

MEN WITHOUT THE FIRE OF YOUTH

I HAVE spent thirty years in the careful study of Nervous debility and certain private weaknesses of men which result from youthful indiscretions and later excesses. As a result of such experience, I propose the following statement and stand ready to prove my claim to any one who will give me an opportunity of so doing. I say, as man to man, that by the properly advised use of galvanic electricity strength may be returned. A man of sixty should retain his full mental and physical vigor. I base these assertions upon what I have learned from the treatment of probably one hundred thousand cases. I am the inventor of the celebrated

DOCTOR
SANDEN ELECTRIC
BELT

WITH ATTACHMENT FOR MEN

My Electric Belt is the great home treatment for weak men. I consider this appliance the best known method of giving electricity, mainly because of its portable form, which enables the wearer to get at least seven hours of the life-giving current each day.

The Dr. Sanden Electric Belt

Is composed of eighteen double-element cells in forms of chains, fitting inside of an insulating cover, the whole weighing but five ounces. This rests comfortably around the waist at night, curing while the patient sleeps. The current, though instantly felt, is regulated to just the proper power by turning a little thumb-screw attachment. The effect of electricity upon the system is often marvelous. I have never known a weak man to use it who was not materially benefitted or entirely cured if common sense was exercised. It takes all the tired, weak feeling out of the small of the back and checks drains. My space here is too limited to go into details, but if the reader will call or write me I will be pleased to give further information.

FREE CONSULTATION AT MY OFFICE

Where the Belt may be seen in working order and current tested. It is really a pleasure to show an appliance such as I offer, and I am glad to give any advice that my caller may need. Remember, we are not here to force you into purchasing. We do not want you to buy until you are thoroughly satisfied. To those who live at a distance I shall be pleased to send my little descriptive pamphlet in plain sealed envelope. Write or call today.

BANKER ROBBINS TALKS.

Sumpter Is Now on a Solid Business Basis.

Mr. J. H. Robbins, president of the First Bank of Sumpter, and one of that town's most enterprising and public spirited citizens, was in Baker City for a brief time yesterday. A Democrat reporter had the pleasure of a short talk with him, long enough to find out something of the business conditions prevailing in the mountain city.

"Sumpter is getting down to a solid business basis," said Mr. Robbins, "and I have more confidence in the future of the place than ever. Trade is good this fall and no one knows it better than I, for the bank with which I am connected gives a pretty fair pulsation of the life of trade. The bank's business is increasing steadily and consequently business generally is in a healthy state. The mining industry is becoming permanent and as this condition is brought about trade in every line is increased by a larger volume of money being put into circulation.

"The hurley burley of a new town such as Sumpter was a year ago has subsided, the people have got down to a conservatism that augurs well for the town and a more substantial order of things has prevailed.

"Town improvements have been of such a nature as to make Sumpter an inviting place to live and the people are building comfortable homes for a permanent residence.

"The new hotel under course of construction by Mr. David Wilson is up to the second story and will be completed early in the coming spring. This enterprise means the expenditure of a large sum of money, which will do more than anything else to make Sumpter a substantial and permanent business point. In point of architectural beauty and appointments it will not be excelled by any hotel in the northwest.

"The amount of mining machinery arriving over the S. V. Ry., to be distributed throughout the districts tributary to Sumpter is enormous and shows the wonderful mine development that is going on. Another year will witness the equipment of scores of mines with mill plants, in addition to the large number now dropping from 10 to 20 stamps each.—Democrat.

C. H. Fenner Back From Idaho.

C. H. Fenner returned from Idaho last Thursday. He says the report circulated here that he was away making a mill test on Magnolia ore is erroneous. He was examining a mine in Idaho, located in a comparatively new camp; one of great promise too, but just which one and where, he does not now care to state. He made a mill test of ore from the property, which was entirely satisfactory. Shortly after the Holidays, he will make a trip to his old home in Providence, Rhode Island, and endeavor to interest capital of that rich town in one or more propositions in this vicinity, which he has tried up.

Bagged a Wagon Load of Ducks.

C. Beary, the popular gunsmith and tinner of the Clarence Johnson hardware store of John Day, accompanied by William Luce, returned from a hunting expedition to Malheur county last Friday with a wagon load of ducks, which their friends have been feasting on during the past week. They took with them a portable boat for use on the lakes, which they found very convenient. The boys report a royal good time and it is not necessary to say that they had plenty of ducks to eat, as they brought back a wagon load which they could not dispose of.—Grant County News.

Extra Lateral Rights.

Whether the outcropping of the vein of precious ore is such as to give the owner extra-lateral rights, is another preliminary question to be answered. The whole subject is one too little known among mining people. Almost the last decision of the late Chief Justice Field was on this point; it was in the highest degree revolutionary in its bearing upon common western usages. A word to explain this: Mining claims in this country are in the form of parallelograms, fifteen hundred feet long and varying in width from six hundred feet in Montana to three hundred feet in Colorado—even one hundred and fifty feet in some countries of this latter state. Prior to Chief Justice Field's decision, the miner followed down the vein he had discovered, whithersoever it took him under the side boundary line of his neighbor's claim. This was his extra lateral rights. If A's vein enters across a side line and goes out across only one end line, B's lateral boundary is the one ne plus ultra of A's delving. The whole question of extra-lateral rights is extremely intricate and is the cause of much mining trouble. I strongly advocate the adoption of a law like that of Canada, where the claim is square, fifteen hundred feet on every side, and where there are no extra lateral rights. This is fair to everybody and gives the discoverer of a vein ample opportunity to develop it within the strict boundaries of his own claim. In South Africa the claims are always square.—C. M. Dobson in Cosmopolitan.

Will Have No Boom, All Right, All Right.

La Grande people want no boom in building or other operations, since it is firmly believed by business men and others that La Grande will have a steady and healthful growth from the development of the natural resources around this city.—La Grande Journal.

Always reliable—Giant powder.
