fact that one of the state's witnesses tried to throw down his testimony and upon close questioning by the prosecuting attorneys, hedged his testimony considerably, the state won a sweeping victory in the trial. District Attorney Gale S. Hill and Deputy Dan Johnston appeared in behalf of the state and Attorneys D. A. Brown, of Salem and J. F. Whitney, of Albany represented the defendants.

This morning at 9 o'clock the same defendants and the same principals occupied the attention of the court, when Hart and Kennedy were arraigned on the charge contained in the second indictment against them. In this indictment they are charged with the sale of liquor to William Alphin on June 7. All of the forenoon session of court was consumed in securing a jury and the taking of testimony commenced shortly after 1 o'clock. The case will probably go to the jury late this afternoon.

The next case to come up in court will be that of the state against Al Newman, who is charged in an indictment with assault with a dangerous weapon. Newman, it is alleged, while in an intoxicated condition sometime ago at Lebanon, resisted arrest when Officer Richards attempted to take him in custody. During the scuffle Newman suddenly whipped out a revolver and fired at the officer, afflicting a wound in the calf of Richards' leg. Attorneys Weatherford and Weatherford will appear for the defendant and District Attorney G. S. Hill and Deputy Dan Johnston will represent the state.

JURY IN HART-KENNEDY CASE HAS BEEN CHOSEN

The jury before which will be tried the charge conferred in the second indictment against James Hart and J. D. Kennedy was empaneled shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon and is as follows: W. Wilson, Shelburn; M. L. Forster, Tugent; Perry Parker, Plainview; M. Kelly, Shelburn; R. B. Miller, Albany; Winfield Churchill, Plainview; Carl Grill, Tugent; John Weisner, C. D. Plumb, C. S. Muller, George Payne, W. C. Muller, all of Albany.

Eleven Were Initiated.

Eleven applicants were put through a degree last night at the regular meeting of the Oddfellows. The ceremony was followed by a banquet. Members from the Salem, Eugene and Corvallis orders of Oddfellows were among the honored guests of the occasion.
