Dick Neill in Portland.

R. L. Neill, the well known Sumpter merchant, is in the city on business. Mr. Neill is an old resident of Portland and for many years was in the employ of the Meier & Frank company. Mr. Neill is now engaged in the merchandizing business on his own account, owning one of the largest stores in Sumpter. In speaking of the business and mining outlook of the Sumpter district, Mr. Neill this morning said: "While Sumpter has had her boom, her season of substantial prosperity is just about beginning. It has been a little quiet for a year, it is true, but the town did all the business it could expect, legitimately. Conditions have become settled and a steady growth has supplanted the spasmodic. All of the new buildings going up are of a substantial order and our improvements are of a character that give the impression of permanence. The business outlook for the coming year could not be brighter. Mining development is yet in its infancy in eastern Oregon. More capital will, however, go into the mines this year than ever before. The mines are all right, and it is upon them that eastern Oregon rests her reputation for greatness. It is the mines that will build up the country and increase our population in eastern Oregon more than any other industry."—Telegram.

W. L. Vinson In On Another Rich Strike.

What is said to be one of the most wonderful ore finds ever made in the Pleasant Valley district, if not in the country, came to light yesterday by the lucky finders bringing to this city a large quantity of the ore. The discovery was made a few days ago by Messrs. James L. Baisley, the veteran prospector, and W. A. Settle. The find is located about three miles east of the Carroll B mine and about fifteen miles east of Baker City. The ledge outcrops to the surface for fully 1000 feet in length and at a depth of ten feet is twelve feet wide and with a pitch which indicates a much greater width. Samples of the ore brought in last evening and left at the offices of W. L. Vinson, who is an owner in the discovery, shows the character of the ore to be chrome iron, carrying silver and gold, the former greatly predominating, and indicating a value of $300 to the ton. The discoverers of this latest find think they have made the strike of their lives and all who have seen the ore samples brought in are of the same opinion. If the ore is as rich as the discoverers think it is, there will be a stampede to the Pleasant Valley section, for there is room for many locations.—Democrat.

General Warren Talks at Butte.

General Charles S. Warren, who has been in eastern Oregon for the last ten days looking after property interests there, returned to this city last evening and is registered at the Butte. His tanned skin and clear eye show that the most of his time must have been spent in the open air. He says that he enjoyed the trip immensely. "Eastern Oregon is in a very prosperous condition at present," asserts General Warren, "and the outlook for the immediate future is better than could be expected by the most sanguine. It would be an impossibility to head off the tide of immigration and capital now rolling in that direction. The developments made during the last year are such as to warrant others in going ahead and developing their property without fear of financial loss. Baker City and Sumpter districts are now alive with prospectors and with capitalists seeking opportunities for investment in the mines. Both these districts are up to date in every respect and are surely booked for a winning this year."—Butte Inter-Mountain.

Australian Gold Production.

Our consul at Melbourne makes a very interesting report concerning the Australasian gold production of recent years. It shows that there was a very rapid increase from 1890 until 1900, when there was a falling off. In 1900 the total production was 1,587,947 ounces. For three years the rate of increase was only moderate, but from 1893 to 1894 the total rose from 1,876,563 ounces to 2,239,205 ounces. Again, for three years, the increase was slow, but the development in western Australia caused the total to spring from 2,375,735 ounces for 1896 to 2,929,959 ounces for 1897. Two years of surprising increase followed, the total for 1898 being 3,547,079 ounces and that for 1899 4,461,105 ounces. The year 1900, however, witnessed retrogression, the total being 4,174,811 ounces, showing a decrease of 285,204 ounces. Nearly every state produced less gold during the past year.
