BURGLARS ENTER RESI-DENGE OF W. A. BARRETT

Window Pried Open and Purse Containing a Few Dollars Carried Away by Thief.

At an early hour yesterday morning burglars forced an end tranceto the home of W. A. Barderett on Washington street and earlied away a purse containing a few dollars in silver.

The entrance was made through a window which was pried open by the thief and no more member of the household was aroused at the time the burglary was committed. It is presumed that it took place between 1 and

Act a Locomobile and a Cadillac, and each machine made the trip without an accident.

Fairport, California, is the most southerly point of their trip, is in the Goose Lake vicinity! not far from Lakeview, Or. They drove all through Lakeview to Klamath Falls and from there to Crater lake. On the rim of the lake they found about forty automobiles and the camping grounds were crowded. The party came north by the way of Bend and the McKenzie pass.

Mr. Canno, speaking this morning of the trip, said;

"We found some very good roads, also some very bad ones. The road over the McKenzie pass is fierce. I think it is the worst road I ever saw in my life, but I understand that it is soon to be improved. It certainly needs it. There is also a very bad stretch of road between Klamath Falls and Lakeview."

After spending the night here with friends, the party with the exception of Miss Flora Mason, proceeded north this morning. They will stop for awhile in Salem and plan to reach Portland by tonight.

Miss Mason in commenting on the trip stated that it was a most enjoyable tour and made exceptionally pleasant by the fact that nothing came up to mar the pleasure.

"We encountered some mighty bad roads but this was to be expected in considering the territory we travelled."

The cow catcher on the big engine struck the right hand horse broadside. Both horses were torn from the wagon and hurled a distance of words 100 feet. They were killed instantly.

Upon realizing the peril he was in, young Bannon attempted to jump from the wagon seat, but before he successfully negotiated his attempt the engine struck the horses, whirling the wagon against the train. The body of the lad struck the broadside of a coach and how he escaped with only minor injuries is considered a miracle. He was able to reach home with the assistance of a friend where home medical attention was all that was necessary.

PIONEER OF LINN COUNTY GOES TO SOLDIERS' HOME

John Gregg, Who Crossed Plains By Ox Team, Leaves Eugene for Roseburg.

John Gregg, a well known old sol; dier, leaves this morning to enter the Soldiers' Home at Roseburg. He is a pioneer of Oregon, having driven scross the the plains with four yoke of cattle and arrived at Harrisburg in the fall of 1860. He enlisted in a California regiment and served three years and one month and was finally discharged at Salt Lake City. discharged at Salt Lake City. He tells some great yarns of the Indian fights. One of these is that the U. S. troops killed 3,000 Indians in one engagement. His version of the affair is that the Mormons told the Indians if they would fortify their position they could easily stand off the troops. They did so and the troops shelled their fort which was beyond the reach of rille shot and killed 3,000 of them. This story needs confirmation. Anyhow the old veteran believes it.—Eugene Register.

MUCH CLOVER WAS GROWN THIS YEAR

Hundreds of Acres Cultured in Linn County in Preference to Other Crops.

MANY CLOVER HULLERS HAVE BEEN PURCHASED

Thrashing Commenced Yesterday and Will Be on in Full Blast by End of V. eek.

That hundreds of acres of clover were grown this year by Linn county farmers, in preference to other crops, because of the present value of this crop, was the statement made this morning by Manager Stewart of the Commercial club.

Unprecedented acreage of clover is Commercial club.

Unprecedented acreage of clover is reported in all sections of the county. Never before, said one farmer, has there been so much clover and he was of the opinion that the value will remain on its present basis. It has been authoritatively stated that more clover was grown this year than in any previous year.

In bearing out this statement, evidence strongly indicating this fact, has been cited to the number of clover hullers that have been shipped into this section during the present season. It has been conservatively estimated that at least 10 clover hullers and the number may even reach 15, have been sold to farmers and other enterprising residents of this section this year. Statements of implement merchants have confirmed this estimate more or less. Last week two clover hullers were shipped through the city on one flat car consigned to Lina county farmers. Other implements have arrived during the past two weeks, including two four wheel drive Herr tractors and a Case tractor and plowing outfit, consigned to residents of this section.

Two threshing outfits began work in Lina county yesterday but the majority of the machines will not begin for about a week. According to the present prospects the indications are splendid for a big yield of clover, oats and wheat.
