WHAT THE GLASS BILL PROVIDES.
The following explanation of the Glass currency bill is from the pen of Congressman Buckley of Ohio:
The Wilson-Glass bill will free the currency and credits of this country from the domination of any business group; place the reserves of our banks where they will do the most good; prevent the piling up of the country banks' resources in Wall street to support stock exchange operations; provide a safe and sound government currency adequate in volume to the country's business, and make it possible for the small business man to obtain through competition such credit accommodation as his business and character merit.
The problem is not an easy one, and financial sharps have been puzzled for years to suggest the sort of reform that is needed in our banking and currency laws. The Aldrich monetary commission worked two years trying to solve the problem, and failed. But the present bill meets with favor and bids fair to be favorably reported from our committee after all details shall have been thoroughly threshed over and passed within the next few weeks.
The Glass bill provides for elasticity of currency, mobilizing of reserves and government control of the nation's financial affairs.
What will be its effect?
First, there will be fewer financial panics. No manipulation of the money market to create artificial stringency will be possible, because interest rates, volume of currency and extensions of credit will all be controlled in the interest of the public by a government board. There will be no ground for the fear and distrust which sometimes bring on panics, because everyone will know that enough currency and enough credit will always be available to meet all legitimate needs.
The working man will always get his pay in government currency as good as gold and will not be asked to accept clearing house checks or credit substitutes because employers will always be able to get the currency which their business justifies.
The small business man will be able to borrow at a lower rate and to secure more adequate accommodations because the banks will feel more free to invest in the commercial paper of their local communities, knowing they can immediately realize on this paper by rediscounting whenever they need to do so.
Scarcity of large masses of credit, rather than "death of cold, hard cash," is the cause of recent failure of large bond issues. Commenting on the statement of J. P. Morgan Jr. that the call for money exceeds the supply, Mr. Buckley took issue with the financier.
"Too much capital is now tied up in fixed investments," he said. "Fixed capital is worse than capital in an unproductive field. Fixed investment issues lately have not been absorbed, and large issues of bonds are in the hands of underwriters, who have been unable to pass them along. This condition obtains in Europe also probably even in greater force than here.
"It is due, I believe, especially in Europe, to the fact that great masses of capital were spent in the Balkan war—an utterly unproductive field. It took years to overcome similar stringency following the pouring of money into the Russo-Japanese war.
"The present condition appears to me to be a lack of large mass credit, rather than a scarcity of cash. The actual circulation of currency in this country has decreased very little, fluctuating from time to time."

RIGHT WAY TO KEEP PEACE.

The exposition directors gave a banquet to Ambassador Muller Monday night, says the San Francisco Examiner. It was a fine banquet, as became the hosts and the distinguished guest of honor. Grape juice was unavoidably absent. But there were other things, among them eloquence and poetry. The ambassador spoke feelingly and well. But no one captured the ear with more felicitous phrases than did Deley Field Malone, chief assistant secretary of state. He said that the nations will dissolve in a single thing we call peace, and these were all in evidence.

So much by way of deserved ecstasies. And now for a friendly swat. Mr. Malone, after reference to the mission of Dr. Muller, said:

We of the East may do realize that the building of battleships, the calling of peace conferences and the outcry of the nations will dissolve in one solution—a world agreement of peaceful trade relations.
This is very fine sentiment. One dislikes to break the wings of a butterfly so pretty. But Mr. Malone's dream is not real. He is simply interpreting Mr. Bryan, who was once a military man himself, but now sees visions of any number of dogs of war eating out of his hand.

It is just in trade relations that the seeds of war lie snug, ready on the instant to bloom into red flowers. It is because the great canal will multiply our trade relations with all the world that we must build battleships and stand on guard.

The answer to amiable prophecies of imminent universal peace is the use of cannon in the Balkan hills, the mustering of troops in the continental empires and kingdoms, the bloody revolution in Mexico, the formidable war preparations of Japan and the feverish unrest of the whole world.

There is no universal peace and here will be no universal peace. Man is a fighting animal and grape-juice cannot change him. The republic will have peace with honor just so long as the American flag flies above enough ships of battle to protect that or from the peril of attack and the stain of defeat.

SALEM MAN MAKING COAST TO COAST MOTORCYCLE TRIP

W. M. Fleming Started at Newport and Destination Will Be Newport R. I.

LA GRANDE, Ore., July 2—A motorcycle trip from coast to coast is no easy jaunt, especially through rain and over muddy roads, which is the experience of W. M. Fleming, who arrived in Baker Friday night.
Mr. Fleming is a Salem man. He started on his transcontinental trip from Newport, Rhode Island.
En route he stops at all points of interest, taking postal card views and wholesale orders for same.
Since starting on his journey Mr. Fleming has encountered rain and muddy roads the entire distance to Baker, especially so across the Blue mountains. It took him just one week, including stops, to make the distance from Pendleton to Baker.

CAUGHT IN THE CLIP.

Plates Laid for 12 Only.
Junction City—With a philosophical turn of mind, the editor of the Junction City Times writes: A Duroc Jersey sow belonging to E. W. Thom, of Riverview, gave birth to 13 pigs the other day. One of them died, however. It was just as well as plates were only laid for 12."

Bone Is Badly Cracked.

Scio—The reporter for the Santiam News writes the rather more expressive than elegant style: "Mrs. Emma Small is not doing as well as was expected last week. She has a badly injured back and coupling. The doctor cracked."

Man Beats Railroad Squarely

Woodburn—A Woodburn man has found a way of getting the best of the so-called ever shrewd corporation. The regular fare to Portland is $1.10, but he reaches the Oregon metropolis for 75 cents, and he rides on the "cushions" at that. This is the way he gives for turning the trick. Buy a ticket to Oregon City for 60 cents; get off at Oregon City, take an electric car; pay 10 cents fare to Oak Grove; then 5 cents to Portland and get a transfer to any part of the city. Those who have tried it say it works perfectly. The regular fare to Portland over either the Oregon Electric or the Southern Pacific is $1.10.

This Is "Dog-on" Bad Luck

Lebanon—Roy Taylor, one of the men putting down cement curbs and sidewalks, had $39 worth of bad luck Monday when he attempted to shew an inquisitive dog off a soft piece of cement work with a rock. The rock went kersmash through a plate glass window in the Hotel Lebanon barber shop and the dog trotted joyously up the street with a "never touched me" look in his face. It cost $39 to have the window replaced.—Lebanon Critterion.

Registration of Land Title.

No. 696, Claim No. 49, in Tp. 11 S. R. 3 W. Will. Mer., Linn County, Oregon, thence N. 88 degrees 45 minutes E. 41.00 chains to the East boundary line of said Claim No. 49; thence N. 1 degree 37 minutes West 21.07 chains to the center of the County Road; thence N. 70 degrees 25 minutes W. 44.00 chains along center of said Road to the West boundary line of said Claim No. 49; thence S. 1 degree 39 minutes East 39.75 chains to the point of beginning, containing 1185 acres, more or less.

Notice.
To Whom It May Concern:
Take notice that on the 19th day of June A. D. 1913, an application was filed by said Willamette Land Company in the Circuit Court of Linn County, Oregon, for initial registration of the title to the land above described. Now unless you appear on or before the 28th day of July A. D. 1913, and show cause why such application shall not be granted, the same will be taken as confessed and a decree will be entered according to the prayer of the application, and you will be forever barred from disputing the same.

TOMORROW WILL BE CLOSED HOLIDAY THROUGHOUT CITY

Albany People Are Expected to Help Other Cities to Observe Nation's Birth.

According to a resolution passed at a recent meeting of the Albany Retail Merchants' Association all stores will remain closed all day tomorrow excepting the cigar and confectionery establishments. This was done pursuant to a mutual understanding from last year when Albany held a gigantic Fourth of July celebration in honor of the coming of the Oregon Electric, that this year all of the clerks and employees of mercantile establishments would have a holiday on this Fourth.
If you have any shopping to do you are cautioned to do it this afternoon and tomorrow evening, one is expected to observe the nation's birth either at home or in helping Salem or Eugene or any other town where a celebration is being held to observe the day as they so graciously helped Albany last year.
