

Albany College.

Albany is in the midst of a campaign to raise a new endowment for Albany College. James F. Hill has contributed $50,000 on condition that friends of the institution will raise a sufficient additional sum to lift the aggregate to $250,000.

Already 105,000 of the required sum has been pledged, and the present effort is to secure the balance. It ought to succeed. The leadership of every educational institution is of valuable service to the state and the country. Every new student drawn into the class rooms is a new recruit for better and stabler institutions, city, state and national.

The denominational college has its established place. Many parents prefer to have their sons and daughters educated at such an institution. They regard the moral forces that environ it as essential in creating the highest type of citizenship.

As never before, there is now a country-wide realization of the need of pushing education from every angle and by every process. The Rockefeller foundation is example of a national trend. Lesser philanthropists are impressed with a realization that colleges are with the common schools a bulwark of self government, and are casting about for institutions upon which to make bestowals.

But they are not endowing delinquent colleges. A college debt is a proof of financial mismanagement, and even philanthropy has a head for finance.

In campaigning for an ample endowment, the friends of Albany College are laying the groundwork for making it a stable and substantial institution. When they have done that, they will have opened the way for the institution to become the recipient of large bestowals from abroad.

Albany has a reputation of getting what she goes for, and there will be state-wide interest and encouragement in the present endowment campaign. —Portland Journal.

Early Shopping.

With the excitement incident to a national election out of the way, the thoughts of the public turn to the day of Thanksgiving, a peculiarly American institution, and then a few weeks later to the great Christmas festival of Christmas. Christmas suggests gifts, and gifts suggest early shopping.

Early shopping is to be recommended from two standpoints. One is that it is plain, cold business—looking out for Number one. Early in the season, there is more to choose from, and the always puzzling question of "what to get" is easier to solve.

The other standpoint is that of courtesy and consideration for the rights and comforts of others. Just because clerks and sales people are paid to sell goods is no reason why the public should not extend them all possible courtesy. Even when a large part of the Christmas shopping is done early in the season, the rush of work during the last week is had enough. When the buying is all put off to the last minute, it means long, weary hours of rush work to clerks who are already fagged out.

The "early shopping" propaganda is one that has been gaining strength yearly for some time, and it is likely to be more observed this year than ever before. Money is reasonably free, crops are good, and there is no sensible reason for deferring the annual expenditure.

On the contrary, there are many reasons for grasping time firmly by the forelock and plunging into the task. The early bird is reputed to gather in the worms. The early shopper certainly has the advantage of unbroken stock, more individual, careful and courteous treatment, and the satisfaction of knowing that he has materially assisted in reducing the burden of the women and men behind the counters to whom the festive season means little but overwork and tired limbs.—Eugene Register.

DUN'S REVIEW ON THE WEEK'S BUSINESS OUTLOOK

The following is a review of the week's business outlook by Dun's Review:

Business continues to expand, unchecked by the Balkan war with its grave European complications, and its remarkable development has furnished new proof that true national prosperity springs from the soil. The domestic and foreign demand for iron and steel products is even larger than before, with all previous records broken. Railroad purchases continue on an extensive scale notwithstanding that a decision as to the raising of railroad wages is near at hand. The railroads are making every effort to move promptly the tremendous traffic of the country and at the same time are making due preparation for the requirements of the future. There are also signs of preparation for the opening of the Panama Canal. The dry goods market, in both cottons and woollens, daily develops new activity and strength, and the retail business, though held in check somewhat by the mild weather, now shows increased volume as the holiday season approaches. The shoe trade also maintains a steady gain. Crop conditions are all that could be desired and the latest cotton estimates foreshadow an increasing yield. The movement of wheat is enormous. The week's statistics all confirm the reports from individual trades. Bank clearings this week gained 8.5 per cent over last year and 13.5 per cent over 1910, and railroad earnings in the first week of November increased 4.4 per cent. Worldwide firmness in money continues, and the Imperial Bank of Germany has advanced its discount rate from 5 to 6 per cent. Important developments occurred in foreign exchange, with a further decline in demand sterling to below 4.85, yet a resumption of gold imports is considered unlikely at this juncture. Prosperity was expanded imports. The great volume of exports is maintained; at New York for the latest week the exports were $16,543,570, being considerably larger than in the two preceding years, while imports were $22,284,474, the gain over the two years being relatively about the same as in the case of exports.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for November amount to $6,926,929, of which $2,803,617 are in manufacturing, $2,871,480 in trading and $1,251,832 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 271 in the United States against 266 last year, and 37 in Canada compared with 26 a year ago.

'DARBY' MOURNS FOR HIS MISSING 'JOAN'

72-Year-Old Martin Cavanaugh Deserted in Hongkong by His Aged Bride.

HONEYMOON FOR THIS COUPLE ENDS IN TEARS

Old Man Weeps as He Tells of Blasted Hopes of a Happy Fireside.

San Francisco, Nov. 21.—Martin L. Cavanaugh, wealthy capitalist of San Jose, seventy-two years old, who left New York City to travel around the world with his sixty-seven year old bride last June, arrived from the Orient on the liner Mongolia yesterday alone. His bride is following on the next steamer.

The cause of the separation of the aged honeymooners is unknown, Cavanaugh spoke freely of the incidents attending the strange act of his wife when she left him at Hongkong, but could give no reason which would account for the mystery.

Both Cavanaugh and his wife have grown sons and daughters and are well known about San Jose where the families have lived for many years. Immediately after the steamer docked, the aged bridegroom hastened to the railroad station at Third and Townsend streets to catch the first train for San Jose. He lives at 341 Webster street, San Jose, and made his fortune in Seattle real estate.

"Please don't ask me to talk about this," begged Cavanaugh, with tears streaming down his cheeks. "Both Mrs. Cavanaugh and myself have grown children, and I don't want them to hear anything about it. I had known my wife for about two years before we were married. She resided at San Jose also. I have plenty of means, and the last thing I did before we were married was to provide Mrs. Cavanaugh with a beautiful new home in which we were to live as soon as we returned.

"We sailed from New York on June 8. Everything progressed nicely and there was not a ripple of trouble as we traveled about Europe and Asia, having the time of our lives. When we boarded the steamer at Port Said for the trip to Hongkong we had not had a single word of misunderstanding.

"At Hongkong, when we were about to land, I asked Mrs. Cavanaugh for the keys to her baggage, and then, for the first time, I noticed a difference.

"No," said Mrs. Cavanaugh, "I will take care of my own baggage."

"I did not understand it, but did not think anything serious had happened until we came together at the Cook's tourist office. She then told me that she had decided to leave me and before I realized what had happened she had disappeared.

"For four long days I rode and tramped all over Hongkong before I succeeded in finding the woman who I even now love better than my own life. I then attempted to get to some sort of an understanding, but she would not even listen to me. I had her transportation in my pocket and tried to give it to her, but she refused to take it. I did everything possible, but could do nothing.

"The last time I saw her I managed to grasp her gloved hand and kissed it. I tried to kiss her lips, but she turned away and spurned me. I do not understand it at all. It seems like some horrible dream."

As the old man related his sad story he wept bitterly. At last he went on:

"Somehow I feel that this thing may come out all right after all. I left word to Mrs. Cavanaugh at Hongkong that I would do anything she desired. If it was money she wanted, she could have any amount which I possessed at any time, if she would only send me a cable. I shall be ready to meet the Nippon Maru when it comes in, and if she is on board I shall do everything possible to bring her back to me."

The last thing Cavanaugh did before boarding the train for San Jose was to prepare a wireless message to Mrs. Cavanaugh on the Nippon Maru telling her that he wanted to have everything forgotten and have them make another start.

KENNEDY FIGHTS POLICE OFFICERS

Arrested Last Evening By King and Howard for Being Drunk on Local Streets.

FINED $49 THIS MORNING BY MUNICIPAL JUDGE VAN TASSEL

When Arrested Kennedy Had 4 Quarts of Beer and $700 in His Clothing.

When Dan Kennedy of this city loaded up on booze last evening and started to raise a rough house down town, he was arrested by Policemen Howard and King and locked up in the city jail, where he remained all night. He was arraigned in the municipal court this morning on a charge of being drunk and disorderly and resisting an officer and was fined $49 by Police Judge Van Tassel which he paid.

On the charge of appearing upon the streets in an intoxicated condition he was fined $25 and costs of $2, making a total on that charge of $27. For resisting an officer he contributed $22 to the coffers of the city, being fined $20 and costs for the offense. Kennedy is also alleged to have insulted some women on the streets last evening.

When Policemen Howard attempted to arrest Kennedy on Lyon street near the Peacock livery barn, Kennedy began to fight the officer who was having his hands full, when reinforcements arrived in the shape of Policemen King who had been called to the scene by a bystander. They took Kennedy to jail without any trouble and he was kept there all night, despite the fact that several of his friends made an effort to furnish a bond for his release.

Kennedy is alleged to have remarked on the streets last evening that the regular police were not on the job and that the others were not big enough to arrest him.

Kennedy was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Del Smith on two different charges for violation of the local option law. He furnished bonds for $300 for his appearance in court when wanted and was released. When arrested last evening by the police, Kennedy had four quarts of beer on his person, and checks and cash amounting to over $700.

GENERAL ADMISSION TO THE BIG GAME WILL BE ONE DOLLAR

Graduate Manager Geary Returns to Albany Last Evening From the Metropolis.

When interviewed this morning by the Democrat representative regarding the admission to be charged to the football game Saturday, Arthur M. Geary, graduate manager of the University of Oregon, who returned to Albany last evening from Portland said:

"A good many people have understood that the admission to the game Saturday afternoon was $1.50 but this is not the case however. The general admission to the game will be one dollar, reserved seats one dollar and fifty cents, while children under 12 years of age will be admitted for fifty cents.

"I have just returned to Albany from Portland," said Mr. Geary, "and great enthusiasm over the big game is being shown in the metropolis. Several special trains from that city will come to Albany next Saturday bringing thousands of Portlanders to the game. Eugene, Corvallis, and Salem will also send numerous delegations, while hundreds of others will flock to this city from all directions. Tickets will be on sale at once in this city at the Owl Drug store and Whitaker Brothers' cigar store where they may be secured in advance."

JUDGE HAS NO TIME FOR A WIFE SPANKER

Los Angeles, Nov. 19.—"Any man who spans his wife is unfit to have the custody of his child."

So declared Judge Monroe of the superior court in a decision on file today in the case of Mrs. Louise Fussell, who sued her husband, D. A. Fussell, for divorce.

Fussell admitted to the witness stand that he had spanked Mrs. Fussell because she had objected to his going about with another woman.

"She was immediately jealous," said Fussell.

Judge Monroe said there was no excuse for Fussell having spanked his wife and gave a decree of divorce and the custody of their child to Mrs. Fussell. The court also ordered Mr. Fussell to pay Mrs. Fussell $13.50 a week.

10,000 WILL SEE BIG GAME HERE NEXT SATURDAY AT 3 P.M.

A Large Force of Carpenters Began Work This Morning Erecting Bleachers at Park.

The big football game which will be played in this city on Saturday afternoon between the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College, will undoubtedly be witnessed by at least 10,000 people according to present indications. A force of twenty-five carpenters began work this morning at Athletic Park enlarging the field by moving the fence back several feet and erecting grandstand and bleacher accommodations for a crowd of that size and the work will be completed by Saturday morning.

Fifty special policemen will be on the grounds Saturday during the game to preserve order and no rowdiness will be permitted and gambling on the grounds will be suppressed. The members of the Albany Commercial Club and the residents of Albany generally are desirous that the game shall not be marred by fights of any kind and have taken steps to avoid any trouble, either at the grounds or downtown after the game.

All of the business houses of this city will be closed from 2 until 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, while employer and employee alike will attend the game. Local people should order their supplies for Sunday several days in advance for the last delivery will probably be made before noon on Saturday.

REV. LEECH WILL DELIVER SERMON IN NEAR FUTURE

The Democrat is informed that in the near future the Rev. D. H. Leech of the First Methodist church of this city, will deliver a sermon bearing directly on the Word's Christian Citizenship Conference which will be held in Portland, June 29th to July 6th, 1913. The conference at Portland will mark an epoch in the social and religious history of the world and will be attended by the greatest speakers on religious and reform topics in all the country.

FORT OMAHA SOLDIER IS HEIR TO A LARGE FORTUNE

Omaha, Nov. 19.—F. J. Maxwell of the United States Signal Corps, who was stationed for a time at Fort Omaha and later at Fort Leavenworth, has received word that he is heir to an estate of $40,000 left by the late Jacob Zimmerman of Kansas City.

He expects to purchase his release from the army and engage in business here.

The estate is said to be worth $1,200,000 and Maxwell receives his mother's share of $40,000. Mrs. Maxwell is at present visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Connel.

Maxwell is now in Kansas City closing up the details of the bequest and he expects to locate here soon.

GUILTY SAYS JURY IN PEACOCK CASE

Jury Returned a Verdict After Deliberating but a Short Time Last Night.

SECOND CASE AGAINST LOCAL LIVERYMAN ON TRIAL TODAY

Judge William Galloway Grants Divorces to Four Women and Two Men in 24 Hours.

After deliberating about twenty-five minutes last evening, the jury in the first case of Oregon vs. Al Peacock, returned a verdict of guilty as charged in the indictment.

The following men composed the jury: John Dashney, Lacombe; W. R. Ray, Jordan; P. H. Hargett, Harrisburg; G. G. Lovelace, Lebanon; John B. Miller, Waterloo; A. P. Blackburn, Lebanon; J. M. Burch, Albany; Charles A. Bates, Shelburn; W. T. Hassler, Scio; William Conner, Crawfordville; Lee J. Gaines, Lacombe, and L. C. Trask, Jordan. A jury was being secured at noon today to hear the evidence in the second of the six cases of Oregon vs. Peacock.

Judge Galloway was kept busy yesterday grinding the divorce mill and when court adjourned for the day at the troubles of five people to whom he granted decrees of divorce.

William H. Speer was granted a decree of divorce from Ellen Margaret Speer; Jennie E. Ward from Clyde L. Ward; Lena A. Carey from J. A. Carey; Robert H. Glasgow from Letitia Glasgow, and Elsie Broadley from T. E. Broadley. This morning Judge Galloway granted a divorce to Rose N. Stover from L. C. Stover.

The docket for this term of Judge Galloway's court is one of the longest for many months, containing 107 cases. The jury had been secured and the evidence was being heard in the second case of Oregon vs. Al Peacock as the Democrat goes to press this afternoon.

CANADIAN FARMER TIES A YOUNGWOMAN TO COW'S HORNS

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 17.—Peter G. Hanson, a farmer at Grieson, 80 miles northwest of Winnipeg, is sought by the Manitoba police, who accuse him of tying a young woman to a cow's horns. Maggie Warnski, the daughter of a neighbor, is seriously injured, perhaps fatally, as a result.

The story sent here is to the effect that Hanson, who was enamored of the girl, became angry at her coldness and threatened revenge. This revenge is said to have consisted of knocking the girl unconscious and binding her firmly across the animal's horns. The cow took fright and dashed into the brush, tearing off the young woman's clothes against the trees.

When the animal became exhausted, it fell and the girl was crushed against the earth. She was trampled under the cow's feet when it attempted to rise. Neighbors hearing the screams in the woods, cut the girl loose.

Mums the word.

The armory is the place.

And the money goes to the library, one of the best institutions here, and one that will blossom out in the spring time in a beautiful new suit, at the corner of Ferry and Third.

Albany College is too big an asset to be lost. The small college is a power in the land, and this one can be made one in Albany. It already has a long and splendid record of achievement, and at the present time no institution is doing more thorough or better work along standard lines.

A big thing in the life of the small college is the fact that it also helps to build up character, something of immense importance.

The sentiment in favor of making Albany a cleaner city, free from blind pigs, extorters, is growing, receiving a backing from all quarters. Many who voted wet are appreciating the importance just as much as those who voted dry, of making the city dry in reality, wiping out these dens that have already proven a menace to the good name of the city.

Dr. Wayne Bridgeford, Mayor of Olympia, Washington, returned home this morning on the electric after spending several days in this city visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bridgeford.

EXPERT WILL PUT ARMORY FLOOR IN PERFECT SHAPE

State Will Bear Portion of the Expense of Work Which Will Begin Tomorrow.

The floor of the big armory hall in this city is to be placed in A-1 condition immediately by an expert from Portland who will begin operations here tomorrow, having been secured by Capt. Frank M. Powell of this city who recently took up the work of having the floor fixed, with Adjutant-General Finzer of Portland.

The expense of fixing the floor will cost approximately $250, one half of which will be paid by the state and the remainder by the local company of coast artillery.

When the Armory was originally built, the floor was improperly constructed, causing it to warp late and making it absolutely unfit for dancing and bad for drilling. A large sum of money has already been expended in an attempt to place the floor in shape without avail. The portland expert guarantees to place the floor in perfect condition and says that it will be the best floor in Albany when he has finished, and as smooth as glass.

The announcement that the floor of the armory is to be placed in excellent shape for dancing by the young people of this city and the big building will undoubtedly be the scene of the annual ball of the Albany Military Club next February, according to the announcement made today by Leland R. Gilbert, president of that organization.

1,176 MEN WOULD WED ONE ILLINOIS GIRL

Elgin, Ill., Nov. 17.—For $30,000, 1,176 males of marriageable age willing to leap blindfolded into the maelstrom of matrimony. This fact became public property today when the Elgin postoffice advertised 1,176 letters for Miss Z. X. Ratcliffe, supposedly of this city.

Miss Radcliffe is the "Mystery Girl" of Elgin and San Francisco, who, a month ago, wrote the mayor of San Francisco in search of a husband, stating that unless she becomes a wife within sixty days she will lose a fortune of $35,000.

She occurred any kind of man would do.

THESE COWS GOT DRUNK ON HARD APPLE CIDER

Winsted, Conn., Nov. 19.—Samuel N. Pond, a dairyman of Woodbury, could not supply his customers with butter because his herd of cows got drunk.

Someone let down the bars and the Holsteins entered an orchard where Pond had several piles of fermenting apples waiting removal to a cider press.

The animals gorged themselves with the over-ripe apples until they were exhilarated like a lot of frisking heifers. The result was one cow was ruined and had to be killed and the entire milk and cream supply was cut off by the dairy for twenty-four hours, as Woodbury has a strong temperance element and punch is not highly esteemed.

CITY NEWS.

The current number of the Saturday Evening Post has been received by Riley L. Abatigh and he now has it for sale. The issue is a good one and features a new story by George Lee Burton entitled: "Tackling Matrimony."

A wild scramble ensued on First street this afternoon when the first Thanksgiving turkey to be given away by M. Sternberg and Company was turned loose. The bird was captured by one of the workmen employed on the new building of the First National Bank now under course of construction across the street.

Large crowds thronged the armory last evening to view the beautiful chrysanthemums now being shown there. The Mum Show will close this evening with the following program presented by Miss Rice of the local schools: Piano Solo, Miss Hazel Hockensmith; doll song, by ten pupils of the second grade of the Central school; solo, Miss Gertrude Kirby; Japanese drill, pupils of the second grade of the Maple school; solo, John Bass, "Anchored"; song by the girls' glee club of the Central school; song, "Now the Sun is in the West," by Mary, Henrietta and Jane Davis; "Rainy Day Song" by eight pupils of the second grade of the Madison school; piano solo, Miss Laura Hickey. Admission 10 cents.

A. W. McGilvery, the contractor, left this morning for Oregon City where tonight he will attend the dedication of the new Elks temple. He will also look after business matters in Portland while gone.

W. H. Hogan was a passenger on the electric limited to Portland this morning from which city he will go to Oregon City tonight to help dedicate the fine new home of the Elks of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Berry of Portland spent yesterday in Albany visiting friends and relatives. They were registered at the Van Dran.
