

WOODROW WILSON SOUNDS WARNING TO PANIC-MAKERS

President Elect to Publicly Disgrace Man Who Tries to Start Trouble.

New York, Dec. 17.—President-elect Wilson held up a warning finger tonight to any man who might deliberately start a panic in the United States in order to show that intended legislative policies were wrong.

In a speech delivered at a banquet of the Southern Society of New York he declared he had heard sinister predictions of what would follow if the Democratic party put into effect changes in economic policy.

The president-elect first distinguished in his speech between "natural" and "unnatural" panics. He said that in many cases panics had come naturally because of a mental disturbance of people with reference to loans and money generally.

"But the machinery is in existence," he said, "by which the thing can be deliberately done. Frankly, I don't think there is any man living who dares use the machinery for that purpose. If he does, I promise him, not for myself, but for my fellow countrymen, a gibbet as high as Haman's."

The governor added that he meant no literal gibbet, "for that is not painful," but he said it would be the gibbet of public disgrace, "which will live as long as the members of that man's family survive."

"America with her eyes open isn't going to let a panic happen," the governor continued. "But I speak as I expected—as if I feared it. I do not. I am afraid of nothing."

The president-elect's speech covered a variety of subjects. He treated first on sectionalism, declaring it ought not to exist.

"There is a vast deal to do," he said, "and it can best be done by forgetting that we are partisans of anything except the honor and prosperity of the nation itself."

"I am happy to feel that there no longer is a serious consciousness of sectional differences in the United States. There can be no sectionalism about the thinking of Americans from this time on, because no hard-headed man can prove that there are such things as sectional interests," he said.

The governor told his hearers of his strenuous day in New Jersey. "We thought we straightened things out in New Jersey," he said, "but they won't stay straight. There are some people in New Jersey who are happy that they can count the days when they can get rid of me. A man can live in Washington and know what goes on in New Jersey and a man can say from Washington what he thinks about New Jersey, and he can say it in the most effectual way—by mentioning names."

"Some people are making all sorts of sinister predictions as to the trouble we are going to get into at Washington. I don't think there should be any concern, because it is going to be public trouble and a great jury is always going to know what the evidence in the case is. I have been warned by some newspapers about keeping the open door because they have said so many people want to get into it."

"Perhaps I should have said that the door will be open only to people who come to transact business. I want to say that I may not be very popular by preferring business to etiquette, but after I take the oath I shall feel obliged to transact business and will feel obliged to cut out everything that does not touch that business. But business has to be supported and comprehensively presented to the people, so I will not feel it necessary to stay in Washington all the time, but to find out by conversation with my neighbors everywhere what they think, for it is a great deal more important to the country what you think than what I think."

DUN'S WEEKLY REPORT ON BUSINESS CONDITIONS

The following is the weekly report on business conditions as reported from Dun's Review:

"What appears to be the largest holiday retail trade ever known is in progress, this being a very practical test of the buying power of the people as a result of agricultural and industrial prosperity, with labor everywhere fully employed. Indeed, the only limit to production in many lines is the limit fixed by the scarcity of labor. This is the only complaint in the dry goods trade, in which there is a continued active demand and wide distribution, especially in cotton goods, prices of which are very firm. Manufacturers and dealers in shoes report an active trade, with large orders for spring supplies. Leather is quiet and hides continue weaker, with lower prices. In spite of some signs of slackened demand in iron and steel, as would be natural after the long period of expansion, production is nevertheless very close to capacity, and there is a large railroad and South American business. Pig iron shows an advancing tendency. Coke is exceedingly active. Although the gunning report was a little disappointing, the outlook is for a cotton crop so large that it will rank second in the records. Domestic wheat supplies are increasing and there are advices of a favorable crop outlook in Argentina. November building operations were very heavy, being 8.5 per cent larger than in the corresponding month last year. Railroad gross earnings continue to expand, the gain for November amounting to 8.5 per cent. Bank clearings give additional confirmation of the prevalence of widespread business activity, the gain this week being 14.8 per cent over last year and 21.7 per cent over 1910. The security markets, in contrast to this favorable industrial and mercantile exhibit, have been much depressed, the fall of prices being due to a variety of causes not connected with the business conditions that have been noted. The demand for money, with reduction of loans, is one reason; and while the peace conference to settle the Balkan disputes is about to begin, the European political situation is still one of considerable uncertainty. Foreign commerce continues to display high figures, during the most recent week exports from New York amounted to $22,886,926, a large increase over 1911 and a still larger gain over 1910, and exports were $4,589,400 larger than the imports, which is unusual in New York."

LEBANON ITEMS

The Lebanon High School debating team was awarded the decision last Friday evening in Lebanon over the Salem High School team, the debated subject being: "Resolved, that the state of Oregon should adopt a state compulsory insurance law similar to that of Washington, for the compensation of workmen injured in hazardous industries."

Marvin J. Nye went to Portland Monday to confer with his people in regard to a big land deal that he has on his hands.

A very interesting game of basketball will be played here next Saturday evening, between the Junction City High school team and the Lebanon High school team. The game will be called at 8:15 sharp in the old Academy building.

Lebanon's basketball season was opened last Friday night at Independence where the two high schools met for the first time in athletics. The Lebanon boys were not very favorably impressed with their opponents' interpretation of the rules and after the game admitted that they had not been used very gently. The Independence boys succeeded in carrying off the honors.

A shadow social will be given at the Reed hall on Saturday night, Dec. 21, 1912, for the purpose of raising funds toward a new hall.

Miss Elizabeth Carothers who has been visiting relatives in Lebanon for the past two weeks, returned to Albany Saturday, where she will visit until after the holidays and then she will go to Portland, where she will see about making arrangements to again take up her work in the missionary fields in Siam.

O. W. Frum and Mr. Overton, two butchers of Brownsville, have leased the butcher shop building next to the post office and will open a new butcher shop in Lebanon within the next few days.

The Civic Club tea held at the residence of Mrs. M. N. Newport on Tuesday was a very successful affair.—Express.

THE WORD HELL.

A Little Book That Contains Some Startling Information.

A little book selling at only five cents, postpaid, is having a wide circulation—running up into the millions. It contains some very startling information respecting the meaning of the word Hell. It claims to demonstrate, both from the Hebrew and the Greek of our Bible, that Hell is NOT a place of eternal torment, but merely another name for the TOMB, the GRAVE, the STATE OF DEATH. It affects to show that man was not redeemed from a far-off place of eternal torture, but quotes the Scriptures proving that he was REDEEMED from the GRAVE at the cost of his Redeemer's LIFE and that the Scriptural Hope, both for the Church and the World, is a resurrection hope based upon the death and resurrection of Jesus. The book is certainly worth the reading. The information it furnishes is certainly valuable, far beyond its trifling cost. Order it at once from the Bible and Tract Society, 17 Hicks Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE MIRROR IS A NEW CURE FOR THE JAGS

One Look Then Patient Number One Wanted a Turkish Bath.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—"Bailiff, get a mirror and make this man take a good look at himself," was the penalty fixed by Municipal Judge Hopkins here today when Robert L. Atkins, an accountant, charged with intoxication, was brought before him. Atkins took a look and begged to be allowed to go to a Turkish bath.

"Hang that mirror to the wall back of the rail and let it stay there," ordered Judge Hopkins. "I want every man like this to be compelled to look at himself when he is brought to the bar of this court. I would like to have a big mirror put just outside of each cell also. If these men could see themselves as they are it would cure half of them."

THIS MOTHER WAS INSURED AGAINST TWINS

French Company Takes Unusual Risk; Sends $2000 When Stork Brings Girls.

Paris, December 18.—A French insurance company has just paid out $2,000 on an unusual claim. Some time ago a woman called at the offices of the company and said she wanted to insure against the risk of having twins. The officials had no tables prepared with a view to such an event, but finally they issued a policy insuring the woman against the birth for a premium of $13 payable monthly for six months.

A few days ago the manager of the insurance company received a dainty card announcing the birth of twin daughters to their fair client.

The Matin, which tells the story, says he at once forwarded a box of sweets and a check for $2,000 to the mother of the babies, Simone and Suzanne.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN FALLS SEVEN STORIES; WILL LIVE

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 18.—Miss Frances Groff, who fell from the seventh floor of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings building yesterday, may recover, according to statements made today by hospital surgeons. Miss Groff herself declared she expected to get well.

Miss Groff is still unable to say what caused the fall. Surgeons believe she obeyed the impulse to jump and made the leap without further thought. Such impulses, they said, frequently come to persons when looking down from high places.

The young woman was the third to fall from the building. The other two were workmen employed in construction and neither was fatally injured.

ELECTRICAL MEN IN ANNUAL SESSION

Contractors of State Holding Convention at Portland This Week.

JOS. H. RALSTON OF ALBANY PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATION

Important Matters Pertaining to Electrical Business Are Discussed.

With approximately 100 electrical contractors representing various sections of the state in attendance, the first annual convention of the Oregon Electrical Contractors' association held its opening session yesterday forenoon at Moose hall, in the Royal building, Seventh and Morrison. The convention will close with a banquet this evening at the Multnomah hotel, says the Portland Journal.

The forenoon was given over to addresses on various matters pertaining to the electrical trade and the problems which confront electrical contractors. At noon a buffet luncheon was served in the hall and in the afternoon the delegates spent some time visiting the several electrical jobbing houses of Portland.

Today the delegates will visit the Portland Railway, Light & Power company's power plant at Cazadero, leaving Portland at 9 o'clock. Luncheon will be served at the Estacada hotel at Estacada. The party will return late in the afternoon and immediately following the arrival in Portland will meet in the Averill building and proceed to the election of officers for the ensuing year.

The convention yesterday morning was opened by an address of welcome delivered by Gus Moser. J. H. Ralston, of Albany, president of the association, responded.

Mr. Ralston was followed by George H. Duffield, of Utica, N. Y., special representative of the National Electrical Contractors' association, who talked on "What the National Association is Doing for the Electrical Contractor." Others who spoke and the subjects of their addresses follow:

F. D. Weber, "The Relation of the Oregon Electrical Contractor to the Underwriters' Inspection Work in Oregon"; E. N. Averill, "The Relation of the Electrical Jobber to the Electrical Contractor"; O. B. Coldwell, "Some Practical Statements from a Central Station Expert"; Howard Joslyn, city electrician of Seattle, "Municipal Inspection"; K. B. Smith, "Credit—Its Utility in the Modern Commercial World"; and P. L. Proctor, "Costs and Efficiency."

The officers of the association are: President, J. H. Ralston, Albany; vice president, W. O. Fouch, Portland; secretary, J. E. Kilkenny, St. Johns; treasurer, John R. Tomlinson, Portland.

The finance committee is headed by Raymond G. Littler, of the entertainment committee by J. C. English, the program committee by W. H. Smith and the reception committee by Samuel Jagger.

AN HEIR TO FORTUNE; SENT TO THE ASYLUM

Stockton, Dec. 19.—To be committed to the state hospital here as a dipsomaniac five days before the news comes that he is heir to $60,000 is the freak of fortune that has befallen M. P. Serrano, a barber of this city.

Serrano has been a confirmed drunkard for a long time.

Monday of this week he was arrested as a dipsomaniac and sentenced to two years on the water wagon at the local asylum.

Today the news reached here that he was heir to $60,000, left by an aunt in Mexico. His sister will share in the estate.

BARBER INHERITS $60,000 A FEW DAYS AFTER GOING TO A DRINK CURE.

LOGANBERRY MEN WILL BE GIVEN COURSE AT COLLEGE

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Or., Dec. 1.—"The loganberry is creating more interest in the Northwest at the present time, perhaps, than any other horticultural activity," said Prof. C. I. Lewis this morning discussing the new course to be offered in the winter short course which opens Jan. 9 for a four weeks' term.

"The interest in loganberry culture is due to the fact that for the past two years the loganberry men have been making lots of money," he continued. "They have been making as high as from $300 to $250 an acre profit in a number of cases. This berry seems to have unlimited possibilities provided it is handled in the proper way and proper organization is effected."

The new course will deal with the growing of the berry and the handling of the crop by canning, by evaporating, and by the manufacturing of loganberry juice.

BENTON COUNTY OFFICIALS INSPECT ALBANY QUARRY

Will Use Crushed Rock From Local Plant In Making New Roads Next Year.

County Judge Moses and Commissioner Smith of Corvallis were in Albany yesterday inspecting the stone quarry of the North Albany Stone company which is conducted by W. T. Gardner and W. L. Cobb, one mile north of this city in Benton county.

The Benton county officials accompanied by about thirty farmers living near this city across the Willamette visited the quarry for the purpose of inspecting the crushed rock produced at the plant with a view to using the material in building roads in Benton county.

The rock was found to be entirely satisfactory and many miles of good roads will be constructed during the next year with it in Benton county. The rock produced at the Albany quarry is of excellent quality and it is believed will prove to be especially good for the building of good roads.

The proprietors of the quarry have allowed the city of Albany to repair the streets with their product and have charged them nothing for the rock, as a sample of the material.

AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY HAS GROWN TO HUGE PROPORTIONS

There are very few people, especially in the west, who appreciate the enormous proportions to which the automobile industry has grown in the last few years, says C. S. Howard, head of the Howard Automobile Co., who controls the popular Buick line on the Pacific Coast. Howard points to the enormous growth of the Buick factory as example. The Buick motor Co., was organized in 1904, in which year it built 37 automobiles. At the present time the manufacturing plant of this company represents an investment of $13,700,000, employs more than 8000 workmen and has a maximum capacity of 228 automobiles a day, more than six times as many as were manufactured in the entire year of 1904. Some idea of the immensity of this factory can be gained from the fact that one building alone occupies a space of ground larger than seven average city blocks. The Buick company own and operate a street railway for the purpose of transporting employees to various parts of the plant. The manufacture absolutely every part of the Buick car except horns, carburetors, lams, tires and electric equipment, and the factory boasts that of all the 111,000 machines that they have built to date, there has never been one permanently laid aside by reason of its owner being unable to secure parts. That the Pacific Coast has enjoyed its portion of this immense growth is proven by the yearly sales of the Howard Automobile Co. who only sold 75 cars for the season of 1906. In 1907 150 Buicks were disposed of and in 1908 when the old 2 cylinder cars had become better known 500 were sold. In 1910 Howard inaugurated the practice of bringing solid trainloads of Buicks to the coast, his trainload that year consisting of 31 freight cars loaded with 134 Buicks. This was a record shipment at that time but was totally eclipsed by the three trainloads of 1912, the first of which consisted of 48 freight cars containing 224 Buicks, the second was composed of 52 freight cars containing 228 Buicks and the third and largest was a train of 52 cars carrying 254 Buicks, valued at $340,995. This was the largest shipment of first class freight ever recorded until the announcement last week of the shipment of a solid trainload of 75 double-decked cars containing 375 Buick automobiles valued at $482,400. This shipment in no interferes with the regular coast allotment of 150 cars per week, which are being shipped regularly in addition to the trainload. Howard's contract with the Buick factory this year calls for one-tenth of their entire output, or a total of 4000 Buicks. This is an increase of 3925 cars over 1906 and is an elegant tribute to Buick consistency and popularity.

ELKS LODGE WILL CARE FOR NEEDY

Committee of Three Will Seek Out Those in Need of Christmas Cheer.

THE LODGE MAY ALSO LEASE PICTURE SHOWS

Every Family Will This Year Receive a Visit from Santa Claus.

Following a custom adopted several years ago by the Elks in hundreds of cities, the Albany lodge will bring Christmas cheer to the homes of the needy and give the children of the city a good time at the expense of the order.

At a recent meeting, a committee consisting of C. H. Burggraf, Geo. Taylor and L. C. Marshall was appointed to assume charge of this work and the committee is now seeking out the homes and proposes to make the occupants of these homes some substantial Xmas gifts.

Not only will the poor families be provided for by this committee but if the present plans are carried out, two of the moving picture shows will be leased next Wednesday afternoon and the children of Albany will be invited to attend the show at the expense of the lodge. It is probable that the theatres will secure some reels which are especially appropriate for the little folks.
