Washington, Nov. 25.—Amid a scene of rare beauty, Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, second daughter of President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wedded Francis B. Sayre, of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Sayre, of Pennsylvania at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Surrounded by foreign diplomats resplendent in their brilliant uniforms, the highest officials in the service of the country, members of the most exclusive social set at the capital, including several hundred friends and kinsmen of the two families, the bridal couple took the Presbyterian vows in the east room of the White House, the scene of many famous and historic gatherings.

Simplicity marked the ceremony, but the scene was one of royal grandeur. Women in brilliant gowns, the corps of aides to the president in uniform, the handsman hidden behind the bank of palms and flowers in full dress regalia, the bride, charming in rich cream white satin gown, all combined to make this, the thirteenth White House wedding, the most notable of any of the twelve that have preceded it. The Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, of Princeton, N. J., family pastor of the Wilsons during their residence in the university town, performed the ceremony.

Departing from the usual custom of White House weddings, the bridal couple entered the East room to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by the United States Marine band.

The bridal party formed in the dining room, after the Wilson and Sayre family parties had entered the East Room from the state stairway. The 800 guests had already found their places. Mr. Sayre and his best man, Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, of Labrador, ascended the state stairway, and proceeded to his position at the right of the altar.

Just as the clock pointed to 4:30 o'clock, the Marine band which had previously played softly, struck up the wedding march. This was taken up by the choir boys, who awaited the bridal party in the west end of the Red Corridor. Radiant in her shimmering robe of white satin, and leaning on the left arm of the president, the bride took up the triumphal march to the altar—a raised platform near the great window opening on to the east terrace. Following came the attendants, Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, another sister; Miss Mary G. White, of Baltimore; Miss Adeline Mitchell Scott, of Princeton, N. J.; and Miss Marjorie Brown, of Atlanta, Georgia, as bridesmaids. Benjamin B. Burton of New York, Dr. Scovell Clark of Salem, Mass., Dr. Horax of Montclair, N. J., and Charles E. Hughes, Jr., of New York, acted as ushers. With perfectly timed tread, the bride and her father ascended the dias where the Rev. Mr. Beach awaited them with the bridegroom and his best man.

The enthusiasm of the throng could scarcely be restrained as the charming bride, her face lighted with a smile, stood erect before the pastor. A deep silence fell upon the room as the minister pronounced the words that joined the couple in wedlock. As the minister uttered his "Amen," and after he congratulated the bride and

400 TEACHERS WERE ACCORDED A ROUSING RECEPTION LAST NIGHT

About 700 People Filled High School Auditorium—Another Feis Tonight—Second Days Session in Progress.

The freedom of the city was extended to the 400 school teachers, here attending the institute from all parts of Linn and Benton counties, last night at the high school, through a rousing reception tendered by scores of Albany people. The spirit of hospitality reigned supreme and the school teachers, about 300 of whom are charming young ladies, and a hundred more or less, being men, were accorded one grand welcome.

"I don't believe I ever saw the high school auditorium crowded with as many people," said Superintendent C. W. Boettcher this morning, "there must have been fully 600 or 700 people, including the teachers, present. All of the reserve space was taken. They sat two in a seat and all the chairs available were brought in."

The evening was spent in a pleasant social way. A splendid program was given by the school children of Albany, which was interspersed by musical numbers rendered by the Albany high school band and the orchestra of the school. Children of the public schools of the city participated in the entertainment. Punch was served during the evening. At the conclusion of the program, the teachers, hailing from the different parts of the union gathered in various parts of the auditorium and enjoyed pleasant social sessions, followed by the reception proper.

Tonight another similar feis will be held, to which all of the people of Albany are invited. The program, however, will be given by the various teachers, consisting of numbers such as musical, song solos, readings, and recitations. There will also be an address by Dr. Shafer, of the University of Oregon, on the subject of "A New Type of Rural School." He was followed by Mr. Carlson, assistant state superintendent, on the subject of "Better Means for Support for Public Schools." Then followed the department programs. Dr. H. M. Crooks, of Albany College, led a discussion in the advanced department, Prof. C. H. Bigbee county trustee officer spoke of truancy in another department. In the domestic science department Miss Bertha Davis of Corvallis, discussed matters pertinent thereto and Miss Fullerton, in the rural school department, spoke on the subject of "A Social Center." At noon the institute adjourned and the delegates went to the Methodist church to partake of a chicken dinner. The convention reconvened at 1 o'clock and will continue throughout the afternoon.

ALLEGES THAT THEY DIDN'T PAY ALL ON NOTE

Demanding judgment in the sum of $691.35, and for $75 attorney's fees, John P. Primrose has filed suit in the Circuit Court against Mary L. Keilly, to recover on a promissory note.

The suit grows out of the alleged failure of the defendant to settle a note for $1,739.75 executed at Eugene, Or., June 16, 1910 and due three years after date, secured by 160 acres in Lyman county, South Dakota. It is claimed that as a result of the failure of the defendant to meet the note at maturity the sheriff was legally authorized to sell the property, which he did for $1,200. This was applied to the plaintiff's note. It is to collect the balance due that the suit is brought. Attorney L. M. Carl represents the plaintiff.

W. H. Woodard, of Jordan, arrived in the city this morning to transact business.

H. M. Bonery, of Jefferson, transacted business here this morning.

H. Rolfs, of Corvallis, was a business visitor in the city yesterday afternoon.

COUNTY OFFICES ARE TO BE CHANGED JANUARY 1

After the first of the year Sheriff Bodine's office will be located on the second floor of the court house in the room now occupied by County treasurer Francis, and the latter will take the present sheriff's office on the first floor near the entrance of the building.

After January first, the treasurer will be the tax collector until September 1 when the books will again be turned over to the sheriff.

Carpenters are now engaged in preparing the treasurer's office for the change. The office is to be enlarged and renovated somewhat. A partition is being erected across the end of the hall, with a door in the center, and with this additional space the sheriff's office will occupy the treasurer's present office. Both offices will be maintained thus after September.

bridegroom, and wished them God-speed, the president and Mrs. Wilson greeted Mr. and Mrs. Sayre as they stood upon the dias. They then passed into the Blue room.

For more than an hour the guests filed by the couple offering them their congratulations as they passed into the Blue Room and into the state dining room where a buffet luncheon was served.

FARMER SETS FIRE TO BARN; PERISHES

Leroy Cowdrey, Age 80, Commits Wholesale Destruction at His Farm.

MADE AN ATTEMPT TO BURN UP HOUSE ALSO

Barn and Residence Burned to Ground; Charred Body Was Found This Morning.

Becoming despondent, Leroy Cowdrey, age 80, a farmer residing five miles east of here on the Santiam road, last night is believed to have deliberately committed suicide by slitting himself up in the barn, and setting fire to it, then shooting himself with a shotgun. His body was found this morning in the charred remains of the barn. The aged widower's house was also burned. An effort was made to burn the chicken house but it is believed that the fire was smothered. A cow and several chickens perished. The house and barn were burned to the ground.

It is believed that Cowdrey planned the wholesale destruction carefully. Evidence of coal oil being used was found. Straw and hay had been stacked in the hen house and in the residence. After sprinkling the coal oil, it is believed that the aged man ignited the straw, then went to the barn, shut himself up, lighted the hay and perished. The shotgun was found beside the body. The fire according to distant neighbors, happened at 11 o'clock. Cowdrey lost his wife last September and it is thought this preyed on his mind until he became despondent. He lived alone but expected a son to come from Eastern Oregon next June to live with him.

When found the body was badly charred and unrecognizable. The legs and arms were burned completely and the top of the head was blown off. The weapon was a twelve-gauge shotgun. It had been charred and twisted by the flames.

Despondency over the death of his wife, coupled with family troubles is believed to be the direct cause of the deed.

Coroner Fortmiller went to the scene this morning. The body was brought to Albany and prepared for burial. The son will arrive tomorrow to arrange for the funeral.

SWISS MAIDENS STICK TO DEMANDS OF $300 FOR MISPLACED LOVE

Have Occupied Young Home for Nearly Three Weeks and Will Not Budge; Men in a Quandary Over Situation.

Standing steadfast to the terms of their first demands, Cecile DeHulain and Hilder Keiser, the Swiss maidens who left their native home and traveled to far-away Oregon to wed Kasper Wirtz and Herman Young, obstinately refuse to budge from the home of Young, where they have taken their stand. Neither will they wed the men who wooed them by mail across the sea. They will not move so much as an inch, they assert, until the men comply with their demands of $300 apiece, as part remuneration for their 7000 mile journey and incidentally, the misplacement of their love, which they claim was incited by the photographs sent them, and which are misrepresentations of the men.

Another feature of the affair which has caused the men no end of vexation, is the fact that previous to the appearance and consent refusal of the girls, Young notified the renters of his house that they must vacate, as he was going to be married and desired the house to be empty. Accordingly the occupants moved, and the girls have taken possession of the premises and refuse to vacate until their demands have been complied with. The men are said to be ready to wed the girls at any time, and apparently intend to await the action of time in hope that it will soften the hearts of the maidens.

900 SALOONKEEPERS IN CLEVELAND ARE OUT

Cleveland, Nov. 24.—There are today 900 fewer "cases" in Cleveland than there were when "the boys" went home Saturday night. Nine hundred saloon-keepers on Saturday offered any quantity of spurious advice by the hundreds yesterday, today were closed. The employees were refused licenses by the new county commission.

The saloon-keepers, however, are not accepting the refusal without fight. They have organized to contest the new law under which they were refused license renewals. It is planned to institute a suit in the federal courts protesting that the new law conflicts with a section of the federal constitution providing against the taking of property without due process of law.

CATTLE BUSINESS HAS BEEN ON LOW BASIS

Hog Market Faltered; Sheep House Furnished Excitement.
Portland, Or., Nov. 24.—Receipts for the week at the Union Stock Yard have been: Cattle, 1180; calves, 65; hogs, 4328; sheep, 6862.

A large proportion of the week's cattle business has been on a lower basis, due to the general inferiority of the stuff marketed. When an occasional prime load of steers or cows appeared in the yards, order buyers snapped them up quickly at top prices. A steer sale Monday at $7.25 and a load or two at $7.40 and $7.50 is an example, but the bulk of sales were at $7.00 and $7.25. The poorest lot of cows and heifers seen here for weeks caused the session to drag. Killers are simply over-supplied on poor beef quality. Other butcher lines were steady.

Hogs.
The hog market faltered on Tuesday when the trade weakened about ten cents, but during the remainder of the period $8.00 proved to be a substantial price basis for choice light-weight swine. A big volume of business was transacted Monday and Wednesday. Monday had the second largest single day's run of the year, but live pork outfit seems to be broad enough to absorb liquidation to date.

Sheep.
The sheep house furnished some excitement Monday when a few decks of fancy lambs sold at $6.00, a new record for the season. Other varieties brought $5.50 and $5.75. Nothing sensational visited the auction division as most of the transactions consisted of medium grade ewes selling around $3.65 and $3.75. Prime ewes sold at $4.00. Best yearlings are considered steady at $4.75 and $4.90; old sheep $4.50.

Drs. Lowe & Turner will be in Albany Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 10th and 11th at St. Francis hotel.
