Portland People Buy The New York.

A group of Portland business men consisting of Dr. J. T. Walls, W. W. Caldwell, J. R. Kaser and L. Y. Keady, have secured possession of the New York mine, in the Greenhorn district in eastern Oregon and have incorporated a company known as the New York Consolidated Mining company. This property is in the center of one of the richest mining belts of the state. The adjoining property to the New York has recently struck a 15-foot vein at 150 feet depth, that averages $60.00 to the ton. The owners of the New York have secured the use of a 20-stamp mill for their property, and work has been started getting out ore to run through the mill. It is expected that when the mill is once started, it will be worked continuously and that the New York property will be developed on an extensive scale. The property already has an excellent showing and an average of $16.00 to $18.00 ore. We feel very confident that the New York is destined to make one of the large mines of the rich belt in which it is situated.—Pacific Miner.

Malheur Oil Lands

CONTROL some of the choicest Lands in the Malheur Oil Fields; located nearly a year ago, being the first on the ground and selecting what I thought to be the best

There are gas vents and oil in wells bored for water on all sides of these lands

I will either lease or sell, on the most liberal terms that can be secured for favorable territory.
