LOGGING CONTRACTOR IS CHARGED WITH CONTEMPT OF COUNTY COURTS ORDERS

Elmer Russel Claims That Complaint Filed Against Him Was Spite Work; Decision Reserved Pending Investigation.

Charged with contempt of court for disregarding an order regulating hauling over county roads, Elmer Russel, a logging contractor, of near Gilkey station, was hauled before the county court yesterday, tried, and convicted and put up $100 bonds for his release. Pending the investigation of the condition of the road and the circumstances of the case, the court's decision is reserved. County Judge McKnight and Commissioner Russell left last night for Gilkey station and will investigate the matter today. Russel was represented by Attorney Weatherford.

The case grew out of a complaint filed by several farmers against Russel several days ago, resulting in the issuance of the order by the county court, regulating the size of loads and the size of wagon tires transported over county roads, to be in effect until May 1.

Russel claims that it was spite work and that he had not caused any particular damage to the road. On the other hand the farmers assert the contrary, and present the grievance that they pay for the upkeep of the road, from which they are deriving the benefit, due to the alleged damage caused by the hauling.

FIREMEN GATHER AT BANQUET BOARD

CITY FATHERS MADE THE "GOATS" OF THE EVENING

Events of Early Pioneer Days Recalled by Veteran Fire Fighters of Albany.

Witnessed by nearly 200 mourners, the remains of the Albany volunteer fire department were laid to rest last night with appropriate ceremonies and the body resurrected by a score of speakers at the banquet which followed the funeral services.

The festivities marking the formal disbandment of the fire company were held at the Moose hall. The guests were called to order by Frank Powell, who in a few well chosen words introduced Gale S. Hill as the toastmaster of the evening. No sooner had the toastmaster assumed his new duties than a funeral procession, bearing the remains of the deceased fire company was seen entering the room. Prominent members of the company acted as pall bearers and the funeral oration over the remains of the departed was delivered by C. N. McKey, who brought tears to the eyes of the city officials and laughter to the faces of the assembled guests. A few excellent vocal selections by Mr. Peters, assisted by Moseck's orchestra, followed the obsequies.

C. H. Stewart was then called upon for a brief history of the Albany volunteer fire department and recited a number of interesting facts concerning the early history of the organization.

Mr. Stewart was followed by the following speakers: J. E. Ross, Burr Sloan, Jos. Watson, W. W. Rowell, E. H. Horsky, W. S. Richards, J. S. Van Winkle, W. A. Eastburn, O. P. Dannels, L. E. Blain, Chief Graham, of Corvallis; L. L. Swan, H. W. McElmurry, L. M. Curl, E. A. Johnson, F. T. Blount, Henry Lyons, J. R. Hulbert and R. H. Pfeiffer.

Among the speakers who developed unusual ability as orators, was Councilman Blount. He demonstrated that he is both a diplomat and an orator. The toastmaster and other speakers added wit and humor to the occasion by shooting a few good natured remarks at the former mayor and members of the city council, roast mayor and broiled councilmen being made by the speakers one of the principal items on the menu.

The banquet was served by Dick Churchill and was one of the most elaborate ever held by the local fire-
