

FINED $100 FOR SELLING BOOZE

Van Riley Was Arraigned This Morning and Sentenced by Judge Kelly.

VERDICT RECOMMENDED MERCY OF THE COURT

Term of Circuit Court Has Been Completed; Kelly to Go to Salem.

Convicted on a charge of violation of the local option liquor law, Van Riley was arraigned this morning before Circuit Judge Kelly and received a fine of $100 and costs in the sum of $44, as the result of a verdict returned by the jury in his case the fore part of the week in which the money of the court was recommended.

Although Riley had not furnished the money up until late today, it was stated on good authority that he would pay the necessary fine. Immediately after pronouncing the sentence Judge Kelly granted him the privilege of accompanying an officer in an effort to secure the money.

In the indictment returned by the grand jury against Riley he was accused of selling intoxicating liquor to R. B. Leabo of Peoria about two months ago and when arraigned some time ago pleaded not guilty. Upon furnishing bonds he was released.

Judge Kelly has completed his term of court here and after attending to a few minor details here until Saturday will leave Monday morning for Salem where he will open court. Many cases were disposed of during the term, including six liquor violation cases, in which convictions in all were secured and all the offenders have been sentenced.

Judge Kelly will hear several motions and demurrers this afternoon and this will wind up his court business here until the next term.

E. C. ROBERTS APPLIES FOR WIDOWER'S PENSION

Incident at County Clerk Mark's Office This Morning Causes Merriment.

Applying to County Clerk Willard L. Marks this morning, C. E. Roberts a prosperous gardener and fruit expert of near Lebanon, who said that he is a bashful, and not through blossoming widower, wanted to know if the affable county clerk would not go before County Judge Bruce McKnight, and make affidavit in his behalf for a widow's pension. Mr. Marks willingly assented to this and told Mr. Roberts that he will be put on the list as the twenty-sixth applicant for pension. It was agreed that if Judge McKnight did not act favorably on the application that the recall would be instituted.

Everybody knows Mr. Roberts as a wit and humor artist and from the way he entered Mr. Marks' office and placed his case before him one might have thought for a second that he really meant it as he can assume such a serious attitude and yet at the same time be comical when such occasion demands it. The matter was accepted at the clerk's office with much merriment by the fact that Mr. Roberts impersonation of a person who appeared to be ignorant and misled as to the provisions of the law was so realistic and genuine.

CAPTAIN GEORGE A. ROBINSON PASSES AWAY AT CORVALLIS

Well and Favorably Known Resident Succumbed to Heart Failure Thursday.

Captain George A. Robinson, real estate man and ex-city councilman, died rather unexpectedly Thursday evening at his home in Corvallis with heart trouble.

The funeral service will be held at the home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, after which the remains will be conveyed to the Newton cemetery for interment under the auspices of the Woodmen of the World.

Capt. Robison was born in Alabama Dec. 15, 1843, and with the family moved to Little Rock, Arkansas, in 1853. Here he grew to manhood, served through the war, and married in 1867. To this union were born eight children, of whom five are living: James P., of Maclay, Wash.; Henry N., of Alsean; Graves, of the Seale-Spiller barber shop, Corvallis; Mrs. E. A. Smith, of Albany; and Mrs. P. O. Reens, of Philomath. And Capt. Robison spoke with pride of the fact that he had twenty-one or twenty-two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. While in Arkansas Capt. Robinson served as a county judge and justice of the peace. He came to Oregon in 1875; farmed five years, then moved to the city and engaged in the real estate business.

Willard Davis' 3 piece orchestra furnished the music.

CUTLERY FACTORY NOW AT TANGENT

Small Plant Backed by Small Capital; Its Products Are of Superior Quality.

OWNED AND OPERATED BY MR. B. A. SMITH

Manufactures Knives, Razors and Sack Needles; Has Work to Keep 6 Men Busy.

It was learned today that Tangent has a cutlery factory.

Although it is a small plant and is backed by small capital, the factory manufactures bonified knives, razors and sack needles of superior quality and every article is fully guaranteed.

The plant is owned and operated by B. A. Smith who does all of the work himself but stated that he has work enough to keep six men busy.

The plant was established only a short while ago at Tangent and has since been turning out its products on which there seems to be a great demand. Mr. Smith has encountered no trouble in disposing of his wares and many cutlery and hardware stores throughout the country have laid in a stock of the articles.

Cooled up in a small room, with all the necessary implements at his command which represent a small investment, Mr. Smith started the business which has assumed such encouraging proportions that its proprietor is elated over his success but is deterred from enlarging the business at the present time by the lack of the necessary capital.

The grade of knives, razors and sack needles are of an exceptionally high quality and represent the perfection of workmanship as Mr. Smith has had many years experience in the art. On every article manufactured by the plant there is placed a full guarantee as to the quality and durability of the article.

Working every day and nearly every night, Mr. Smith is kept continuously busy manufacturing the wares to supply the overflowing demand. "I could keep six men busy as bees," stated Mr. Smith, "and when the right men come round and things are ripe I may be able to put Tangent on the map with my factory."

This is the first industry of its kind to be established in Tinn county and from its humble beginning bids fair and in fact is destined to become a great factory some day if not in the very near future. It is deserving of support of every cutlery merchant in the county if they will remember the saying: "Patronize home industry."

hostess served a dainty repast, assisted by her sister and daughter.

Covers were laid for eighty by the Albany officers of the Eastern Star on Tuesday at the Oddfellows Hall for a banquet. Large bowls of pink roses and white lilies were artistically arranged on the three tables. A short musical program and several speeches were given. The grand ward patron of Seattle, Mr. Novee, was the guest of honor.

On Thursday evening in the Schmitt-Hunt building the ladies of the Maccabees met for a social session and banquet. Lady Pate, Phillis and Powell served a delicious six-course banquet. Roses were used on the large table where thirty ladies sat. A musical program consisting of readings by Miss Minnie Merrill and Mrs. M. A. Allen and songs by Mrs. M. A. Allen and Nathiel Douglas were very much enjoyed by those present.

Mrs. YeRay Wood of East Third street was hostess to a few of her friends on Wednesday afternoon. Among those present were Mrs. J. R. Flynn, who leaves the first of July for Portland to reside, Assisian bride was played at three tables after which a few more ladies were invited in for refreshments and social hour.

That four Albany boys are sick with small pox at Hooper, Washington, was the report that gained circulation in Albany late yesterday afternoon.
